Russia Shuns Prompt Formosa Truce

U.S. Military Withdrawal Is Demanded

Dulles, Gromyko Open U.N. Debate On Far East Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States called Thursday for a prompt cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. But the Soviet Union declared only a complete U.S. military withdrawal from the entire area including Formosa itself can bring peace to the Far East.

The opposing views on the Formosa crisis were put before the 81-nation General Assembly by Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on the opening day of general debate.

Dulles said a cease-fire would set the stage for peaceful negotiations on all issues which are making the Formosa locale one of the world's tinderbox areas.

He expressed hope the cease-fire would emerge from the talks in Warsaw between U.S. and Communist Chinese diplomats. He said if the talks fail, the United Stetes reserves the right to toss the issue into the United Nations.

Gromyko Charges "Piracy"

Gromyko made no mention of the Warsaw talks in his 10,000-word speech, nor did he propose any action in the United Nations to resolve the Far East crisis.

He accused Dulles of making "an open and crude threat of force" against the Communist regime in Peiping.

He said the United States was guilty of "modern international piracy," and compared present U.S. actions with those of Adolf Hitler prior to World War II.

"Everybody who has the interests of peace at heart cannot fail to condemn the U.S. policy of threats and provocations with regard to China, a policy of war," Gromyko said.

Dulles' mildly worded speech ran around 4,000 words. Gromyko was harsh in his criticism of U.S. policy toward Red China, but he stressed also Soviet desires for peaceful coexistence and unrestricted world trade.

Three Disarm Proposals

In addition to the Far East, Gromyko proposed that disarmament debate be pitched to three main points—halting without delay of tests of nuclear weapons; prohibition of outer space for military purposes along with elimination of military bases on foreign territory; a 15 per cent reduction of military budgets of all nations. None of the points is new.

He demanded also admission of Communist China to the U.N., and blamed U.S. opposition for keeping Peiping out.

A U.S. spokesman indicated Communist China's rejection of a cease-fire as broadcast by Peiping radio was not regarded as a final word, and the United States believes an agreement still is possible.

Plane Endurance Record Broken

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Two Texas pilots set a record for continuous flight by a light plane Thursday and planned to stay aloft three more days.

The pilots, Jim Heth, 25, and Bill Burkhart, 33, took off in their single-engine Cessna "The Old Scotchman" on Aug. 2. The previous record was held by Woody Jongeward and Bob Woodhouse of Yuma, Ariz.

Refueling has been twice a day by pulling up four-gallon gasoline cans by rope from a speeding pickup truck. Other provisions were also lifted into the plane by the same method.

Senators End Stormy Probe Of Teamsters

Corrective Steps At All Government Levels Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee ended a seven-week probe of Teamsters Union scandals Thursday with demands for corrective legislation at all levels of government.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (D-N.Y.), vice chairman of the group, said "the American people should rise up and demand that this thing be corrected."

The record of hearings, he asserted, is packed with evidence of misconduct by Teamsters officials crying out for corrective steps by local law enforcement officials and for new federal laws.

"There is just no end to the scandals," Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) exclaimed as the hearings were adjourned until after the November elections. "The Teamsters' treasuries seem to have attracted a host of parasites . . . "

Evidence Of Collusion

The final day of this phase of the investigation brought these other developments:

1. The committee produced evidence of alleged collusion between James R. Hoffa, Teamsters president, and Chicago insurance men Allen Dorfman and Dr. Leo Pearlman which was said to have cost union welfare funds more than $600,000.

2. Counsel for the committee said he has evidence that Hoffa once threatened to have a lawyer for a rival union bumped off. Hoffa denied it 14 times in subsequent questioning. The chesty little Teamsters boss swore that he never told Sol Lipman, attorney for the Retail Clerks Union, that he could have him shot with impunity.

3. Hoffa announced he was going to try to get Godfrey P. Schmidt, a New York lawyer, thrown off the union's court-appointed monitoring board.

Huge Commissions

Allen Mayerson, assistant professor of insurance and actuarial mathematics at the University of Michigan, testified the union had chosen the most costly way of handling the sickness, hospital, and death benefit insurance program of its 22-state Central Conference of Teamsters and its Michigan Conference.

Mayerson said the welfare funds had paid Dorfman and Pearlman commissions at least twice as much as others normally charge.

He said his studies show that the Union Casualty and U.S. Life Insurance Co. jointly got the contract and that the Teamsters paid in the first three years alone between $600,000 and $650,000 more for insurance coverage than rival bidders would have charged.

UAW, Ford Pact Settled, Warns GM, Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, with a Ford contract settled, adopted a tougher attitude Thursday in bargaining with General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

It warned GM that the "time has come for them to quit playing games," and told Chrysler that machinery for a strike might be set in motion if real progress is not made soon.

The UAW summoned its executive board for a meeting Friday to approve the Ford contract and review Chrysler and General Motors negotiations. The board could be asked for strike authorization at that time.

GM and Chrysler resumed talks with Walter Reuther's UAW, but declined to comment on whether the Ford-UAW pact worked out Wednesday had given either side a bargaining advantage.

At Solidarity House, home of the UAW, there was no such reluctance. Every union official from President Reuther down felt the gains made in the Ford contract would be a springboard for further gains from the other two.

The UAW made it plain it would not accept mere carbon copies of the Ford agreement.

Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and national director of its GM department, said the UAW has "some very special problems at GM that have been ignored by the company." He said these dealt mostly with local issues, such as production schedules.

He said there are no plans for marathon negotiating sessions at GM at present, and that no strike deadline has been discussed.

Douglas Fraser of the UAW Chrysler negotiating team told newsmen that actual progress has been made on only a cosple of minor issues in the nearly six months of contract talks with Chrysler. He said strike authorization against Chrysler might be sought if no major progress is made soon.

Philadelphia Bank Ups Discount Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank Thursday increased its discount rate from 1¾ to 2 per cent effective Friday.

The Federal Reserve Board announced its approval of the action. This brings to 11 the number of reserve banks which have boosted the rate at which they lend to member banks. Only the Boston Reserve Bank still is holding to the 1¾ per cent rate.

Business Leaders Report Economic Picture Bright

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Key business leaders told Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks Thursday that the economic picture looks favorable and that recovery from the recession is expected to continue.

They gave the optimistic appraisal to Weeks at a closed-door meeting of about 70 members of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Auto executives said they expect new car sales to improve in 1959 over the deep slump this year.

Weeks also was told that stepped-up orders by auto makers and other major steel users would keep steel mills operating at well above the recession lows of last spring.

Steel mills, whose operations had slipped to less than 50 per cent of capacity, are now using about 65 per cent of their production potential. Representatives of the textile industry reported that autumn activity in their lines is turning out to be beter than expected.

A good part of the one-day session with Weeks was devoted to planning the Advisory Council's full-dress meeting Oct. 16-20 at Hot Springs, Va., when Weeks will get a more comprehensive evaluation of the business situation.

The government, meantime, prepared to release statistics showing that Americans are building up a solid bulwark of cash savings and that a new record may be set this year.

It is hoped these savings will help prevent further boosts in interest rates.

Atlas Blown To Bits Soon After Takeoff

Hoped-For First Full-Range Flight Lasts 90 Seconds

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile blew up 90 seconds after launching Thursday on what had been hoped would be its first full-range flight.

The 100-ton giant thundered off its launching stand at 4:26 p.m. e.s.t. for what appeared to be a fine start. It rose vertically without wavering.

Sixty seconds after firing it arched over to the southeast. At about 40,000 feet it began trailing a long tail of smoke. Then it exploded in a bright ball of orange fire and plunged in smoking fragments into the Atlantic.

13th Atlas Test Unlucky

The 80-foot weapon had been aimed at a patch of water 6,300 miles away beyond Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, closer to Africa than South America.

It was the 13th Atlas test since June 11, 1957. It was a bitterly unlucky one. The barrel - missile was two hours and 26 minutes late getting off the stand.

The test conductor called for a "hold" or suspension of the countdown for launching with two seconds to go. But by that time fire already was spewing from the base of the rocket.

But there did not appear to be anything wrong until just before the explosion.

Special Silver Nose Cone

The Atlas was fitted with a special, bright silver nose cone. This was believed designed to enable the missile to climb with less resistance. It had been hoped to recover the nose cone as proof that the United States had matched in fact Russia's claimed success with the ultimate "terror" weapon, the intercontinental ballistic missile.

Although reporters timed the explosion as 90 seconds after launch, an official statement gave it as "approximately 80 seconds."

At that point, the terse announcement said, "the vehicle exploded and destroyed itself."

Typhoon Toll Soars In Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Helen smashed across Japan with 75-mile - an - hour winds Thursday leaving a wide swath of death, injury and destruction.

Latest official casualty figures showed 24 dead, 44 missing and 108 injured. One of the missing was U.S. Air Force Sgt. Arch L. Mitchell, 36, of Monterey Park, Calif., last seen clinging to a rubber life raft he was testing on the flood-swollen Naguri River.

National police headquarters in Tokyo said the storm, with a 300-mile front, struck 32 of Japan's 46 prefectures and destroyed at least 376 bridges and 353 houses. Nearly 200 small boats were destroyed or missing.

Nevada Atom Tests Due To Start Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The seventh in the U.S. continental series of nuclear tests since 1951 is scheduled to get underway Friday at the Nevada test site, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Thursday.

The shot, dangling from a balloon moored 500 feet over Yucca Flat, is expected to be fired at 10 a.m. e.d.t. The weather was reported "good" for the detonation dubbed "Eddy."

Missile Blows Up After Short Flight

An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, at full power, made a successful takeoff from the launch pad (bottom) at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday, but blew up and destroyed itself (top) 90 seconds and approximately 70,000 feet later. The Atlas is America's first ICBM project, and is designed to deliver a thermonuclear warhead 5,500 miles. (AP Photofax)

Twin Air-Sea Victory Claimed By Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) —Nationalist jets destroyed five attacking Communist MIG17s and three torpedo boats Thursday, the Nationalists reported. A U.S. spokesman warned that if American pilots are "provoked" they might chase Red jets over the Communist mainland and bomb bases.

The Nationalist air force said filmed records of the sudden flareup in the aerial war around Quemoy showed five MIGs shot down and a sixth probably destroyed and three torpedo boats sunk and a fourth damaged.

The Nationalist air force said its pilots were flying U.S.-built F86s, regarded as inferior to MIG17s, and were outnumbered 30 to 8 but did not lose a single plane.

U.S. Marine Maj. R. G. Martin, spokesman for the U.S. - Taiwan Defense Command, said early Friday that extensive checks turned up "no reports" that U.S. pilots were involved in the action.

A U.S. squadron of F104 Starfighters, which hold the world's speed and altitude record, went on patrol in the Formosa Strait for the first time Thursday.

There have been no contacts between U.S. and Communist planes so far but Martin said U.S. pilots have permission, if "provoked," not only to fight back but to chase MIGs right over the Communist mainland.

He indicated that one "provocation" might be an attack by Communist planes on Nationalist planes trying to supply Quemoy.

"The U.S. planes might just follow the MIGs to mainland China and bomb those bases," Martin said. But he emphasized the U.S. planes were here for defense purposes and "not to make war."

The twin air-sea victory was a tremendous morale booster for the Nationalists who have been suffering from concentrated bombardment of Quemoy for more than three weeks by Communist shore artillery.

Impatient Stork Fouls Up Medics' Television Plans

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Wanted: one television actress.

Main qualification: be expecting.

The Kentucky Medical Assn.'s featured program at its meeting next week was fouled up by an impatient stork.

The doctors were to watch a closed-circuit television program of a Caesarean section birth. The expectant mother couldn't wait. The baby was born Thursday.

Now the doctors are looking for a replacement.

U.S. Vice Consul On Cyprus Shot

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — U.S. Vice Consul J. P. Wentworth was seriously wounded by two unidentified gunmen Thursday as he stood in the garden outside his home in strife-torn Nicosia. His assailants escaped.

Wentworth was hit by three bullets. He was rushed to the British military hospital where doctors described his condition as serious.

The gunmen were believed to have escaped in a waiting automobile. There was no immediate clue to their identity.

Sources said the Wentworth home is well-known as an American residence and it did not appear that his shooting was a case of mistaken identity.

Wentworth, married and the father of two children, came here two months ago as deputy to U.S. Consul General Taylor G. Belcher.

N.J. Bay Waters Give Up Train Fireman's Body

BAYONNE, N.J. (UPI)— The murky waters of Newark Bay Thursday surrendered the body of a railroad fireman, a key figure in the four-day-old mystery of why a commuter train sped through three warning signals and plunged off an open drawbridge, killing possibly 50 persons.

The body of Peter Andrew of Jersey City, fireman aboard the doomed Jersey Central Railroad train, surfaced late Thursday.

Authorities hope an autopsy on his body will shed some light on why he did not stop the speeding train, if the engineer was unable to do so.

The body of John S. Kelly, of Somerville, N.J., the train's conductor, also surfaced.

Eight other bodies floated to the oil-slicked surface. That made a total of 35 bodies recovered, with 15 persons still on the police missing list.

One of the bodies recovered was that of Theodore Dayton, brakeman of the ill-fated train. Only one body had not been identified.

The Hudson County prosecutor said, meanwhile, the train would not have plunged off the trestle if a drawbridge had been opened all the way.

Prosecutor Lawrence A. Whipple said after a two-hour inspection of the scene of Monday's disaster that huge concrete counterweights would have blocked the train from plunging into the water, if the bridge had been opened to its full 135-foot maximum height, instead of only 107 feet.

Scheme Calls For Leasing High Schools

Anti-Integration Vote Would Make Buildings 'Surplus'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, exhorting the people of Little Rock not to accept integrated schools, assured them Thursday night he has a "legal plan" to operate the high schools as private institutions, barred to Negro students.

"The plan is sound and workable," he said in a televised speech. "It is all legal."

He said the U.S. Supreme Court order may mean "the destruction of our school system, our educational processes, and the risk of disorder and violence that could result in the loss of life—perhaps yours.

"This price I could not see you pay without first offering you a legal plan whereby such a catastrophe can be avoided, and still provide the opportunity of an education for our children."

Would Loose Schools

Outlining the plan, he said:

1. If the people vote against integration in the special referendum Sept. 27, the facilities of the public schools "will become surplus and not needed for public school purposes."

2. The school board, then, would be free to lease the buildings to a private agency. "I am sure you are aware such an agency already has been organized," he said. He referred to the Little Rock Private School Corp., organized Wednesday.

3. He called upon the city's board of education to offer "to a private group these unoccupied buildings after the election."

He cited, as authority for this, an Arkansas law of 1875.

He said the plan is sound, workable and legal, adding, "To this the advocates of the so-called 'law of the land' can have no objection."

Emphasis On Balloting

Faubus said "complete and total integration . . . will come sooner than you think" if the city votes Sept. 27, to reopen the schools on an integrated basis, as ordered by the Supreme Court.

He said the U.S. government cannot require a state to operate public schools, nor tell a state government how tax revenues may be spent.

Then he said regarding integration: "In all cases involving the public schools and integration, the federal courts have said only that an agency of the state cannot maintain segregated schools.

"This ruling does not apply in any way to private schools. Private schools are not affected by these decisions, even though the schools receive aid from state and federal sources."

Faubus placed heavy emphasis on the Sept. 27 balloting—although lawyers say they see no legal significance in it, in view of the Supreme Court order last week.

Heave Didn't Convince Court

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Benny Doster was being tried in Circuit Court for stealing a safe.

Police claimed he and a friend hauled it out of a grocery store into the trunk of a car.

Doster said he found it in a dump.

Police said one man couldn't lift the safe. Doster offered Wednesday to demonstrate.

He heaved at the 600-pound safe, in court as evidence. It toppled off a dolly, smashing three holes in the courtroom floor. Six policemen were needed to lift it back.

Doster was convicted.

Va. Governor Closes More Schools, Challenges Ike To Let Voters Decide

By The Associated Press

Ku Klux Klan banners flew over a Louisiana school Thursday even as President Eisenhower was challenged to put the school integration question before the voters of the nation.

Meanwhile, the dispute spread to Illinois and Virginians were expecting word that more schools had been closed in their state since a U.S. district judge has held they should be integrated.

The KKK flags were displayed at the New Orleans branch of Louisiana State University. One was tied to an 80-foot chimney and another to an observation tower at the former naval air station.

More than 50 Negroes were admitted to the school under court order at its opening last week. Their presence led to demonstrations by white students and scrawlings on the walls of buildings which read, "Go home niggers" and "Go back to Africa."

The challenge to Eisenhower came from Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia who Thursday ordered two Charlottesville schools closed under state law. They are the 1,100-pupil Lane High School and the 600-pupil Venable Elementary School. Almond previously closed the 1,000-pupil Warren County High School at Front Royal. All three schools had been ordered integrated by federal courts.

Almond referred to a talk made by U.S. Atty. Gen. William Rogers Wednesday in which the Washington official said people disagreeing with Supreme Court decisions may change them by constitutional means.

At Norfolk, U.S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman knocked down a state court injunction which had kept the city school board from assigning 17 Negroes to white schools. The board had agreed to abide by Hoffman's 18-month-old integration order when it was enjoined in state court from making any pupil assignments.

The dispute in Illinois is in the little town of Colp — population about 300. Negroes, with four seats on the seven-member school board, voted to consolidate the two segregated elementary schools. The white parents then sent their children to schools in adjoining districts at a cost of $200 annual tuitions.

That left the nominally integrated school without any white students and with only 50 Negroes, not enough to bring in sufficient state funds to operate the school.

So the situation is at a standoff for the present.

13th Atlas Test Unlucky

The 80-foot weapon had been aimed at a patch of water 6,300 miles away beyond Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, closer to Africa than South America.

It was the 13th Atlas test since June 11, 1957. It was a bitterly unlucky one. The barrel - missile was two hours and 26 minutes late getting off the stand.

The test conductor called for a "hold" or suspension of the countdown for launching with two seconds to go. But by that time fire already was spewing from the base of the rocket.

But there did not appear to be anything wrong until just before the explosion.

Special Silver Nose Cone

The Atlas was fitted with a special, bright silver nose cone. This was believed designed to enable the missile to climb with less resistance. It had been hoped to recover the nose cone as proof that the United States had matched in fact Russia's claimed success with the ultimate "terror" weapon, the intercontinental ballistic missile.

Although reporters timed the explosion as 90 seconds after launch, an official statement gave it as "approximately 80 seconds."

At that point, the terse announcement said, "the vehicle exploded and destroyed itself."

Typhoon Toll Soars In Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Helen smashed across Japan with 75-mile - an - hour winds Thursday leaving a wide swath of death, injury and destruction.

Latest official casualty figures showed 24 dead, 44 missing and 108 injured. One of the missing was U.S. Air Force Sgt. Arch L. Mitchell, 36, of Monterey Park, Calif., last seen clinging to a rubber life raft he was testing on the flood-swollen Naguri River.

National police headquarters in Tokyo said the storm, with a 300-mile front, struck 32 of Japan's 46 prefectures and destroyed at least 376 bridges and 353 houses. Nearly 200 small boats were destroyed or missing.

Missile Blows Up After Short Flight

An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, at full power, made a successful takeoff from the launch pad (bottom) at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday, but blew up and destroyed itself (top) 90 seconds and approximately 70,000 feet later. The Atlas is America's first ICBM project, and is designed to deliver a thermonuclear warhead 5,500 miles. (AP Photofax)

Twin Air-Sea Victory Claimed By Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) —Nationalist jets destroyed five attacking Communist MIG17s and three torpedo boats Thursday, the Nationalists reported. A U.S. spokesman warned that if American pilots are "provoked" they might chase Red jets over the Communist mainland and bomb bases.

The Nationalist air force said filmed records of the sudden flareup in the aerial war around Quemoy showed five MIGs shot down and a sixth probably destroyed and three torpedo boats sunk and a fourth damaged.

The Nationalist air force said its pilots were flying U.S.-built F86s, regarded as inferior to MIG17s, and were outnumbered 30 to 8 but did not lose a single plane.

U.S. Marine Maj. R. G. Martin, spokesman for the U.S. - Taiwan Defense Command, said early Friday that extensive checks turned up "no reports" that U.S. pilots were involved in the action.

A U.S. squadron of F104 Starfighters, which hold the world's speed and altitude record, went on patrol in the Formosa Strait for the first time Thursday.

There have been no contacts between U.S. and Communist planes so far but Martin said U.S. pilots have permission, if "provoked," not only to fight back but to chase MIGs right over the Communist mainland.

He indicated that one "provocation" might be an attack by Communist planes on Nationalist planes trying to supply Quemoy.

"The U.S. planes might just follow the MIGs to mainland China and bomb those bases," Martin said. But he emphasized the U.S. planes were here for defense purposes and "not to make war."

The twin air-sea victory was a tremendous morale booster for the Nationalists who have been suffering from concentrated bombardment of Quemoy for more than three weeks by Communist shore artillery.

Impatient Stork Fouls Up Medics' Television Plans

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Wanted: one television actress.

Main qualification: be expecting.

The Kentucky Medical Assn.'s featured program at its meeting next week was fouled up by an impatient stork.

The doctors were to watch a closed-circuit television program of a Caesarean section birth. The expectant mother couldn't wait. The baby was born Thursday.

Now the doctors are looking for a replacement.

U.S. Vice Consul On Cyprus Shot

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — U.S. Vice Consul J. P. Wentworth was seriously wounded by two unidentified gunmen Thursday as he stood in the garden outside his home in strife-torn Nicosia. His assailants escaped.

Wentworth was hit by three bullets. He was rushed to the British military hospital where doctors described his condition as serious.

The gunmen were believed to have escaped in a waiting automobile. There was no immediate clue to their identity.

Sources said the Wentworth home is well-known as an American residence and it did not appear that his shooting was a case of mistaken identity.

Wentworth, married and the father of two children, came here two months ago as deputy to U.S. Consul General Taylor G. Belcher.

N.J. Bay Waters Give Up Train Fireman's Body

BAYONNE, N.J. (UPI)— The murky waters of Newark Bay Thursday surrendered the body of a railroad fireman, a key figure in the four-day-old mystery of why a commuter train sped through three warning signals and plunged off an open drawbridge, killing possibly 50 persons.

The body of Peter Andrew of Jersey City, fireman aboard the doomed Jersey Central Railroad train, surfaced late Thursday.

Authorities hope an autopsy on his body will shed some light on why he did not stop the speeding train, if the engineer was unable to do so.

The body of John S. Kelly, of Somerville, N.J., the train's conductor, also surfaced.

Eight other bodies floated to the oil-slicked surface. That made a total of 35 bodies recovered, with 15 persons still on the police missing list.

One of the bodies recovered was that of Theodore Dayton, brakeman of the ill-fated train. Only one body had not been identified.

The Hudson County prosecutor said, meanwhile, the train would not have plunged off the trestle if a drawbridge had been opened all the way.

Prosecutor Lawrence A. Whipple said after a two-hour inspection of the scene of Monday's disaster that huge concrete counterweights would have blocked the train from plunging into the water, if the bridge had been opened to its full 135-foot maximum height, instead of only 107 feet.

Scheme Calls For Leasing High Schools

Anti-Integration Vote Would Make Buildings 'Surplus'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, exhorting the people of Little Rock not to accept integrated schools, assured them Thursday night he has a "legal plan" to operate the high schools as private institutions, barred to Negro students.

"The plan is sound and workable," he said in a televised speech. "It is all legal."

He said the U.S. Supreme Court order may mean "the destruction of our school system, our educational processes, and the risk of disorder and violence that could result in the loss of life—perhaps yours.

"This price I could not see you pay without first offering you a legal plan whereby such a catastrophe can be avoided, and still provide the opportunity of an education for our children."

Would Loose Schools

Outlining the plan, he said:

1. If the people vote against integration in the special referendum Sept. 27, the facilities of the public schools "will become surplus and not needed for public school purposes."

2. The school board, then, would be free to lease the buildings to a private agency. "I am sure you are aware such an agency already has been organized," he said. He referred to the Little Rock Private School Corp., organized Wednesday.

3. He called upon the city's board of education to offer "to a private group these unoccupied buildings after the election."

He cited, as authority for this, an Arkansas law of 1875.

He said the plan is sound, workable and legal, adding, "To this the advocates of the so-called 'law of the land' can have no objection."

Emphasis On Balloting

Faubus said "complete and total integration . . . will come sooner than you think" if the city votes Sept. 27, to reopen the schools on an integrated basis, as ordered by the Supreme Court.

He said the U.S. government cannot require a state to operate public schools, nor tell a state government how tax revenues may be spent.

Then he said regarding integration: "In all cases involving the public schools and integration, the federal courts have said only that an agency of the state cannot maintain segregated schools.

"This ruling does not apply in any way to private schools. Private schools are not affected by these decisions, even though the schools receive aid from state and federal sources."

Faubus placed heavy emphasis on the Sept. 27 balloting—although lawyers say they see no legal significance in it, in view of the Supreme Court order last week.

Heave Didn't Convince Court

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Benny Doster was being tried in Circuit Court for stealing a safe.

Police claimed he and a friend hauled it out of a grocery store into the trunk of a car.

Doster said he found it in a dump.

Police said one man couldn't lift the safe. Doster offered Wednesday to demonstrate.

He heaved at the 600-pound safe, in court as evidence. It toppled off a dolly, smashing three holes in the courtroom floor. Six policemen were needed to lift it back.

Doster was convicted.

Va. Governor Closes More Schools, Challenges Ike To Let Voters Decide

By The Associated Press

Ku Klux Klan banners flew over a Louisiana school Thursday even as President Eisenhower was challenged to put the school integration question before the voters of the nation.

Meanwhile, the dispute spread to Illinois and Virginians were expecting word that more schools had been closed in their state since a U.S. district judge has held they should be integrated.

The KKK flags were displayed at the New Orleans branch of Louisiana State University. One was tied to an 80-foot chimney and another to an observation tower at the former naval air station.

More than 50 Negroes were admitted to the school under court order at its opening last week. Their presence led to demonstrations by white students and scrawlings on the walls of buildings which read, "Go home niggers" and "Go back to Africa."

The challenge to Eisenhower came from Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia who Thursday ordered two Charlottesville schools closed under state law. They are the 1,100-pupil Lane High School and the 600-pupil Venable Elementary School. Almond previously closed the 1,000-pupil Warren County High School at Front Royal. All three schools had been ordered integrated by federal courts.

Almond referred to a talk made by U.S. Atty. Gen. William Rogers Wednesday in which the Washington official said people disagreeing with Supreme Court decisions may change them by constitutional means.

At Norfolk, U.S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman knocked down a state court injunction which had kept the city school board from assigning 17 Negroes to white schools. The board had agreed to abide by Hoffman's 18-month-old integration order when it was enjoined in state court from making any pupil assignments.

The dispute in Illinois is in the little town of Colp — population about 300. Negroes, with four seats on the seven-member school board, voted to consolidate the two segregated elementary schools. The white parents then sent their children to schools in adjoining districts at a cost of $200 annual tuitions.

That left the nominally integrated school without any white students and with only 50 Negroes, not enough to bring in sufficient state funds to operate the school.

So the situation is at a standoff for the present.

Steelworkers Call For Ouster Action Against Rebel Bloc

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A convention of the United Steelworkers of America adopted a resolution Thursday recommending the expulsion of a dissident group opposing the leadership of President David J. McDonald.

"There is no room in our union for traitors to trade union principles," said the resolution, adopted overwhelmingly by 3,500 delegates in the climax of a hectic session.

The resolution accused the rebel faction, headed by Donald C. Rarick, of trying to "undermine" the union and its officials.

It urged local unions "to take prompt and vigorous action to eliminate from our ranks those guilty of these serious constitutional violations."

Under the USW constitution, all persons accused of violations warranting expulsion must be given a hearing first by their respective local union.

Rarick, during brief debate on the resolution, told jeering delegates, "I'm not worried. I know that the rank and file will back us up throughout the country."

The resolution, introduced through Joseph Molony, Buffalo, N.Y., chairman of the Resolutions Committee, charged that the rebel group "met in secret conclaves and there laid secret plans to undermine our union and its officials."

It said the insurgent faction had violated the principle of the AFL-CIO code of Union Democratic Practices and the USW's constitution.

It said both documents provided for "guarantee of individual rights" but pointed out that it also barred members from "activity" which would have the effect of destroying or breaking the union as a functioning organization."

The resolution said the dissidents "have engaged openly in wilful and deliberate slander of officers and members of the organization."

It added: "Faced with the necessity of closing our ranks in the critical collective bargaining struggle which is fast approaching, this ninth constitution convention resolves that there is no room in our union for traitors to trade union principles."

The rebel group is known as the Dues Protest Committee and is headed by Donald C. Rarick, McKeesport, Pa., millworker, who unsuccessfully sought election against McDonald last year.

Rarick took the floor Thursday to renew arguments against a 1956 convention dues increase from $3 to $5 per month, which set the stage for formation of the committee and the anti-administration push.

Algerian Exile Regime Hinted

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian press said Thursday an Algerian government in exile will be proclaimed throughout the Arab world Friday.

A spokesman for the Algerian National Liberation Front—FLN—refused to confirm the report, but did say a statement would be made Friday.

Formation of a so-called free Algerian government would give formal face to the FLN Executive Committee, which has been directing the four-year fight against the French in Algeria.

Setting up the government now obviously would be timed with an eye on the Sept. 28 French constitutional referendum as well as the scheduled U.N. debate on Algeria.

Such a step by the FLN could bring on a whole series of problems. The question of recognizing the government would prove embarrassing to many countries in their relations with France.

Family Sues D.C. Zoo For $58,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Maryland family today sued the zoo Thursday for $58,000.

The suit, filed in U. S. District Court, cites damages suffered June 1, when, the family says, a 30-foot tree limb fell on them while they were in front of the wolf cage.

The suit was filed in behalf of Edward L. Boswell, 31; his wife, Mary, 29, and two of their children, Edward Jr., 4, and Bonita, 5. A relative of the Boswells, Mrs. Mary Ennick, 43, of Washington, also is a party to the suit. The Boswells live in Seat Pleasant, a Washington suburb.

Dept. Of Forests, Parks Wants 60% Fund Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Forests and Parks wants 60 per cent more general tax funds next year than it is receiving.

The department asked the Budget Bureau Thursday $1,229,198 in funds raised by taxes on the public generally. It is spending $763,667 of such funds this year.

A spokesman said much of the increase would go for salary raises.

The department also receives special funds and federal government grants.

Inmate Stabbed At State Prison; Five Questioned

BALTIMORE (AP) — A prisoner at the Maryland Penitentiary, stabbed while with other convicts in the recreation yard, was reported in serious condition at University Hospital Thursday.

Wounded was George H. Sigler Jr., 28, of Myersville, Md. He was sentenced by Frederick County Circuit Court in 1953 to 11 years in prison on charges of assault with intent of carnal knowledge, abduction, receiving stolen goods and larceny.

Prison officials said a homemade knife was found in a shakedown of the penitentiary, but no arrests have been reported as yet.

The stabbing occurred Wednesday afternoon.

In disclosing the stabbing Thursday, Warden Vernon L. Pepersack said five prisoners had been questioned about the attack. One of these was placed in an isolation cell and would be questioned further, he said.

Sigler was reported to have been in the penitentiary yard with 800 other prisoners at the time of the stabbing.

Prison officials said guards saw him walking toward the prison hospital with two other inmates, stagger and slump to the ground. He was bleeding from the chest when the guards rushed to him.

After emergency treatment at the penitentiary hospital he was transferred to University Hospital.

Ike Delays Meeting With Defense Chiefs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday night postponed until next week a scheduled meeting with two of the nation's top defense chiefs on Far Eastern and other problems.

The President originally planned to meet at the summer White House here Friday with Secretary of Defense McElroy and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, but White House press secretary James C. Hagerty phoned newsmen that the conferences are off until next Tuesday.

Hagerty said it had been decided there was no need for the two officials to fly here since Eisenhower will be returning to Washington—for the day, at least—next Tuesday and can see them at the White House.

Soldier's Poor Ballot Box Showing Not All His Fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military man is a lot like the civilian in at least one respect. He may be willing to die for his country, but blamed if he will take the bother to vote in its elections.

This is Armed Forces Voters' Week, chosen for a timely reason.

Election day is only a little more than six weeks away. Many service men—scattered in 50 countries over the world, and don't forget those at the South Pole—must start now if their vote is to be counted Nov. 4.

Traditionally, the soldier never has been much at the ballot box, but it hasn't been all his fault. Many states barred his ballot; others had rules too complex for him to meet.

This is well-illustrated by the 1942 election. Fewer than one per cent of the five million men in the services voted.

By 1944, Congress and the states had taken action to permit the wartime soldier to vote, and around 30 per cent did so.

But this action applied only to time of war. The percentage dipped again in 1952, during the Korean conflict, when despite the shooting we were technically at peace.

Not until 1955 did Congress pass a law to serve as a sort of guidepost for peacetime. As a result, one out of three servicemen either voted in person or by absentee ballot in the 1956 elections.

That's pretty good, considering the difficulties. But those at the Pentagon whose job it is to encourage service voting won't be happy until the proportion runs as high as it does for the entire nation. That, incidentally, is nothing for a democracy to brag about. In 1956, 60 million voted, only around 60 per cent of the potential.

Only two states, Georgia and Kentucky, permit an 18-year-old to vote. But the services may take him in at 17 or 18 and ship him off to heaven knows where. At 21, when he's able to vote in the other 46 states, he may find the only way he can register is to do so in person.

There's another complication. Each state has its own rules. The Defense Department has a huge chart showing the differences, and there are plenty of them.

For instance, Arizona requires a potential voter to be able to read the U.S. Constitution and write his name. Delaware requires him to read the state constitution in English, and write his name. Several states require that the voter read and speak English, but one well-known territory says it's okay if he can read, write and speak Hawaiian.

More potential voters are involved in this than you might suspect.

They include the service men, their wives and those federal employes stationed overseas as a part of the cold war. It adds up to a possible 2,610,000 ballots, an important group in an election.

Accused Cop Killer Seeks Venue Change

SALISBURY (AP) — Court-appointed attorneys for Johnnie Brown, 37-year-old Negro cook charged with shooting to death a patrolman, have asked that he be tried outside the lower Eastern Shore.

The attorneys filed for a change of venue Thursday with the Wicomico County Circuit Court, saying they felt Brown could not get a fair and impartial trial there because of extensive publicity given the case.

Brown has been indicted in the fatal shooting of Patrolman Henry T. Stephens, 29. Stephens had arrested Brown on a bad check charge and was bring him to headquarters. The policeman was shot to death within about 60 feet of the police station.

Circuit Judge Rex A. Taylor scheduled a hearing on the motion for next Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Peiping Jolts U.S. Hopes For Negotiating Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—American hopes for negotiating the Formosa Strait crisis with Red China were jolted Thursday by Peiping's return to its old theme that a cease-fire is out of the question.

Peiping's action and the U.S. reaction seemed to insure that the problem will go before the United Nations.

U.S.-Red China ambassadorial talks on the question started Monday at Warsaw. A second session was held Thursday and a third is scheduled for Sunday.

The U.S. purpose is to seek a peaceful solution for the quarrel between Communist and Nationalist China over the islands in the Formosa Strait. Peiping had suggested such talks to restore peace.

"We seek a prompt cease-fire," Secretary of State Dulles told the United Nations Thursday in discussing the Warsaw talks.

But even before Dulles read his speech, Peiping radio came out with this declaration: "There is no question of a cease-fire since China and the United States are not at war."

Officials here said that did not leave much to work with at Warsaw if Peiping persists in this attitude. There was no reason to suppose Peiping would not, since the Communist Chinese clung to this viewpoint throughout 73 previous U.S.-Red China conferences at Geneva.

There appeared to be some hope, however, that Peiping would not hold adamantly to its current position. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation at the United Nations said Thursday's rejection of a ceasefire was not regarded as final, and that the United States still believes agreement is possible.

Gaitskell Endorses Red China U.N. Entry

LONDON (AP)—Laborite leader Hugh Gaitskell said Thursday Red China's admission to the United Nations is "an obvious condition" of any settlement of the Formosa crisis.

"We take the view that recent events have shown even more clearly the absurdity of keeping out of the United Nations the government of a nation of 600 million people," he told reporters.

Paul Revere's father was born in Perigueux, France.

U.S., China Talk Truce Terms

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States and Communist China talked terms for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait for two hours Thursday but demands and counterdemands were kept rigidly secret.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan emerged silent from their second meeting of the week.

"We will meet again Sunday at 9 a.m.", was all they would tell reporters.

The silence, combined with the unusual length of the first two sessions, left the impression that the two were talking turkey.

This belief, prevalent in diplomatic quarters following the talks with intense interest, was bolstered by Secretary of State Dulles' speech to the United Nations General Assembly, in which he said "We seek a prompt cease-fire which will eliminate provocations and leave the possibility of a peaceful resolution of different claims and counterclaims."

Beam, it is understood, continued efforts to get to the root of Chinese demands. Aim of the Warsaw talks is to find out what Red China's position is, and to what the Communists will agree.

Prison officials said a homemade knife was found in a shakedown of the penitentiary, but no arrests have been reported as yet.

The stabbing occurred Wednesday afternoon.

In disclosing the stabbing Thursday, Warden Vernon L. Pepersack said five prisoners had been questioned about the attack. One of these was placed in an isolation cell and would be questioned further, he said.

Sigler was reported to have been in the penitentiary yard with 800 other prisoners at the time of the stabbing.

Prison officials said guards saw him walking toward the prison hospital with two other inmates, stagger and slump to the ground. He was bleeding from the chest when the guards rushed to him.

After emergency treatment at the penitentiary hospital he was transferred to University Hospital.

Ike Delays Meeting With Defense Chiefs

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday night postponed until next week a scheduled meeting with two of the nation's top defense chiefs on Far Eastern and other problems.

The President originally planned to meet at the summer White House here Friday with Secretary of Defense McElroy and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, but White House press secretary James C. Hagerty phoned newsmen that the conferences are off until next Tuesday.

Hagerty said it had been decided there was no need for the two officials to fly here since Eisenhower will be returning to Washington—for the day, at least—next Tuesday and can see them at the White House.

Trolley Bus Driver Gets Big Surprise

DERBY, England (AP)—When veteran trolley bus driver George Eveans went on vacation a couple of weeks ago the overhead trolley wires ran down Corporation St.

The other day the route was changed and wires removed.

Somebody forgot to tell George. Thursday, George, the bus and a load of passengers went down Corporation St. The wires went down another street.

L.A. Has Smog Alert

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles was shrouded in the worst smog of the year Thursday necessitating the city's first smog alert in 14 months.

A smog alert lasting 2 hours, 34 minutes was called shortly before noon when the ozone intensity reached .51 part per million parts or air—.01 over the minimum for a smog alert.

Soldier's Poor Ballot Box Showing Not All His Fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military man is a lot like the civilian in at least one respect. He may be willing to die for his country, but blamed if he will take the bother to vote in its elections.

This is Armed Forces Voters' Week, chosen for a timely reason.

Election day is only a little more than six weeks away. Many service men—scattered in 50 countries over the world, and don't forget those at the South Pole—must start now if their vote is to be counted Nov. 4.

Traditionally, the soldier never has been much at the ballot box, but it hasn't been all his fault. Many states barred his ballot; others had rules too complex for him to meet.

This is well-illustrated by the 1942 election. Fewer than one per cent of the five million men in the services voted.

By 1944, Congress and the states had taken action to permit the wartime soldier to vote, and around 30 per cent did so.

But this action applied only to time of war. The percentage dipped again in 1952, during the Korean conflict, when despite the shooting we were technically at peace.

Not until 1955 did Congress pass a law to serve as a sort of guidepost for peacetime. As a result, one out of three servicemen either voted in person or by absentee ballot in the 1956 elections.

That's pretty good, considering the difficulties. But those at the Pentagon whose job it is to encourage service voting won't be happy until the proportion runs as high as it does for the entire nation. That, incidentally, is nothing for a democracy to brag about. In 1956, 60 million voted, only around 60 per cent of the potential.

Only two states, Georgia and Kentucky, permit an 18-year-old to vote. But the services may take him in at 17 or 18 and ship him off to heaven knows where. At 21, when he's able to vote in the other 46 states, he may find the only way he can register is to do so in person.

There's another complication. Each state has its own rules. The Defense Department has a huge chart showing the differences, and there are plenty of them.

For instance, Arizona requires a potential voter to be able to read the U.S. Constitution and write his name. Delaware requires him to read the state constitution in English, and write his name. Several states require that the voter read and speak English, but one well-known territory says it's okay if he can read, write and speak Hawaiian.

More potential voters are involved in this than you might suspect.

They include the service men, their wives and those federal employes stationed overseas as a part of the cold war. It adds up to a possible 2,610,000 ballots, an important group in an election.

Dog Catcher 'Caught'

SALISBURY (AP) — J. Merrill Shockley forfeited $8 in court Thursday on a charge of keeping an unlicensed dog.

Shockley is Wicomico County dog catcher.

Accused Cop Killer Seeks Venue Change

SALISBURY (AP) — Court-appointed attorneys for Johnnie Brown, 37-year-old Negro cook charged with shooting to death a patrolman, have asked that he be tried outside the lower Eastern Shore.

The attorneys filed for a change of venue Thursday with the Wicomico County Circuit Court, saying they felt Brown could not get a fair and impartial trial there because of extensive publicity given the case.

Brown has been indicted in the fatal shooting of Patrolman Henry T. Stephens, 29. Stephens had arrested Brown on a bad check charge and was bring him to headquarters. The policeman was shot to death within about 60 feet of the police station.

Circuit Judge Rex A. Taylor scheduled a hearing on the motion for next Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Peiping Jolts U.S. Hopes For Negotiating Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—American hopes for negotiating the Formosa Strait crisis with Red China were jolted Thursday by Peiping's return to its old theme that a cease-fire is out of the question.

Peiping's action and the U.S. reaction seemed to insure that the problem will go before the United Nations.

U.S.-Red China ambassadorial talks on the question started Monday at Warsaw. A second session was held Thursday and a third is scheduled for Sunday.

The U.S. purpose is to seek a peaceful solution for the quarrel between Communist and Nationalist China over the islands in the Formosa Strait. Peiping had suggested such talks to restore peace.

"We seek a prompt cease-fire," Secretary of State Dulles told the United Nations Thursday in discussing the Warsaw talks.

But even before Dulles read his speech, Peiping radio came out with this declaration: "There is no question of a cease-fire since China and the United States are not at war."

Officials here said that did not leave much to work with at Warsaw if Peiping persists in this attitude. There was no reason to suppose Peiping would not, since the Communist Chinese clung to this viewpoint throughout 73 previous U.S.-Red China conferences at Geneva.

There appeared to be some hope, however, that Peiping would not hold adamantly to its current position. A spokesman for the U.S. delegation at the United Nations said Thursday's rejection of a ceasefire was not regarded as final, and that the United States still believes agreement is possible.

Gaitskell Endorses Red China U.N. Entry

LONDON (AP)—Laborite leader Hugh Gaitskell said Thursday Red China's admission to the United Nations is "an obvious condition" of any settlement of the Formosa crisis.

"We take the view that recent events have shown even more clearly the absurdity of keeping out of the United Nations the government of a nation of 600 million people," he told reporters.

Paul Revere's father was born in Perigueux, France.

U.S., China Talk Truce Terms

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States and Communist China talked terms for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait for two hours Thursday but demands and counterdemands were kept rigidly secret.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan emerged silent from their second meeting of the week.

"We will meet again Sunday at 9 a.m.", was all they would tell reporters.

The silence, combined with the unusual length of the first two sessions, left the impression that the two were talking turkey.

This belief, prevalent in diplomatic quarters following the talks with intense interest, was bolstered by Secretary of State Dulles' speech to the United Nations General Assembly, in which he said "We seek a prompt cease-fire which will eliminate provocations and leave the possibility of a peaceful resolution of different claims and counterclaims."

Beam, it is understood, continued efforts to get to the root of Chinese demands. Aim of the Warsaw talks is to find out what Red China's position is, and to what the Communists will agree.

85th Congress One Of Most Talkative In Years

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—As every devoted follower of Congress knows, it takes a heap of talking to make a bill a law.

The latest Congressional Record confirms this loquaciousness, for it includes a final report card on the 85th Congress.

Sure enough, this was one of the most talkative in years.

It generally isn't realized that long after the statesmen have departed, their echoes linger on in new issues of the Record. Like an ardent lover, who can't bear to seal the envelope without one p. s., a congressman yearns to jot down one more parting thought.

Like the ardent lover, too, a congressman tends to overstate his case.

A careful reader will note a message that seems to run through the pleas.

"Now, are you lucky voters going to return me to Washington—or are you going to allow this country to go to the dogs?"

But these self-love pats aren't what attract us devoted followers of Congress.

No, it's a single page of statistics, "A resume of congressional activity," that draws our attention.

Here are such droll facts as how long the senators talked, to the minute, without a worry as to what they said and who, if anyone, listened. How many bills were tossed into the hopper, counted impartially from the most important to the silliest. How many bills became laws, with no fretting over whether they were good or bad.

It is well known now that 96 senators, who have few rules limiting debate, invariably outtalk 435 representatives, whose time is severely rationed.

But even by gabby senatorial standards, this last Senate stood out.

It began by talking away for 360 hours and 44 minutes in its first session last year, and then returned in 1958 to talk 1,014 hours and 45 minutes in the session that wound up Aug.24.

For comparison, the House met for only 562 hours and 12 minutes during the last session.

Let's be fair about this, though. Considerable work was done.

More than 20,000 bills and resolutions were introduced. Mostly in committees, whose long hours of work don't show up on any chart, these were either cultivated or plowed under. Around 1,700 finally became laws.

One surprising statistic:

A president can veto an act of Congress, which then, by a two-thirds vote, can make the bill a law over the veto.

So far, President Eisenhower has vetoed well over 100 bills. Not once has his veto been overridden by Congress.

Jailed For Gifts

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — Two Hungarian sports officials have been sentenced to 20 months in jail each for making gifts of cash to "amateur" sportsmen, the newspaper Esti Hirlap reported Wednesday.

Sentenced for illegal financial dealings were Ernoe Hidasi and Josef Turai of the Gyar Epitoek Club. The paper said they paid 50,000 forints ($2,000) during the last three years to athletes of the club.

Plans for an exhibition were discussed and reports were given at the quarterly meeting of the Allegany County Historical Society Wednesday evening at Historical House, 218 Washington Street. Miss Ruth Clauson presided.

The annual fall exhibition will be held in October, at which time features will be presented.

Mrs. William L. Wilson Jr. reported approximately $600 was made at the Antique Auction sale held in August. It is planned to make it an annual affair. Proceeds were used to pay current bills.

Savage, with "its shops second to none in the United States, where the first iron rail was rolled."

Farm Income Seen Higher Than Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Agriculture Department forecast Wednesday that farm income for the first nine months of this year will be 19 per cent greater than in the same period of 1957 despite a recent softening in agricultural prices.

The prediction was expected to be particularly heartening to Republican candidates fighting for election in farm belt areas.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and other top administration farm officials have been insisting that election prospects for GOP congressional candidates in farm areas will improve this fall because of an upturn in the farm economy.

However, there has been some recent apprehension in GOP ranks because of a decline in some farm prices which began in mid-April. But Agriculture Department economists were counting on earlier gains to more than offset these declines.

The farm price index shot up to 266 per cent of the 1910-14 average on April 15 and brought average farm prices on that date to 87 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity price.

By mid-August, however, the price index was down to 251 and prices were averaging 83 per cent of parity.

Invisible Cosmic Rays Revealing Secrets Of Earth And Space To Scientists

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

An invisible rain of cosmic rays is telling scientists secrets of the earth and space.

Cosmic rays are hot-rod bits of atoms zipping in from outer space, and sometimes from the sun, with the velocity of light.

They are so numerous that perhaps 1,000 times a minute some cosmic bullets penetrate your body.

Special devices can detect and count the rays, and ingenious scientists are learning new secrets of nature from them.

From the behavior of cosmic rays, Dr. John Simpson, professor of physics at the Enrico Fermi Institute for Nuclear Studies, University of Chicago, figures there must be interplanetary magnetic fields and huge magnetic clouds or curtains floating in space. At times the magnetic clouds seem to box in the whole solar system.

The clouds apparently can keep some cosmic rays batting back and forth like table tennis balls across millions of miles of space.

Cosmic rays are a main field of study during the International Geophysical Year, with scientists around the world making observations and comparing notes.

The rays are being counted continuously by scores of stations on the ground. Ships at sea, balloons and airplanes are recording their arrival too, to help piece together the story of where they come from and how they get their high energy.

Some of this story is known from 40 years of research by scientists of many nations:

Most cosmic rays have traveled billions of miles. They apparently come from within our galaxy, or far distant galaxies. They likely were created in great flares on distant stars, or even the death explosions of stars, known as novae.

One of the very first jobs for Sputniks and Explorer satellites was to count cosmic rays in pure form in space. This led to the discovery, by Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, of a previously unsuspected band of radiation starting about 800 miles from the earth.

Cosmic ray specialists now estimate that about 5 per cent of primary cosmic rays are protons, one of the main particles of which atoms are made. Another 14 per cent are alpha particles, or the cores of helium atoms, and the other 1 per cent is charged atoms of iron and other nuclei of the elements found in nature.

Few of these primary cosmic rays ever reach the ground. Instead, they smash into atoms and molecules of the atmosphere, creating radioactive atoms, and produce additional billions of cosmic rays which do penetrate to the earth.

A sensitive counter, such as the neutron intensity counter developed by Dr. Simpson and associates, clicks steadily with hundreds of cosmic ray counts every minute.

Cosmic rays are becoming valuable probes or tools to explore space.

They are telling new things about the earth's magnetic field, which stretches hundreds to thousands of miles into space.

Cosmic rays sense the location of the Magnetic Equator. Far more of them pour into the earth at the poles than at the Equator, for at the poles the cosmic rays don't have to cross magnetic lines of force as they do at the Equator, where magnetic fields deflect all but the most energetic cosmic rays.

The behavior of the particles now indicates that the earth's magnetic field extending into space for thousands of miles is different from the theoretical predictions of the past.

Cosmic rays also point to another mystery, the magnetic clouds and interplanetary magnetic fields at distances millions of miles from the earth.

Cosmic rays are found to decrease in number when the sun is active with flares and sunspots. Cosmic ray intensity increases again when the sun enters a quiet period.

Magnetic clouds could explain this, Dr. Simpson reasons. The active sun shoots out great masses of high temperature gas. Currents circulate in these clouds, and this creates a tangled magnetic field.

Cosmic rays from outer space bump into these tangled knots of magnetic fields, and wander about with some being steered away so they don't reach the earth as they ordinarily would.

Very rarely, the sun shoots out great bursts of cosmic rays itself, and these tell a very significant story:

The sun flashed on Feb. 23, 1956, with a flare equal in intensity to the explosion of a billion H-bombs of 20-megaton force.

Cosmic rays jumped 5,000 per cent.

And the counts stayed high for 10 to 15 hours, here and at other stations counting the rays. Yet the sun had probably produced all these cosmic rays in only 20 minutes. Why did they keep coming to earth for such a long time, and from all directions?

Magnetic clouds which reflected the cosmic rays like bouncing balls could be the reason. The cosmic ray particles could have made dozens of trips, nearly at the speed of light, before they hit the earth, or managed to escape through holes in the magnetic box to go darting through space. The magnetic fields act as a giant box to store the cosmic rays produced in the solar flare.

Today's Views On Newspaper Of The Future

NEW YORK (UPI) — Edward W. Barrett, dean of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, predicted Wednesday that the newspaper of the future would be larger in both size and circulation and stress interpretive reporting instead of spot news.

Barrett, writing in Newsprint published by the Newsprint Information Committee, said that basic economic and social trends made at least five points on the newspaper horizon "reasonably clear."

He summarized them as follows:

—Rising production costs will spur the trend toward consolidation of newspapers, with jointly owned single morning and afternoon newspapers becoming more the pattern.

—Total circulation will continue to increase with the number of pages as a result of a rising education level and a heightened interest in news created by radio and television newscasts.

—Large newspapers will be better edited, more objective and better balanced. With the disappearance of newspaper competition, the "temptation to outscream" rival papers with sensationalized news will disappear. But newspapers will be kept on their toes by competition from radio, TV magazines and papers in nearby cities.

—Newspapers will concentrate more and more on developing ways to make major news understandable. The total number of reporters probably will not increase appreciably, but a growing proportion will have to be thoroughly educated and trained craftsmen.

—There may be a substantially increased number of smaller specialized newspapers in new suburbs and other subdivisions of large newspaper circulation areas. Small partisan papers, mostly weeklies, made up to plead for special causes.

"In the whole picture, one fact seems particularly clear," Barrett wrote. "The large newspaper that strives to make entertainment—as opposed to news reporting — its main appeal will be in for trouble."

Maryland Demos Gather Tonight To Hear Truman

By The Associated Press

Maryland Democratic leaders warmed up Thursday for an outburst of "Happy Days Are Here Again" behind that whoop-de-do leader, Harry S. Truman.

The former president's appearance Friday night at Pikesville is being hailed by party chieftians as "the largest gathering of Maryland Democrats ever assembled."

They are hoping the reaction is a harbinger of Maryland's return to the Democratic column in the November election. The Democrats haven't been able to elect a governor or U. S. senator since 1946.

About 1,800 tickets at $100 apiece have been sold to the Truman dinner in the armory at Pikesville. Previously, such campaign fund raising dinners were held in Baltimore hotels where attendance was limited to around 800.

The Demonratic candidates for the top office took time out Thursday from their campaigning, except for a follow-up appearance to the Republicans before the Maryland State Licensed Beverage Assn. in Ocean City.

The Republican caravan covered the rest of Worcester County in search of votes.

Devereux sought to throw some of Tawes' words back in his teeth.

The Republican candidate recalled that Tawes earlier this week said he favored a fiscal approach that would "stripe State expenditures of every penny of waste."

"If Mr. Tawes is so interested in saving money," Devereux asked, "why did he insist on keeping rented offices downtown (in Baltimore) for the attorney general's section?"

Devereux said Tawes had helped block transfer of the attorney general's staff from rented office space in Baltimore to a new building for State agencies.

The Democrats are counting heavily on Truman to breathe fire and brimstone into the campaign.

He will be driven over from Washington in late afternoon. Philip Perlman, former U. S. solicitor general under Truman, will head a welcoming committee.

Teacher Admits Dope Addiction

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman school teacher from South Carolina and Georgia admitted in court today she has been taking dope off and on for 10 years.

Mrs. Mildred Neil, 47, blamed her addiction on narcotics prescribed for her when she was bearing her third child.

She said the boy now is living in a Presbyterian church home. Her eldest son is scheduled to be ordained a Presbyterian minister and a daughter is in college, Mrs. Neil testified.

Criminal Court Judge Anselm Sodaro described her as a "pathetic, sick woman."

He withheld sentence and referred Mrs. Neil to medical and probation authorities.

Mrs. Neil told the judge she came to Baltimore this summer in hopes of obtaining a teaching job.

She said she obtained a synthetic morphine on prescription for migraine headaches. Instead of swallowing the drug as prescribed, she injected it into her veins.

She was staying at a home for alcoholics when her use of a hypodermic was told to police in the narcotics bureau.

James F. Price, assistant state's attorney, informed the court that Mrs. Neil had a record of arrests in eight Southern states.

Va. Apple Crop Size Disputed

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Harvest of Virginia's 1958 apple crop is gaining momentum amid disagreement over the size of the crop and a grower-processor controversy over prices.

But all agree the fruit has good size and most varieties have excellent color and finish.

Prospects for good color and high finish are the best in years, according to the Crop Reporting Committee of the Frederick County Fruit Growers' Assn. their report covers the top two fruit-producing counties in the state, Frederick and Clarke.

Commercial apple production in Virginia is forecast at 11½ million bushels, according to the September fruit report of the Virginia Crop Reporting Service. This would be 24 per cent above last year's crop and 29 per cent below average.

But grower sources report that many apple producers feel the estimate is too high. J. Kenneth Robinson, one of the principle local growers, said at a meeting here Sept. 12 that many producers were reporting the crop was "not picking out" as much as was indicated.

The crop is going to be smaller if the growers have anything to do with it. Currently, they're involved in a dispute with Appalachain processors over apple prices.

The controversy began last Wednesday when processor prices became known. Grower sources said they had a top scale of $1.75 per hundredweight, delivered, for all sauce varieties, U. S. No. 1 canners, 2½-inch up. The prices ranged downward to 50 cents for ciders.

Over 400 Appalachian growers met here Sept. 12 and adopted a three-point program aimed et getting prices up to at least last year's level. The prices last year were $2.50 for No. 1 Yorks and $2.25 for other seuce varieties down to 50 cents for ciders.

Suspended Sentence Given Negro In Theft

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A three-year suspended sentence was imposed on Norman Chase, former member of the Dorchester County Republican committee, for the theft of $5,000 worth of canned tomatoes.

Chase, 62-year-old Negro, pleaded guilty to taking 1,200 cases of tomatoes fom the Salem Packing Co. where he was a foreman with 30 years service with the firm.

Judge W. Laird Henry Jr. imposed the suspended House of Correction sentence after hearing a number of character witnesses testify in Chase's behalf.

Chase was defeated for reelection to the county GOP committee in the May primary.

Chase admitted selling the tomatoes to merchants at below market price, State's Attorney C. Burnam Mace said. They had been hauled away in case lots from the packing house.

Appeals Court Hearing On Ad Tax Set Today

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals will be asked Friday to decide a million dollar question effecting advertisers and advertising mediums.

Up for a hearing will be Baltimore's controversial advertising tax.

The tax actually has been repealed — as of next January. Meanwhile, the city is continuing to collect it.

Depending upon how the court rules the city stands to gain or lose upwards of $1,500,000 in tax revenues.

A circuit court ruling in Baltimore held the tax to be illegal and void because it impedes freedom of the press. The city is appealing.

After city attorneys present their case the court will hear arguments from attorneys for 17 original plaintiffs who opposed the tax.

In addition to the press freedom angle, the case also involves numerous other points, including effects of the tax on interstate commerce, and alleged discrimination in its provisions.

The Legislature earlier this year, outlawed such a special tax on advertising.

The U. S. Army has many uses for cotton—in guncotton, in the webbing and the covers for many types of equipment and tentages and uniforms.

Maryland Demos Gather Tonight To Hear Truman

By The Associated Press

Maryland Democratic leaders warmed up Thursday for an outburst of "Happy Days Are Here Again" behind that whoop-de-do leader, Harry S. Truman.

The former president's appearance Friday night at Pikesville is being hailed by party chieftians as "the largest gathering of Maryland Democrats ever assembled."

They are hoping the reaction is a harbinger of Maryland's return to the Democratic column in the November election. The Democrats haven't been able to elect a governor or U. S. senator since 1946.

About 1,800 tickets at $100 apiece have been sold to the Truman dinner in the armory at Pikesville. Previously, such campaign fund raising dinners were held in Baltimore hotels where attendance was limited to around 800.

The Demonratic candidates for the top office took time out Thursday from their campaigning, except for a follow-up appearance to the Republicans before the Maryland State Licensed Beverage Assn. in Ocean City.

The Republican caravan covered the rest of Worcester County in search of votes.

Devereux sought to throw some of Tawes' words back in his teeth.

The Republican candidate recalled that Tawes earlier this week said he favored a fiscal approach that would "stripe State expenditures of every penny of waste."

"If Mr. Tawes is so interested in saving money," Devereux asked, "why did he insist on keeping rented offices downtown (in Baltimore) for the attorney general's section?"

Devereux said Tawes had helped block transfer of the attorney general's staff from rented office space in Baltimore to a new building for State agencies.

The Democrats are counting heavily on Truman to breathe fire and brimstone into the campaign.

He will be driven over from Washington in late afternoon. Philip Perlman, former U. S. solicitor general under Truman, will head a welcoming committee.

Teacher Admits Dope Addiction

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman school teacher from South Carolina and Georgia admitted in court today she has been taking dope off and on for 10 years.

Mrs. Mildred Neil, 47, blamed her addiction on narcotics prescribed for her when she was bearing her third child.

She said the boy now is living in a Presbyterian church home. Her eldest son is scheduled to be ordained a Presbyterian minister and a daughter is in college, Mrs. Neil testified.

Criminal Court Judge Anselm Sodaro described her as a "pathetic, sick woman."

He withheld sentence and referred Mrs. Neil to medical and probation authorities.

Mrs. Neil told the judge she came to Baltimore this summer in hopes of obtaining a teaching job.

She said she obtained a synthetic morphine on prescription for migraine headaches. Instead of swallowing the drug as prescribed, she injected it into her veins.

She was staying at a home for alcoholics when her use of a hypodermic was told to police in the narcotics bureau.

James F. Price, assistant state's attorney, informed the court that Mrs. Neil had a record of arrests in eight Southern states.

Ridgeley Man Held For Jury

A Ridgeley man is being held in Mineral County (W. Va.) jail for action of the next term of Circuit Court on charges of breaking and entering.

Being held under $1,000 bond is Earl Edward Carver, 21, of Ridgeley, who was given a preliminary hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace C. J. Phillips.

Carver was arrested at his home early yesterday by Chief of Police Jack Cornett on charges of breaking and entering the Valentine Restaurant on two occasions within a period of a week.

Chief Cornett said the establishment on Potomac Street was first entered on September 8, with entry being made through an unlatched window in the back of the restaurant.

An undetermined amount of money, in coins, was taken at the time, Chief Cornett stated, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to break open the coin compartment of a cigaret machine.

The second entry was made a week later, last Monday, with entry being made after the glass was broken in the same window used in the first robbery.

The chief said $37 in cash was taken in the second theft, as well as a rather large amount of miscellaneous items.

City Can Save With Purchase Of Sewer Pipe

The Mayor and Council will be asked to participate in a proposed solution to the Mapleside open sewer problem, and at a savings, John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property announced yesterday.

Long said the Town of Westernport has 230 lineal feet of 40-inch reinforced concrete pipe left over from one of the town's projects.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, looked into the proposition and found from Neil Williams, a Westernport town councilman, that the pipe could be purchased for $10 a foot.

This, Nuzum reported to Long, is about $3.85 less a foot than the current price, FOB Cumberland.

The city engineer stated that this is the type and size of pipe needed to encase Brinker's Run, the subject of much complaint during the past four years.

The purchase of this pipe would represent a savings of $700, Long said.

And for a total cost of $2,300 an apparent health hazard can be corrected. During the past, complaints concerning the open ditch have been repeated at numerous sessions of the Mayor and Council.

Long said he will ask the council to attempt to find the $2,300 necessary to purchase this pipe.

Previously, pipe of a smaller diameter owned by the city and stored in Constitution Park was believed to be capable of correcting the situation.

But Nuzum checked and informed the commissioner that this pipe was not large enough to meet the need.

A total of 342 persons have registered for adult education courses since Monday evening, according to J. D. Lonnholm, director of the program for the Board of Education. The largest registration was at Fort Hill High School where 195 adults registered.

Additional registrations were accepted yesterday at Fort Hill, Beall, Mt. Savage, Valley and Bruce high schools.

Typing, basic electricity, high school subjects, first year and second year sewing were the most popular courses. The typing course at Fort Hill is filled, but Cumberland area residents may register now for another class which will begin in January; or if they prefer, they may enroll at Beall High, Frostburg, where many vacancies exist. There are also vacancies in typing at Valley and Bruce high schools.

Vacancies exist in almost all courses, and interested persons can enroll in home furnishings, cooking, millinery, home crafts, tailoring, carpentry and machinist blueprint reading, beginning shorthand, bookkeeping, abbreviated longhand, basic electrical theory and high school subjects, Lonnholm said.

Langdon To Take Over B&O Legal Department

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jervis Langdon Jr., a general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad since December of 1956, has been elected vice president and general counsel.

The B & O said Wednesday that Langdon would take over the legal department effective Oct. 1, succeeding Edwin H. Burgess. Burgess is retiring after 44 years of railroad service.

Born in Elmira, N. Y., Langdon attended Hill School, Cornell University and Cornell law school. He also studied at Dijon University in France.

Budget Bids Are Lopped By Planning Unit

The State Planning Commission has recommended a capital improvements program of $14,033,600 for the next fiscal year after removing 30 millions dollars, including some funds requested for Frostburg State Teachers College, from requests made by department heads.

The commission said the Department of Education had asked $1,455,000 for dining hall and student activity building projects at Frostburg State, but it recommended only $536,000 for Gunter Hall.

A $15,000 request by the Department of Forests and Parks for acquiring additional land for a recreation area on Dan's Mountain was approved.

The Department of Education had originally requested a total of $3,346,000 but the commission recommended only $2,197,600 of that amount.

Forests and Parks was allowed $1,754,000 which includes funds for buying first land for a new state park along the Gunpowder River and a half million for expansion and improvement of Patapsco River State Park.

REPORT POSSIBLE ROMANCE

LONDON (UPI) — A columnist for the tabloid Daily Sketch of London said Thursday ex-Queen Soraya of Iran soon might marry German Baron Dieter Von Malsen - Ponickau. Columnist Simon WardP Psaid Soraya and the baron had been constant companions since they met three months ago. He reported it was the talk of the international set that the two were in love and would marry shortly.

Light Will Move Office To Help Billing Process

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light asked for employe suggestions on how to improve efficiency in the department and as a result will shift his office location.

The request was made by the commissioner two weeks ago. The office clerk, James Twigg, took advantage of it. He said the department could improve its billing efficiency if Light's present office on the Frederick Street side of City Hall could be used for machines and Light moved his office into the smaller room where billing operations are carried on.

Light said he recognizes the merit of the suggestion and will follow it.

Present quarters used for the machines are cramped.

Former Residents Now In Florida

Alex Macdonnell, husband of the former Miss Martha Swayne, daughter of Mrs. R. K. Swayne, 300 Washington Street, was speaker at the Kiwanis meeting recently in Groverland, Fla.

His father was a civil engineer, serving in Brazil, Haiti, Panama, Nicaragua, Colombia and Cuba. He was educated in South American grade and high schools, and is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, in industrial engineering.

Three years after his graduation he became the regional supervisor and assistant division manager for Goodyear Rubber Company in South America and Cuba.

Following this he operated his own rubber factory in Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonnell are frequent visitors here. This past summer their son, Matthew, spent a vacation on South Branch and then visited with his grandmother for two weeks before returning to Groverland.

Mayor And Council To Discuss Lifting Of Centre, Mechanic Street Traffic Ban

The Mayor and Council and other city officials will meet today at 10 a. m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech to review a proposal to remove the parking ban in effect on Centre and Mechanic streets between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

All members of the council have been asked to attend, Mayor Keech said, as have been City Attorney William R. Carscaden and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming said he will recommend that the parking ban be lifted for a trial period of 30 days during which a traffic count will be made and the flow of traffic studied.

The use of parking meters and parking lots will also be watched during the trial period, Mr. Fleming added, explaining it is his opinion that the traffic flow problem is not traffic itself, but motorists seeking a place to park.

Mr. Fleming and members of his department have held a series of meetings with merchants who operate businesses along the two streets and a number of recommendations are under study at present.

In an attempt to secure the opinion of pedestrians as well as motorists, Mr. Fleming said he will ask the public to send him the various viewpoints on the parking situation during the trial period. The plan will be aimed particularly at the merchants and employes of downtown stores, he explained.

Mr. Fleming has already started a plan of changing red lines to yellow in front of business places where it is feasible. He said a number of businesses where transactions are quickly completed will be given the benefit of this action, but that changes will be kept under supervision so that no advantage will be taken of the change in parking regulations.

The matter of increasing the fines for parking violations will also be discussed at the meeting, Fleming said, adding that he is in favor of increasing the amount of fines now in effect, particularly for parking on red lines.

Any agreement reached at today's meeting will be acted on officially at Monday's council session.

Mr. Fleming announced that two-way traffic on Cumberland Street from the Baltimore Street bridge to Johnson Street went into effect yesterday. The street was made one-way during the construction of the new bridge.

Mayor And Council To Discuss Lifting Of Centre, Mechanic Street Traffic Ban

The Mayor and Council and other city officials will meet today at 10 a. m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech to review a proposal to remove the parking ban in effect on Centre and Mechanic streets between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

All members of the council have been asked to attend, Mayor Keech said, as have been City Attorney William R. Carscaden and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming said he will recommend that the parking ban be lifted for a trial period of 30 days during which a traffic count will be made and the flow of traffic studied.

The use of parking meters and parking lots will also be watched during the trial period, Mr. Fleming added, explaining it is his opinion that the traffic flow problem is not traffic itself, but motorists seeking a place to park.

Mr. Fleming and members of his department have held a series of meetings with merchants who operate businesses along the two streets and a number of recommendations are under study at present.

In an attempt to secure the opinion of pedestrians as well as motorists, Mr. Fleming said he will ask the public to send him the various viewpoints on the parking situation during the trial period. The plan will be aimed particularly at the merchants and employes of downtown stores, he explained.

Mr. Fleming has already started a plan of changing red lines to yellow in front of business places where it is feasible. He said a number of businesses where transactions are quickly completed will be given the benefit of this action, but that changes will be kept under supervision so that no advantage will be taken of the change in parking regulations.

The matter of increasing the fines for parking violations will also be discussed at the meeting, Fleming said, adding that he is in favor of increasing the amount of fines now in effect, particularly for parking on red lines.

Any agreement reached at today's meeting will be acted on officially at Monday's council session.

Mr. Fleming announced that two-way traffic on Cumberland Street from the Baltimore Street bridge to Johnson Street went into effect yesterday. The street was made one-way during the construction of the new bridge.

Garrett Grand Jury Indicts Ewald Ruehl

A former Cumberlander has been indicted by the October grand jury in Garrett County Circuit Court on a charge of receiving stolen goods—his admitted share of a safecracking job he said he helped set up.

W. Ewald Ruehl had the warrant served on him yesterday by Baltimore County Police at his place of employment in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Garrett County State's Attorney Stephen R. Pagenhardt said Ruehl is charged with receiving $1,500 as his share in the safecracking and burglary of a total of $17,500 from the home of Lee A. Green in LaVale in October 1949.

The details of Ruehl's part in the conspiracy came to light April 24, 1957, in Baltimore County Circuit Court.

Green had sued Ruehl in that court for the $1,500 share of the loot, and Judge John E. Raine Jr. on April 25, 1957, issued a lengthy opinion in which figured Ruehl's confession given to Allegany County authorities.

The statement showed how Ruehl had allowed a man named Paul and two other men, one apparently a safecracker with a 50-year record, to occupy his cabin at Deep Creek Lake.

Judge Raine noted that Ruehl admitted knowing the burglary was to take place, and after the safecracking said he found $1,500 in $100 bills in a jar in the cottage.

Two men, Harold Paul Odum and James Golden were picked up by the FBI in Baltimore after Ruehl had signed the confession, but county authorities were forced to set them free after stating there was insufficient evidence to charge them.

LITTLE ROCK—The man in the middle in the school integration situation in Little Rock is the city's superintendent of schools, a big, dogged, honest-as-the - day-is-long former football player named Virgil T. Blossom.

No man tried harder than he to obey the dictates of the Supreme Court and, at the same time, make acceptance of that hard verdict as palatable as possible to a people who had no appetite to comply.

He took the matter a step at a time. In the immediate wake of the first high court order, May, 1954, he and the school board which elected him issued a statement which reviewed the city's outstanding efforts to provide "separate but equal" educational opportunities. The report added, "It is now our responsibility to comply with federal constitutional requirements and we intend to do so when the Supreme Court of the United States outlines the method to be followed."

When, a year later, the court ruled that school integration must go forward with "all deliberate speed," Blossom and his associates devised a plan which won wholehearted approval among the people. Blossom made more than 200 speeches to big and little groups, white and Negro, explaining it.

The Arkansas Democrat named him "man of the year in Little Rock" in 1955 with a citation which read, "In less than three years (as superintendent) you have made an excellent record in administering the city's schools. The problem of increased enrollment and others even more serious have been handled by you in a matter that has brought you the respect and admiration of the entire country."

In the early hours of the morning of the day before Little Rock's gentle integration plan was to go into effect, Gov. Faubus (who had applauded the plan) called out his National Guard to "protect" the Negro students by keeping them out of Central High School. You know the rest of the seamy picture: The exclusion of a Negro girl, the arrival of the bayonet - bared 101st Airborne troops, the fights, the recriminations, the staining of Little Rock's fair name all over the world.

Blossom has become one of the governor's major targets of late, even though he plugged manfully for the 2½ year desegregation stay which the Supreme Court rejected last week. The newspaper that hailed him as "man of the year" is critical of him. Some of the mail he gets is downright vicious. The governor has signed into law a bill which enables him peremptorily to fire Blossom from his $13,200 a year job, as well as the publicly elected school board from their payless jobs.

Blossom has been in school work since 1924. His record at Little Rock won attention through the nation long before events turned the attention to notoriety. He has dedicated himself to the enormous task of trying to restore his peoples' respect for the Supreme Court, for law in general. He is out to rid the mounting fears the parents and students have of reprisals, if they speak their minds. Significantly, none of his teachers have quit, despite heavy pressures brought to bear on them. He himself is able to carry his own burden, he says, because of the "magnificent" character of the teachers and "95 per cent" of the students, and a school board which has stuck by its guns even though the businesses of some of the members have been hurt by boycott.

"What happened here in Little Rock was certain to happen somewhere else in the South," he told me, over a hurried bowl of soup that was his lunch. "Where else would people of a community of this size take this problem in such perfect stride, day by day? I'm so darned proud of these good people, so darned sorry about what they've had to go through."

Behind The News In Business

by Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The stock market is within a whisker of its all time high. It has come within less than a point in the industrial share price average of equalling it.

This is a flight from the dollar market, and the current news out of the nation's capital allays none of the fears over the dollar's future buying power.

The federal deficit is a record and is expanding. The wage-price spiral continues.

In the week just closed, the market made a new high for the year in four of the five trading days.

The all time high for the Dow, Jones industrial price average is 524.37, made in April of '56. The 1929 peak was 386.10 made in September.

The White House's revised "guess' for the 1959 budget and deficit—both are whoppers—sent the average to 523.57. Last year's high was 523.11 made in July.

So, the market is at an important test point, with the guessing in the Street about 50-50 whether it will break through this resistance point. Since making its high in 1956, the market has three times come within range of that ceiling. It has backed away twice.

Present levels have little if any relationship to earnings and dividend yields. Earnings this year are comparable with 1953, and about 15 per cent above those of 1949, but the market is twice as high currently as it was five years ago, and more than three times the average for 1949.

Yields on stocks are a little under 4 per cent, compared to 4¾, 5 per cent and more on high grade bonds. An example of what is happening in the two markets—stock and bond—is that Sears Roebuck priced its $350 million bond offering to yield 4¾ per cent, yet the stock is returning at current levels about 3.3 per cent.

This gives rise to a need for caution. The bond market, though, is reflecting more than normal conditions. It has been demoralized for three months by the Federal Reserve's reversal to a tighter money policy and the Treasury's failure to put over a long term bond issue in June.

The stock market has had a fast recovery. It made a low of 416.15 last October and made another base at 434.04 in February. From there it took off, first reflecting Wall Street judgment that the business recession would end in the Spring—which it did—and then turning into a flight from the dollar.

One of the interesting features of the September 8 week is that there was considerable foreign buying of American stocks. The inflation is world wide and American stocks present a better hedge probably than any security anywhere.

The market leaders have been quality stocks, with such issues as U. S. Steel, duPont, IBM, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, Firestone, Allied Chemical, American Cyanamid, and General Electric.

The market, if it continues forward, will be making new rules as well as history. It could, for this is an inflation market.

The fall record on the market is a toss up. In the last three years, it has sold off, but in two of these it was adverse news—Eisenhower's heart attack and the Suez crisis. Last year, it was the recession.

This fall business is picking up, and this in the past has favored the bull side of the market, such as in '49, '50, '53 and '54.

No one can say for sure which the market will go at this moment, so the best course would seem to be one of caution and selectiveness in purchases.

Trading on the N. Y. Stock Exchange averaged 3,146,000 shares daily vs. 2,947,500 in the September 1 week.

Rails Take Market Lead, Climb To New 1958 Highs

Losses of a point or so in Du Pont, International Nickel, International Paper, Standard Oil of California, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Chrysler Corp., General Foods and drops of nearly 2 points in Eastman Kodak and National Steel pulled down the industrial average.

For rails, however, there were gains of around a point in Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Missouri Pacific which helped put that group up on average.

The industrials, too, had higher features—as much as 4⅝ points in Zenith—but these were outnumbered by the declines. Of a total 1,202 issues traded, 568 were lower, 386 higher.

Turnover dipped to 3,460,000 shares from 3,790,000 on Wednesday.

Features among industrials included Chance Vought, up 2¾ on talk of a Navy fighter plane contract although the Navy said no award had been made yet. In the same group Douglas rose 2⅛. Liquors were strong most of the session and Schenley and National Distillers held ¾ each. International Telephone ran up nearly 2 on announcement that the company has been named as the production source for a world-wide control system for the Strategic Air Command.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed in mixed tones Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade, with steady to firm ranges in deferred contracts and weak notes in September options.

Wheat closed up ⅜ to off ⅛ cent; corn (old) up 1⅞ to off ⅝ cent; (new) unchanged to off ¼ cent; oats off ⅛ to up ¼ cent; rye off ⅛ to 1 cent; soybeans off 1½ to 3⅜ cents.

The accent was on buying in the day's activity. Export houses bought vigorously in wheat as local traders led the selling parade. Northwest brokers sold the March contract.

Commission houses and shorts bought September corn against light offerings. Rallies in September deliveries held prices firm for a time, but see-sawed during the day.

Light commission house buying managed to give some strength to oats.

Declines in soybeans were underlined by liquidation, particularly of the September contract. With weather reports more favorable, trade was noticeably affected. Northwest houses did most buying in the November option.

Grains at outside markets showed a rising trend and closed firm. The range:

TRACTORS CREATE PROBLEM

ST. HELIER, Channel Islands (UPI)—The tiny English channel island of Sark, where automobiles are banned, has a traffic problem—tractors. Fun - loving farmers often ride the tractors from pub to pub on noisy drinking sprees. The Sark parliament is considering a curfew on tractors from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Rails Take Market Lead, Climb To New 1958 Highs

Losses of a point or so in Du Pont, International Nickel, International Paper, Standard Oil of California, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Chrysler Corp., General Foods and drops of nearly 2 points in Eastman Kodak and National Steel pulled down the industrial average.

For rails, however, there were gains of around a point in Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and Missouri Pacific which helped put that group up on average.

The industrials, too, had higher features—as much as 4⅜ points in Zenith—but these were outnumbered by the declines. Of a total 1,202 issues traded, 568 were lower, 386 higher.

Turnover dipped to 3,460,000 shares from 3,790,000 on Wednesday.

Features among industrials included Chance Vought, up 2¾ on talk of a Navy fighter plane contract although the Navy said no award had been made yet. In the same group Douglas rose 2⅛. Liquors were strong most of the session and Schenley and National Distillers held ¾ each. International Telephone ran up nearly 2 on announcement that the company has been named as the production source for a world-wide control system for the Strategic Air Command.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed in mixed tones Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade, with steady to firm ranges in deferred contracts and weak notes in September options.

Wheat closed up ⅜ to off ⅛ cent; corn (old) up 1⅞ to off ⅝ cent; (new) unchanged to off ¼ cent; oats off ⅛ to up ¼ cent; rye off ⅛ to 1 cent; soybeans off 1½ to 3⅝ cents.

The accent was on buying in the day's activity. Export houses bought vigorously in wheat as local traders led the selling parade. Northwest brokers sold the March contract.

Commission houses and shorts bought September corn against light offerings. Rallies in September deliveries held prices firm for a time, but see-sawed during the day.

Light commission house buying managed to give some strength to oats.

Declines in soybeans were underlined by liquidation, particularly of the September contract. With weather reports more favorable, trade was noticeably affected. Northwest houses did most buying in the November option.

Grains at outside markets showed a rising trend and closed firm. The range:

TRACTORS CREATE PROBLEM

ST. HELIER, Channel Islands (UPI)—The tiny English channel island of Sark, where automobiles are banned, has a traffic problem—tractors. Fun - loving farmers often ride the tractors from pub to pub on noisy drinking sprees. The Sark parliament is considering a curfew on tractors from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

An Atomic Dumping Ground Still Needed

For centuries the sea has been a convenient dumping place for refuse. At the end of two world wars time-expired ammunition was sunk in a deep valley in the Atlantic, there to waste away its potential wrath without harming anyone.

In recent years, since radioactive waste has become, as it were, an industrial by-product, its harmless disposal has become a problem. Thoughts have turned naturally to the sea as a suitable atomic dumping where, perhaps in toughened steel chests, impervious to salt water, the dangerous stuff might be harmless for many generations to come, probably for near-eternity.

There are 19 deep undersea chasms on the earth's surface and scientists, at least in the West, have believed that at such great depths the water remains static for centuries. Now a Russian oceanographer has challenged the assumption.

Investigation of 12 of these chasms, the Soviet scientist says, reveals that the water in them mixes quite rapidly and atomic wastes would soon be absorbed by vegetable matter, fish and then, presumably, humanity.

American scientists have disputed these findings.

There seems to be no reason why the truth should not be impartially discovered. As the world advances into the atomic age the quantity of poisonous waste material will be enormous and the problem of its disposal correspondingly great.

There must be limits to the amount of rubbish that can be packed, even in expensive containers.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Creative Approach

Dr. Richard C. Rodgers, chairman of the Palma Ceia Methodist Peace Commission, sent me a telegram from Tampa, Florida, starting with the sentence:

"Please devote all your energy to avert catastrophe that could develop from Far-Eastern crisis."

That telegram should have been sent to somebody in the 1920s, when the United States and Great Britain pursued a violently anti-Japanese policy in the Far East and paved the way for Soviet Russia eventually to conquer China. That was one of the really great catastrophes in history. The anti-Japanese boycott in China in 1919, which was a result of the Students Strike and which led to the founding of the Chinese Communist Party, was hailed in the Western world as a great event. But the historical result in 1958 is the Formosan situation which is now faced by the Western world.

All of mankind dislikes war but some peoples are more cowardly than others. In China, where human life is cheap, feudal and civil wars are continuous and banditry is a normal condition. Banditry, in fact, is a usual product of surplus population in villages where the additional males, who cannot find agricultural work, have no way of earning a living except by banditry. Thus private armies came into existence. Chiang Kai-shek spent from 1927 to 1948 trying to rid China of these private armies, the existence of which General George Marshall could never understand because these are not normal in Western countries. In fact, General Marshall and his advisers understood China too little to be of any value to the United States.

The Chinese Communists have to a degree solved the problem of the private armies by two methods: 1. The swift and efficient method of killing large numbers of persons but not enough quite to solve the problem of surplus population; 2. By industrialization which can absorb surplus population in mills, factories, mines, etc., but which involves the proletarization of a rural population which takes time. There might have been a third method, namely the migration of vast hordes to Europe. This is yet to come.

The point that must be emphasized to Dr. Rodgers and others who believe that the China problem can be solved by some United Nations gimmick is that it has been a long one in the making, contains many social and economic complexities and will not be solved readily. It may produce many wars, the most serious one, a century or so from now, when China seeks to conquer Europe and establish a universal Chinese civilization.

If Red China is permitted to take Quemoy and Matsu, which are unimportant islands off the Fukien coast, what is to prevent Red China from taking Formosa and the Philippines? Nothing, except the military might and power and willingness to fight of the United States. Dr. Rodgers, in his telegram to me, says:

". . . Even irresponsible nations should be in U.N. and experience world moral pressure . . ."

Precisely in what way has world moral pressure influenced Soviet Russia or Nasser in their programs of establishing universal states? In what manner has world moral pressure asserted itself except to weaken the United States and to strengthen its enemies? Dr. Rodgers wants a "more creative" approach to China policies to prevent war. All right! Let him suggest the "more creative" approach which will not turn over to Red China Formosa, the Philippines, Malaya and Burma, the Pescadores, Nepal and Assam. It would be interesting to read such a program and to see precisely how it fits the realities of the Far Eastern situation.

I have devoted 40 years of my life to the problems of China. For nearly 14 of those 40 years, I lived in China with visits to Japan and Siberia. I lived one year in Russia during the beginning of the Revolution. I have travelled widely and knew most of the important men of my generation.

I have no "realistic" or "creative" program to offer. The course of events is shaped by millions of tiny factors which merge and combine and concatenate producing a sharp, focused picture at a given moment. That we have today when Mao Tze-tung, the quiet, introvertish student of philosophy in Peking University during the 1919 Students Strike, is seeking to establish a world state in the Far East with himself at the head.

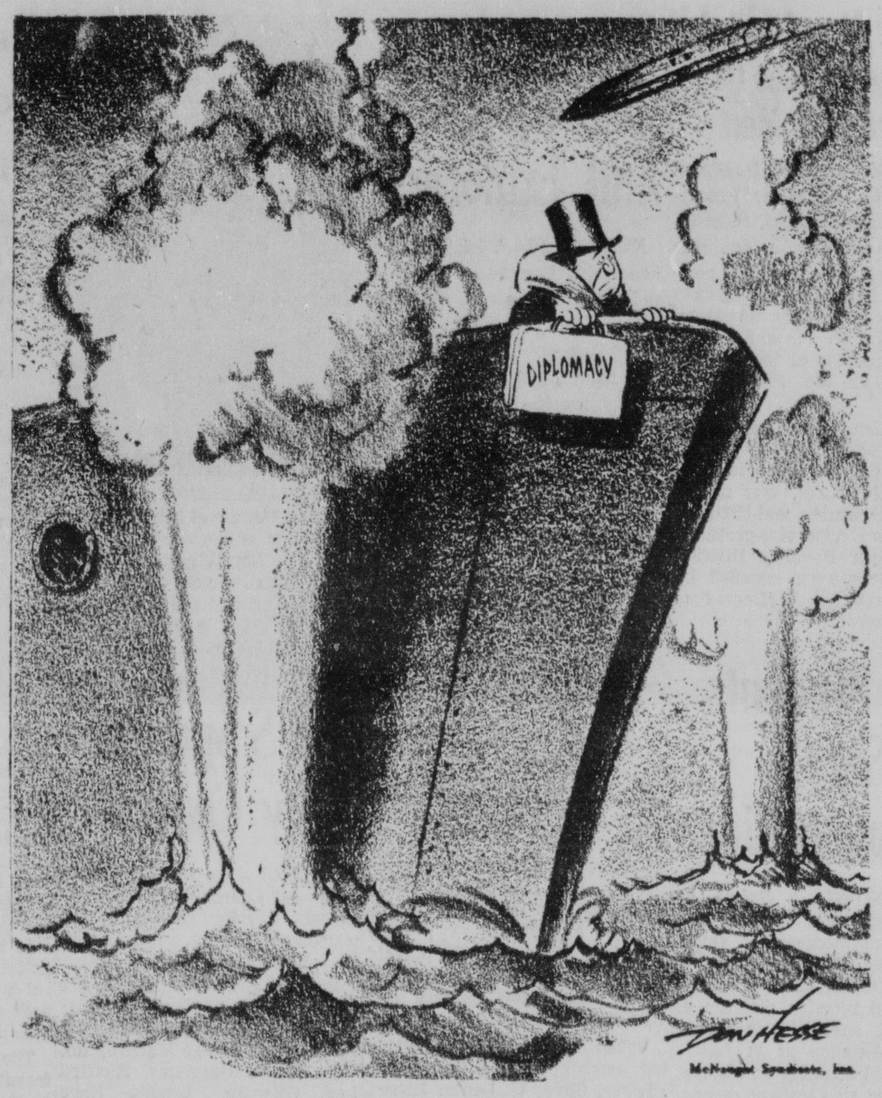
Another Convoy Trying To Get Through



Three Questions On The Fate Of Formosa

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEI, Formosa

If one knew the answers to three questions, it would be easy to predict the future development of this baffling, immensely dangerous offshore islands crisis.

Question number one is whether the Chinese Communist representatives at Warsaw will agree to an informal cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. The American policy-makers faintly, palely hope for ceasefire at Warsaw. If the hope is realized, the artillery blockade of Quemoy will be automatically lifted; and the immediate problem will be solved.

The crisis will then subside into another interminable, probably fruitless round of ambassadorial talks, as happened in 1955. But the Chinese Communists could have got this much without creating the crisis. Hence the odds against Warsaw-arranged cease-fire would seem to be pretty heavy.

Question number two is how much longer the American government can persuade Chiang Kai Shek to hold his hand. Yesterday, the President-Generalissimo indicated to this reporter that the effort to supply Quemoy by convoy over open beaches under heavy fire was a very poor stopgap at best — which is a charitable judgment. Chiang further revealed his determination to strike rather soon at the heart of the trouble, by sending his crack air squadrons against the Communist gun positions and lines of communications.

Chiang has not yet ordered air attacks on mainland targets, solely because of American pleas to wait and see whether the Warsaw talks would produce a cease-fire. If a cease-fire is not soon produced, Chiang will be very hard to hold any longer. And if his air squadrons begin to operate over the mainland, the fat will be in the fire whether the American Government likes it or not.

As for question number three, it is whether the American policy-makers will come round to Chiang Kai shek's view of the problem if their Warsaw hopes are disappointed. Another way of phrasing the question is to ask whether President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles really meant anything, by all their big bold talk about defending the Matsus and Quemoy against Communist aggression.

The present orders of the American command out here are to try all imaginable devices, and to use all possible resources, to supply blockaded Quemoy without getting into a fight. By a costly combination of air and sea supply, it is theoretically possible to get enough tonnage into Quemoy to feed the garrison and civilian population, even with the beaches and landing strips under heavy fire. Each landing of supplies will involve some casualties for the Chinese who do the nasty part of the job; but in theory, the job can be done in this manner.

Yet this will most emphatically not "defend Quemoy," as the American government has promised to do. The offshore islands positions are difficult enough already. If every ounce of supplies has to be landed under fire which can never be returned, the Quemoy position will become absolutely untenable for the long run. Already, the Nationalist guns on Quemoy cannot be used for serious counter-battery fire, because the garrison commander has no prospect of replenishing his stocks of ammunition.

In short, the offshore islands are not Berlin. It may put off the evil day of final choice, but it will not solve the problem to push a trickle of supplies through the Communist artillery blockade of Quemoy. No one in his senses can suppose that such a position can be indefinitely held in such a manner, without a military or political or psychological crackup somewhere. The attempt, if prolonged, will be nothing more or less than an invitation to a crackup; and there are plenty of signs here in Taiwan that a crackup will result.

In other words, if the President and Secretary Dulles really mean what they have said, the only way to defend Quemoy is in the classical manner, by meeting force with force. If the firm intention to do this is revealed — by turning loose the Chinese Nationalist pilots to attack mainland targets, for instance — there will then be some chance that the Chinese Communists will agree to a cease-fire.

If Peking will not agree to a cease-fire after the U. S. has manifested a firm intention to meet force with force, then it will be abundantly clear that Peking is ready to run all risks in order to gain a smashing victory here. Furthermore, if the American government is not willing to meet force with force, the Chinese Communists will quite surely gain their victory in the end. In this event, the impact of the victory, so well forecast by both the President and Secretary Dulles have sworn to prevent such a victory.

It looks well, of course, to be patient and meek and eager to negotiate. But readiness to meet force with force is the only card the United States can play to bring the Chinese Communists to reason. Patience and meekness no doubt make a good impression in London but they are bound to confirm Peking's conviction that the American government is a paper tiger. And if we are not ready to use force as a last resort, the President and Secretary of State ought never to have talked so big and bold.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Psychiatrists are saying those mink-lined quizz-aways are making us avaricious, grabborious and greedy.

If that's the answer to the question we'll take our catnip in the isolation booth.

We don't think it's worth $246,000 to know which way the Leaning Tower of Pisa is slanted. But we'll take the loot and no questions asked.

Except by the district attorney who wants to know why the pupils are smarter than the teacher.

Remember when all this giveaway industry started with Phil Baker's sixty-four dollar question? It ran the gamut of economical merchandising.

Now we realize they were giving away the shells and keeping the peanuts.

But while the contestant in the quarantine cabinet was making up his mind our breaths were in escrow.

Well, a mighty hoax from little acorns grow.

Nautilus Proved Ability To 'Sink' Whole British Fleet In War Games

By Jack Anderson

(Drew Pearson is on a work-and-play vacation. Today's column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON.—The astounding story can now be told of how the atomic submarinne Nautilus theoretically sank almost the entire British Navy during naval maneuvers a year ago.

The British borrowed the history-making sub for their own maneuvers following "Operation Strike Back," NATO naval exercise in the North Atlantic last September.

The obliging Nautilus simply pulled up under a British aircraft carrier and hung about 20 feet beneath it like a sucker fish. From this hiding place, it launched simulated torpedo attacks against the surrounding ships.

Official reports show that the Nautilus theoretically sank the whole giant task force three times. It took the British two days to locate the Nautilus, whose noise was drowned out by the carrier above it. Even after the atomic prowler was discovered, the surface ships couldn't sink it without also destroying their own great carrier.

Yet despite the Nautilus' spectacular performance both in maneuvers and under the Arctic ice, President Eisenhower has ordered cutbacks in atomic submarine construction.

Red Plot In South

Behind the racial strife in the south, FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover has detected the hidden hand of the Communist Party.

He has reported to President Eisenhower that Communists have been migrating from New England to the southern states—chiefly Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia and Mississippi—to organize the transplanted textile industry and to stir up tension between whites and blacks.

Hoover claimed that Red agents are trying to infiltrate both the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the pro-segregation White Citizens Councils. He stressed, however, that these organizations have not been taken over.

Communist strategy, said Hoover, is to inflame both sides in the racial issue. The objective is to undermine democracy by breeding hatred, suspicion, and violence.

Strange Romance

The truth can now be told how blubbery Barney Baker, the head-knocking Teamsters hoodlum, met and married glamorous Carole Ann More, refined daughter of Iowa politician Jake More.

The pair were not introduced by New York's Gov. Averell Harriman as Republicans have charged. Baker and More happened to occupy neighboring suites at the 1956 Democratic convention in Chicago. One evening, Baker dropped over to borrow a bottle of liquor. It was More himself who introduced the 300-pound tough to his daughter.

After Baker started sweeping her off her feet by taking her on a Chicago whirl, More tried to break up the romance. He got her a job in Washington with Tennessee's racket-busting Sen. Estes Kefauver, who gave her a fatherly talk. Finally the Senator told Carole Ann kindly that she would have to give up her hoodlum lover or her Senate job.

She chose her fat boy friend.

Ike's Ideas On China

Formosa Footnotes: Despite his tough talk about standing up to the Chinese Communists, President Eisenhower has confessed privately that we must eventually recognize Red China. We cannot go on ignoring the fact that the Communists firmly control the Chinese mainland, he remarked to aides. . . . Ike is also intrigued by the possibility of widening the cracks that have already appeared between Moscow and Peking. He doesn't believe the two Communist giants can continue to rub up against each other's borders without causing friction.

The President can be expected to relax his hostile attitude toward Communist China if the Reds make the proper peaceful gestures and if big Bill Knowland, the pro-Formosan firehorse, is defeated for governor of California. . . . As Senate GOP leader, Knowland stood like the immovable object in the way of any compromise with Red China. His elimination as a GOP power would give Ike more diplomatic elbow room.

The President believes we may as well face the fact that Chiang Kai-shek cannot reinvade the mainland without dragging American forces into a futile war with Red China. . . . Ike is willing to trade the offshore islands for a Communist agreement to give up all claims to Formosa. Then the President believes we could persuade the United Nations to guarantee Formosa's independence. This would throw world support behind Formosa in case the Reds reneged on their agreement. . . . The big obstacle to this plan is Chiang himself, who refuses to give up his dream of reconquest. . . . Secretary of State Dulles is also skeptical that the Reds will settle for anything less than Formosa itself. They are determined, he believes, to remove Chiang's army as a potential threat. They may try to take over from within rather than without, however, after Chiang's death.

Behind every window there is a story . . .

There are many in the apartment house at 241 Sixth Avenue. This is in the Greenwich Village section of New York. The late sun makes a window on the fourth floor stare back in blind gold. Behind it a young man sits. He plunks moodily at a guitar.

He is 26. His face is handsome. His hair is in jet waves. His eyes are so darkly brown as to appear black. The lower lip pouts. His name is Marty Brill and he is undiscovered talent. Undiscovered talent means that you have it but nobody cares.

Each year, about 10,000 boys and girls in America emerge from school with some theatrical talent. Two or three, in time, are "discovered." Of the remainder, a dozen become fairly well known and sing in little supper clubs around the nation. The rest end up in choirs and saloons, listening to people say: "Gee, you can sing. You ought to be on television."

Marty Brill, I think, is going to make it. He has a good voice. He can sing modern material and he can sing old English chanties and he can tell funny stories in a fine Japanese dialect and in bop talk. A neat distinction! He has looks and charm and he has pride in his craft and a reverence for talent beyond his own.

He was born in Chicago in what is now the Swedish-Covenant Hospital. His father was 24. His mother was 18. Both are Jewish. Marty was named for a dead grandmother and a Notre Dame football player. The elder Brill played a saxophone in a band with Fred MacMurray.

The boy was sent to Bryant Grammar School, Marshall High School, and the University of Chicago and University of Illinois for pre-medical courses. Like so many other immature boys, he waited until he had three years of pre-med before deciding that he did not want to become a doctor. He wanted to be an actor.

The Armed Services came first. He joined the Navy, served on the Destroyer Tenders Prairie and Frontier, went to Korea and Indo-China and Japan and became a disk jockey on Station KCMB in Subic Bay. In 1955, he was sent to Washington and he restudied his childhood loves: guitar and piano.

There was an All-Navy Talent Show and Brill entered. There were 10 winners. He was one. All appeared on the Ed Sullivan Television Show and Brill grinned smugly to himself and murmured: "This is it. The big time." Nothing happened. Audiences all over the country remained seated.

His first professional job was at the Caucus Club in Detroit. He came on with a stool and a guitar and sang and told funny stories for $200 a week. He stayed eight weeks. One of his listeners was Leo DeLyon, who went back to New York and told Mr. Krasne of General Artists Corporation that there was a kid in Detroit who had great talent.

Brill had never met anyone from GAC, but they sent word that he was being booked into the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans. He earned $350 a week and his name was in lights under Tony Pastor and Johnny Puleo and His Harmonica Gang. He felt big. Brill went on before 1,200 people and laid an egg with corners on it. The people stared at him.

The manager wrote out a slip cancelling Brill's engagement. His big moment was his worst. He sat in his room looking at a wall. There was a knock on the door. Johnny Puleo came in followed by Tony Pastor. Puleo is a midget who used to work with Borrah Minnevich.

"What are you trying to do, kid?" they said. "Your stuff is awful." Pastor sat down and wrote out some new arrangements for the stranger. Puleo showed the kid some show business tricks. Pastor phoned the hotel manager and asked him not to cancel Marty's engagement. He stayed. He was not great after that, but he was a fair attraction.

Later he was sent to the Park-Plaza in St. Louis. He played the Merry-Go-Round Room and the Chase Club. Stars like Helen Forrest and Tennessee Ernie Ford say, like Pastor and Puleo, that Marty Brill is headed for stardom. "He has it."

Last May, he was jerking sodas in a part-time job at $22 a week. Yesterday, he sat in his little apartment, plunking a guitar. He is out of work.

Children Susceptible To Aspirin Poisoning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The first aspirin came from the willow tree; old timers chewed its bark to lower fever and relieve pain. They never realized that the chemists of the future would discover that the active ingredient was a salicylate. The original name, spireic acid, was changed to aspirin by Otto Dresser, who introduced it in 1899.

Aspirin fills a real need in our way of life but the product is so readily available, we tend to disregard its toxic effects. We use 12 million pounds a year, which, at the rate of 1,536 tablets to a pound, means we are swallowing 18 billion tablets annually.

Adults can tolerate larger doses than children. To commit suicide, grownups would have to take more than 100 tablets, swallowed rapidly. Children, on the other hand, are more sensitive and are particularly prone to aspirin intoxication.

Accidental poisoning in youngsters is becoming a more serious problem and the danger has increased since the advent of candy aspirin. Data from the Chicago Poison Control Center, for example, indicate that of the first 500 cases reported, 84 were due to aspirin. Flavored "baby" aspirin was cited directly in 73 of the 84.

Carelessness plays a role but in many instances the parents do not realize that Johnny is growing up. Flavored aspirin, used during infancy, was kept on a shelf where it remained during the ensuing years when Johnny was getting bigger. It was still candy in his book and became the piece de resistance when he was large enough to reach it.

Aspirin is absorbed into the blood and poisoning occurs when the concentration is too high. The salicylates are eliminated slowly by normal kidneys and survival depends upon the length of time it takes to filter out the chemical from the blood. The artificial kidney has saved lives from salicylic poisoning. The patient is attached to the machine and the blood flows through a system of filters large enough to eliminate the chemical from the blood in short order.

CRAMPS WHILE SWIMMING

W. T. writes: What is the best thing to do for swimming cramps?

REPLY

Knead or stretch the tightened muscle. If the calf of the leg is involved, for example, bend the knee, grab the foot, and pull it up to stretch the tendon Achilles. The next step is to get out of the water or hang onto a boat or other object in the vicinity until the cramp disappears.

POLIO VACCINE

L. writes: Why do you say that a poor polio vaccinne is better than none?

REPLY

Because it brings into play a phenomenon known as immunological hyper-reactivity. The incupation period in polio is long, compared with the common cold. The injection—even though weak—may act like a booster dose and send the protective antibody concentration sky high before the disease has a chance to develop. In this respect, the little protection aids in preventing or ameliorating paralysis. This may explain why diseases with long incubation periods usually are followed by immunity. In contrast, when a person is exposed to a cold, symptoms develop so soon the body does not have a chance to develop protective antibodies, even though a vaccinne has been used.

But they say I'm against the dish because it has a German name. Will you please express your opinion? (I hope you are not a sauerbraten fan).

REPLY

Heavy, rich foods usually aggravate gall bladder disease but, to my knowledge, do not cause it.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A woe-begone fellow told an analyst, "My sense of humor has destroyed my happy home. My wife is walking out on me because she says she can't stand listening to me tell my funny stories any longer."

"A sad case," mused the analyst. "Tell me a few of your funny stories." The patient reeled off three or four, leaving the analyst prostrate on the floor with laughter. Finally he staggered to the outer office, and said, "If I laugh any more, I'll split my sides."

"Why don't you stay inside with your patient and laugh with him?" asked the nurse.

"Are you crazy, too?" demanded the analyst. "I'm trying to cure him!"

"We're down to our last $20 bill," wailed a famous burglar's wife. "You'll have to produce some money fast." "All right, all right," grumbled the husband, "but you'll have to wait till the bank closes."

An Atomic Dumping Ground Still Needed

For centuries the sea has been a convenient dumping place for refuse. At the end of two world wars time-expired ammunition was sunk in a deep valley in the Atlantic, there to waste away its potential wrath without harming anyone.

In recent years, since radioactive waste has become, as it were, an industrial by-product, its harmless disposal has become a problem. Thoughts have turned naturally to the sea as a suitable atomic dumping where, perhaps in toughened steel chests, impervious to salt water, the dangerous stuff might be harmless for many generations to come, probably for near-eternity.

There are 19 deep undersea chasms on the earth's surface and scientists, at least in the West, have believed that at such great depths the water remains static for centuries. Now a Russian oceanographer has challenged the assumption.

Investigation of 12 of these chasms, the Soviet scientist says, reveals that the water in them mixes quite rapidly and atomic wastes would soon be absorbed by vegetable matter, fish and then, presumably, humanity.

American scientists have disputed these findings.

There seems to be no reason why the truth should not be impartially discovered. As the world advances into the atomic age the quantity of poisonous waste material will be enormous and the problem of its disposal correspondingly great.

There must be limits to the amount of rubbish that can be packed, even in expensive containers.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Creative Approach

Dr. Richard C. Rodgers, chairman of the Palma Ceia Methodist Peace Commission, sent me a telegram from Tampa, Florida, starting with the sentence:

"Please devote all your energy to avert catastrophe that could develop from Far-Eastern crisis."

That telegram should have been sent to somebody in the 1920s, when the United States and Great Britain pursued a violently anti-Japanese policy in the Far East and paved the way for Soviet Russia eventually to conquer China. That was one of the really great catastrophes in history. The anti-Japanese boycott in China in 1919, which was a result of the Students Strike and which led to the founding of the Chinese Communist Party, was hailed in the Western world as a great event. But the historical result in 1958 is the Formosan situation which is now faced by the Western world.

All of mankind dislikes war but some peoples are more cowardly than others. In China, where human life is cheap, feudal and civil wars are continuous and banditry is a normal condition. Banditry, in fact, is a usual product of surplus population in villages where the additional males, who cannot find agricultural work, have no way of earning a living except by banditry. Thus private armies came into existence. Chiang Kai-shek spent from 1927 to 1948 trying to rid China of these private armies, the existence of which General George Marshall could never understand because these are not normal in Western countries. In fact, General Marshall and his advisers understood China too little to be of any value to the United States.

The Chinese Communists have to a degree solved the problem of the private armies by two methods: 1. The swift and efficient method of killing large numbers of persons but not enough quite to solve the problem of surplus population; 2. By industrialization which can absorb surplus population in mills, factories, mines, etc., but which involves the proletarization of a rural population which takes time. There might have been a third method, namely the migration of vast hordes to Europe. This is yet to come.

The point that must be emphasized to Dr. Rodgers and others who believe that the China problem can be solved by some United Nations gimmick is that it has been a long one in the making, contains many social and economic complexities and will not be solved readily. It may produce many wars, the most serious one, a century or so from now, when China seeks to conquer Europe and establish a universal Chinese civilization.

If Red China is permitted to take Quemoy and Matsu, which are unimportant islands off the Fukien coast, what is to prevent Red China from taking Formosa and the Philippines? Nothing, except the military might and power and willingness to fight of the United States. Dr. Rodgers, in his telegram to me, says:

". . . Even irresponsible nations should be in U.N. and experience world moral pressure . . ."

Precisely in what way has world moral pressure influenced Soviet Russia or Nasser in their programs of establishing universal states? In what manner has world moral pressure asserted itself except to weaken the United States and to strengthen its enemies? Dr. Rodgers wants a "more creative" approach to China policies to prevent war. All right! Let him suggest the "more creative" approach which will not turn over to Red China Formosa, the Philippines, Malaya and Burma, the Pescadores, Nepal and Assam. It would be interesting to read such a program and to see precisely how it fits the realities of the Far Eastern situation.

I have devoted 40 years of my life to the problems of China. For nearly 14 of those 40 years, I lived in China with visits to Japan and Siberia. I lived one year in Russia during the beginning of the Revolution. I have travelled widely and knew most of the important men of my generation.

I have no "realistic" or "creative" program to offer. The course of events is shaped by millions of tiny factors which merge and combine and concatenate producing a sharp, focused picture at a given moment. That we have today when Mao Tze-tung, the quiet, introvertish student of philosophy in Peking University during the 1919 Students Strike, is seeking to establish a world state in the Far East with himself at the head.

Another Convoy Trying To Get Through

Three Questions On The Fate Of Formosa

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEI, Formosa

If one knew the answers to three questions, it would be easy to predict the future development of this baffling, immensely dangerous offshore islands crisis.

Question number one is whether the Chinese Communist representatives at Warsaw will agree to an informal cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. The American policy-makers faintly, palely hope for ceasefire at Warsaw. If the hope is realized, the artillery blockade of Quemoy will be automatically lifted; and the immediate problem will be solved.

The crisis will then subside into another interminable, probably fruitless round of ambassadorial talks, as happened in 1955. But the Chinese Communists could have got this much without creating the crisis. Hence the odds against Warsaw-arranged cease-fire would seem to be pretty heavy.

Question number two is how much longer the American government can persuade Chiang Kai Shek to hold his hand. Yesterday, the President-Generalissimo indicated to this reporter that the effort to supply Quemoy by convoy over open beaches under heavy fire was a very poor stopgap at best — which is a charitable judgment. Chiang further revealed his determination to strike rather soon at the heart of the trouble, by sending his crack air squadrons against the Communist gun positions and lines of communications.

Chiang has not yet ordered air attacks on mainland targets, solely because of American pleas to wait and see whether the Warsaw talks would produce a ceasefire. If a cease-fire is not soon produced, Chiang will be very hard to hold any longer. And if his air squadrons begin to operate over the mainland, the fat will be in the fire whether the American Government likes it or not.

As for question number three, it is whether the American policy-makers will come round to Chiang Kai shek's view of the problem if their Warsaw hopes are disappointed. Another way of phrasing the question is to ask whether President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles really meant anything, by all their big bold talk about defending the Matsus and Quemoy against Communist aggression.

The present orders of the American command out here are to try all imaginable devices, and to use all possible resources, to supply blockaded Quemoy without getting into a fight. By a costly combination of air and sea supply, it is theoretically possible to get enough tonnage into Quemoy to feed the garrison and civilian population, even with the beaches and landing strips under heavy fire. Each landing of supplies will involve some casualties for the Chinese who do the nasty part of the job; but in theory, the job can be done in this manner.

Yet this will most emphatically not "defend Quemoy," as the American government has promised to do. The offshore islands positions are difficult enough already. If every ounce of supplies has to be landed under fire which can never be returned, the Quemoy position will become absolutely untenable for the long run. Already, the Nationalist guns on Quemoy cannot be used for serious counter-battery fire, because the garrison commander has no prospect of replenishing his stocks of ammunition.

In short, the offshore islands are not Berlin. It may put off the evil day of final choice, but it will not solve the problem to push a trickle of supplies through the Communist artillery blockade of Quemoy. No one in his senses can suppose that such a position can be indefinitely held in such a manner, without a military or political or psychological crackup somewhere. The attempt, if prolonged, will be nothing more or less than an invitation to a crackup; and there are plenty of signs here in Taiwan that a crackup will result.

In other words, if the President and Secretary Dulles really mean what they have said, the only way to defend Quemoy is in the classical manner, by meeting force with force. If the firm intention to do this is revealed — by turning loose the Chinese Nationalist pilots to attack mainland targets, for instance — there will then be some chance that the Chinese Communists will agree to a cease-fire.

If Peking will not agree to a cease-fire after the U. S. has manifested a firm intention to meet force with force, then it will be abundantly clear that Peking is ready to run all risks in order to gain a smashing victory here. Furthermore, if the American government is not willing to meet force with force, the Chinese Communists will quite surely gain their victory in the end. In this event, the impact of the victory, so well forecast by both the President and Secretary Dulles have sworn to prevent such a victory.

It looks well, of course, to be patient and meek and eager to negotiate. But readiness to meet force with force is the only card the United States can play to bring the Chinese Communists to reason. Patience and meekness no doubt make a good impression in London but they are bound to confirm Peking's conviction that the American government is a paper tiger. And if we are not ready to use force as a last resort, the President and Secretary of State ought never to have talked so big and bold.

Nautilus Proved Ability To 'Sink' Whole British Fleet In War Games

By Jack Anderson

(Drew Pearson is on a work-and-play vacation. Today's column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—The astounding story can now be told of how the atomic submarinne Nautilus theoretically sank almost the entire British Navy during naval maneuvers a year ago.

The British borrowed the history-making sub for their own maneuvers following "Operation Strike Back," NATO naval exercise in the North Atlantic last September.

The obliging Nautilus simply pulled up under a British aircraft carrier and hung about 20 feet beneath it like a sucker fish. From this hiding place, it launched simulated torpedo attacks against the surrounding ships.

Official reports show that the Nautilus theoretically sank the whole giant task force three times. It took the British two days to locate the Nautilus, whose noise was drowned out by the carrier above it. Even after the atomic prowler was discovered, the surface ships couldn't sink it without also destroying their own great carrier.

Yet despite the Nautilus' spectacular performance both in maneuvers and under the Arctic ice, President Eisenhower has ordered cutbacks in atomic submarine construction.

Red Plot In South

Behind the racial strife in the south, FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover has detected the hidden hand of the Communist Party.

He has reported to President Eisenhower that Communists have been migrating from New England to the southern states—chiefly Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia and Mississippi—to organize the transplanted textile industry and to stir up tension between whites and blacks.

Hoover claimed that Red agents are trying to infiltrate both the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the pro-segregation White Citizens Councils. He stressed, however, that these organizations have not been taken over.

Communist strategy, said Hoover, is to inflame both sides in the racial issue. The objective is to undermine democracy by breeding hatred, suspicion, and violence.

Strange Romance

The truth can now be told how blubbery Barney Baker, the head-knocking Teamsters hoodlum, met and married glamorous Carole Ann More, refined daughter of Iowa politician Jake More.

The pair were not introduced by New York's Gov. Averell Harriman as Republicans have charged. Baker and More happened to occupy neighboring suites at the 1956 Democratic convention in Chicago. One evening, Baker dropped over to borrow a bottle of liquor. It was More himself who introduced the 300-pound tough to his daughter.

After Baker started sweeping her off her feet by taking her on a Chicago whirl, More tried to break up the romance. He got her a job in Washington with Tennessee's racket-busting Sen. Estes Kefauver, who gave her a fatherly talk. Finally the Senator told Carole Ann kindly that she would have to give up her hoodlum lover or her Senate job.

She chose her fat boy friend.

W. T. writes: What is the best thing to do for swimming cramps?

REPLY

Knead or stretch the tightened muscle. If the calf of the leg is involved, for example, bend the knee, grab the foot, and pull it up to stretch the tendon Achilles. The next step is to get out of the water or hang onto a boat or other object in the vicinity until the cramp disappears.

POLIO VACCINE

L. writes: Why do you say that a poor polio vaccinne is better than none?

REPLY

Because it brings into play a phenomenon known as immunological hyper-reactivity. The incupation period in polio is long, compared with the common cold. The injection—even though weak—may act like a booster dose and send the protective antibody concentration sky high before the disease has a chance to develop. In this respect, the little protection aids in preventing or ameliorating paralysis. This may explain why diseases with long incubation periods usually are followed by immunity. In contrast, when a person is exposed to a cold, symptoms develop so soon the body does not have a chance to develop protective antibodies, even though a vaccinne has been used.

SAUERBRATEN SQUABBLE

T. R. writes. My wife's family is of German extraction and my ancestors were Irish. They eat sauerbraten with dumplings and rich gravy and I blame this concoction for their gall bladder trouble. But they say I'm against the dish because it has a German name. Will you please express your opinion? (I hope you are not a sauerbraten fan).

REPLY

Heavy, rich foods usually aggravate gall bladder disease but, to my knowledge, do not cause it.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A woe-begone fellow told an analyst, "My sense of humor has destroyed my happy home. My wife is walking out on me because she says she can't stand listening to me tell my funny stories any longer."

"A sad case," mused the analyst. "Tell me a few of your funny stories." The patient reeled off three or four, leaving the analyst prostrate on the floor with laughter. Finally he staggered to the outer office, and said, "If I laugh any more, I'll split my sides."

"Why don't you stay inside with your patient and laugh with him?" asked the nurse.

"Are you crazy, too?" demanded the analyst. "I'm trying to cure him!"

"We're down to our last $20 bill," wailed a famous burglar's wife. "You'll have to produce some money fast." "All right, all right," grumbled the husband, "but you'll have to wait till the bank closes."

Greyhound Bus Employes Return To Work As Talks On Differences Resume

CHARLESTON, W. Va. UPI — Agreement was reached Thursday whereby 1,000 striking Atlantic Greyhound employes would return to work while their dispute with the company was being negotiated.

The two-day strike had halted Greyhound service in all or parts of 10 states, from Pittsburgh to Jacksonville, Fla.

James Kay Thomas, general counsel for Atlantic Greyhound, said following a conference with two officials of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electrical Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America that "differences between the parties" will be ironed out at later meetings under terms of the contract.

Meetings Soon

Meetings to discuss employes' grievances will be held in "the near future," Thomas said.

The bus company had petitioned U. S. District Court here for a temporary injunction to force the strikers to return to work, citing a "no-strike" clause in the contract with the union.

A hearing was expected to be held Thursday morning here before Federal Judge Ben Moore. However, Moore did not appear. In reply to a telephoned query, he said he had not received formal notice of the petition and had not set a hearing time. Attorneys for both sides were present in anticipation of a 10 a. m. hearing.

The strike started Tuesday morning at Portsmouth, Ohio, after the union said a terminal employe was suspended for refusing to do work formerly assigned to a dispatcher whose job was eliminated. The union said this was the climax of "a long series of contract violations by the company."

Agreement Swift

After the injunction hearing was delayed, representatives of the company and the union got together for the first time. After about an hour, an agreement was announced whereby personnel would return to work starting at 4 p. m. e. s. t.

Greyhound said its long - haul runs were expected to be back in normal operation by late Thursday night.

There had been reports the strike might spread to the 4,000 employes of Southeastern Greyhound, encompassing about 10 other states. Atlantic operates in West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, the Carolinas, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Greyhound Bus Employes Return To Work As Talks On Differences Resume

CHARLESTON, W. Va. UPI — Agreement was reached Thursday whereby 1,000 striking Atlantic Greyhound employes would return to work while their dispute with the company was being negotiated.

The two-day strike had halted Greyhound service in all or parts of 10 states, from Pittsburgh to Jacksonville, Fla.

James Kay Thomas, general counsel for Atlantic Greyhound, said following a conference with two officials of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electrical Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America that "differences between the parties" will be ironed out at later meetings under terms of the contract.

Meetings Soon

Meetings to discuss employes' grievances will be held in "the near future," Thomas said.

The bus company had petitioned U. S. District Court here for a temporary injunction to force the strikers to return to work, citing a "no-strike" clause in the contract with the union.

A hearing was expected to be held Thursday morning here before Federal Judge Ben Moore. However, Moore did not appear. In reply to a telephoned query, he said he had not received formal notice of the petition and had not set a hearing time. Attorneys for both sides were present in anticipation of a 10 a. m. hearing.

The strike started Tuesday morning at Portsmouth, Ohio, after the union said a terminal employe was suspended for refusing to do work formerly assigned to a dispatcher whose job was eliminated. The union said this was the climax of "a long series of contract violations by the company."

Agreement Swift

After the injunction hearing was delayed, representatives of the company and the union got together for the first time. After about an hour, an agreement was announced whereby personnel would return to work starting at 4 p. m. e. s. t.

Greyhound said its long - haul runs were expected to be back in normal operation by late Thursday night.

There had been reports the strike might spread to the 4,000 employes of Southeastern Greyhound, encompassing about 10 other states. Atlantic operates in West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, the Carolinas, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Bids Requested On Big Dam In Keyser Area

Allow 322 Days For Construction

KEYSER — The Soil Conservation Service announces the construction of the fourth of 11 watershed retarding dams in the New Creek Watershed. Invitations to bid have been mailed out to over 100 contractors in the tri-state area.

The dam site is located on the property of Potomac State College in Hoover's Hollow, just above the City of Keyser. During the past 50 years flood damages to Keyser and B&O Railroad property have averaged approximately $9,000 annually. Construction of this dam will practically eliminate all flood damages from this 900-acre watershed.

SCS officials report that the dam is by far the largest of any of the 25 watershed retarding dams built to date in West Virginia. It's approximate height will be 79 feet with over 310,000 cubic yards of earth filling the dam. This is about twice the amount of fill-in all three dams constructed to date on the farms of John Arnold, Dana G. Lough and William I. McDonald.

Sealed bids will be received until 2 p. m. (EST) October 3 at the state office of the Soil Conservation Service, 187 Forest Avenue, Morgantown. The bids will be publicly opened and read.

The contract will be awarded for 337 calendar days for the construction of this dam. Inspection of the site may be made by contacting Richard A. Fleek, SCS, City Building, Keyser.

Complete information regarding the invitation to bid, instructions, detailed specifications and plans may be had by applying to Harry D. McVey, State Administrative Officer, Soil Conservation Service, 178 Forest Avenue, Morgantown.

There will be a showing of the site to interested bidders September 23. Bidders interested in attending this showing should meet at 10 a. m. (EST) at the SCS office in the City Building, Keyser. Engineers will be there to answer questions.

The following were named to the telephone committee: Mrs. Herman Davis, Mrs. M. E. Minnich, Mrs. Edward Fromhart, Mrs. Catherine Martini and Mrs. Phyllis McNeill.

Mineral School Board Adopts Time Schedule

KEYSER—The Mineral County Board of Education met Tuesday to determine the time on which schools in the county system will operate.

The problem has been a "headache" since the policy of extending Daylight Saving Time was adopted several years ago.

The board reached a solution by permitting schools to remain on the "fast time" in communities where that policy has been adopted. Schools in that category are at Piedmont, Fort Ashby, Short Gap, Patterson Creek, Beryl, Ridgeley and Wiley Ford.

These schools will resume operating on Eastern Standard Time the last Sunday in October.

Scheduled to revert to Eastern Standard Time Monday, September 29, are Keyser, Beryl, Antioch, Fountain, New Creek, Cross, Elk Garden and Limestone.

A meeting of the Mayor and Council was held yesterday when action was taken to have Keyser return to Eastern Standard Time at the end of this month.

Council previously had adopted a resolution on extending Daylight Saving Time, but so many complaints were received that a new resolution was adopted.

Park Nears Completion

MOOREFIELD — The Moorefield Roadside Park, sponsored by the Moorefield Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, is entering into the final stages of construction. Elvin C. Riggleman leveled the plot with the earth removed for the pond and the drainage ditch has been completed.

M. W. Bean donated half the three tons of lime and spread the fertilizer and the FFA purchased the other half of the lime. Baker's Feed and Farm Supply, the Hardy County Cooperative and Reynolds Feed and Grain furnished a half ton of fertilizer and the fescue and white clover grass seed. The entire tract has been disked and will be seeded shortly with a cultipacker.

Chester B. Hiett, FFA advisor, said that rain spoiled hay for mulch has been donated along with poultry manure for additional fertilizer.

T. D. Gray, garden expert with West Virginia University is drawing up plans for landscaping the town park. Hiett said arrangements had been made with Roy Hamilton of the Soil Conservation Service for fish for the pond and that multiflora rose bushes would be planted all around the perimeter of the park. Fireplaces and tables will be installed next spring and the park will be ready for use next summer.

AUXILIARY PRESIDENT — Mrs. J. Russell Umstead of Huntington is the new president of the West Virginia American Legion Auxiliary. She was elected at the Legion's convention held in Bluefield.

Soil District Wins Award

ROMNEY—The Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District office here has been awarded second place in the state in the national Soil Conservation contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron.

Calvin P. Dayton, RD 1, Ridgeley, represented the district due to his selection as the outstanding farmer cooperator for the period May 1, 1957 to April 30, 1958.

Fourteen Soil Conservation districts in West Virginia compete in the annual program, and the judging is done in the categories of organization, education, planning, promotion and accomplishment in the field of soil and water conservation.

Midland Council Plans Street, Sewer Repairs

Town Improvement Program Progresses

MIDLAND — At the regular monthly meeting of the mayor and city council, it was decided to make extensive repairs to the main sewer line, and to repair several of the streets. Mayor Lionel D. Baker stated the work would be the third project for this year.

Cemetery Street from Paradise Street will be black-topped. The parking lot will be covered with crushed rock and graded. All sewers will be cleaned out, and necessary repairs made. Bids will be received in the near future for the black-topping of Cemetery Street.

Mayor Baker explained that the garbage collection program was the first major project; the new street lighting system was the second project and the black-topping of Cemetery Street and repairs to the new parking lot and other streets comprise the third project.

Mayor Baker thanked the council for their work and cooperation. Alex Rennie and Donald Cook, road commissioners were instructed to contact the Lonaconing Water Company and the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, and have them make repairs to the streets that have holes in them, caused by repairs on gas and water lines.

Tax Collector, Hazel Taylor gave a report on the amount of taxes collected up to September 1. The town charter provides a five per cent discount on taxes paid before September 30, 1958, she noted.

Bids Requested On Big Dam In Keyser Area

Allow 322 Days For Construction

KEYSER — The Soil Conservation Service announces the construction of the fourth of 11 watershed retarding dams in the New Creek Watershed. Invitations to bid have been mailed out to over 100 contractors in the tri-state area.

The dam site is located on the property of Potomac State College in Hoover's Hollow, just above the City of Keyser. During the past 50 years flood damages to Keyser and B&O Railroad property have averaged approximately $9,000 annually. Construction of this dam will practically eliminate all flood damages from this 900-acre watershed.

SCS officials report that the dam is by far the largest of any of the 25 watershed retarding dams built to date in West Virginia. It's approximate height will be 79 feet with over 310,000 cubic yards of earth filling the dam. This is about twice the amount of fill-in all three dams constructed to date on the farms of John Arnold, Dana G. Lough and William I. McDonald.

Sealed bids will be received until 2 p. m. (EST) October 3 at the state office of the Soil Conservation Service, 187 Forest Avenue, Morgantown. The bids will be publicly opened and read.

The contract will be awarded for 337 calendar days for the construction of this dam. Inspection of the site may be made by contacting Richard A. Fleek, SCS, City Building, Keyser.

Complete information regarding the invitation to bid, instructions, detailed specifications and plans may be had by applying to Harry D. McVey, State Administrative Officer, Soil Conservation Service, 178 Forest Avenue, Morgantown.

There will be a showing of the site to interested bidders September 23. Bidders interested in attending this showing should meet at 10 a. m. (EST) at the SCS office in the City Building, Keyser. Engineers will be there to answer questions.

Mineral School Board Adopts Time Schedule

KEYSER—The Mineral County Board of Education met Tuesday to determine the time on which schools in the county system will operate.

The problem has been a "headache" since the policy of extending Daylight Saving Time was adopted several years ago.

The board reached a solution by permitting schools to remain on the "fast time" in communities where that policy has been adopted. Schools in that category are at Piedmont, Fort Ashby, Short Gap, Patterson Creek, Beryl, Ridgeley and Wiley Ford.

These schools will resume operating on Eastern Standard Time the last Sunday in October.

Scheduled to revert to Eastern Standard Time Monday, September 29, are Keyser, Beryl, Antioch, Fountain, New Creek, Cross, Elk Garden and Limestone.

A meeting of the Mayor and Council was held yesterday when action was taken to have Keyser return to Eastern Standard Time at the end of this month.

Council previously had adopted a resolution on extending Daylight Saving Time, but so many complaints were received that a new resolution was adopted.

Park Nears Completion

MOOREFIELD — The Moorefield Roadside Park, sponsored by the Moorefield Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, is entering into the final stages of construction. Elvin C. Riggleman leveled the plot with the earth removed for the pond and the drainage ditch has been completed.

M. W. Bean donated half the three tons of lime and spread the fertilizer and the FFA purchased the other half of the lime. Baker's Feed and Farm Supply, the Hardy County Cooperative and Reynolds Feed and Grain furnished a half ton of fertilizer and the fescue and white clover grass seed. The entire tract has been disked and will be seeded shortly with a cultipacker.

Chester B. Hiett, FFA advisor, said that rain spoiled hay for mulch has been donated along with poultry manure for additional fertilizer.

T. D. Gray, garden expert with West Virginia University is drawing up plans for landscaping the town park. Hiett said arrangements had been made with Roy Hamilton of the Soil Conservation Service for fish for the pond and that multiflora rose bushes would be planted all around the perimeter of the park. Fireplaces and tables will be installed next spring and the park will be ready for use next summer.

AUXILIARY PRESIDENT — Mrs. J. Russell Umstead of Huntington is the new president of the West Virginia American Legion Auxiliary. She was elected at the Legion's convention held in Bluefield.

Soil District Wins Award

ROMNEY—The Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District office here has been awarded second place in the state in the national Soil Conservation contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron.

Calvin P. Dayton, RD 1, Ridgeley, represented the district due to his selection as the outstanding farmer cooperator for the period May 1, 1957 to April 30, 1958.

Fourteen Soil Conservation districts in West Virginia compete in the annual program, and the judging is done in the categories of organization, education, planning, promotion and accomplishment in the field of soil and water conservation.

Midland Council Plans Street, Sewer Repairs

Town Improvement Program Progresses

MIDLAND — At the regular monthly meeting of the mayor and city council, it was decided to make extensive repairs to the main sewer line, and to repair several of the streets. Mayor Lionel D. Baker stated the work would be the third project for this year.

Cemetery Street from Paradise Street will be black-topped. The parking lot will be covered with crushed rock and graded. All sewers will be cleaned out, and necessary repairs made. Bids will be received in the near future for the black-topping of Cemetery Street.

Mayor Baker explained that the garbage collection program was the first major project; the new street lighting system was the second project and the black-topping of Cemetery Street and repairs to the new parking lot and other streets comprise the third project.

Mayor Baker thanked the council for their work and cooperation. Alex Rennie and Donald Cook, road commissioners were instructed to contact the Lonaconing Water Company and the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, and have them make repairs to the streets that have holes in them, caused by repairs on gas and water lines.

Tax Collector, Hazel Taylor gave a report on the amount of taxes collected up to September 1. The town charter provides a five per cent discount on taxes paid before September 30, 1958, she noted.

Cereal Cookies, Nut Bread Served With Cool Drinks

Hostesses can relax when unexpected company drops by if they have a supply of Cereal Cookies and Apricot Bran Nut Bread to serve with cool drinks.

The tart flavor of dried apricots combined with the nut-like flavor of whole bran cereal blend to make a delicious quick bread that not only tastes good but is full of good nutrition.

Breakfast cereals add a plus value to recipes. In addition to increasing the protein content, they contribute B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy.

Apricot Bran Nut Bread keeps moist and fresh if wrapped in a moisture-proof covering and stored in the refrigerator. This bread is useful around the clock. Serve it toasted for breakfast, make it into sandwiches for lunch, or have it available for nutritious snacks.

NUT BREAD

- 1 cup chopped dried apricots
- 1 cup whole bran cereal
- 1 cup sour milk
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Combine apricots, whole bran cereal, and sour milk; let stand 10 minutes. Cream together sugar and butter or margarine. Add egg and combine well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, and salt. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the whole bran mixture. Mix well. Fold in the nuts. Put in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour. Yield: 1 loaf.

The trick to having cookies crisp and fresh during the summer months is ta bake them on a cool, clear day with low humidity. Be sure to store them in airtight containers that seal out moisture. A freezer provides excellent storage, but these cookies keep fresh at room temperature if properly stored.

Oatmeal, brown sugar, and butter or margarine give these cookies a rich flavor with a shortbread texture. An unusual feature is the use of ready-to-eat cereals for a contrasting edge.

OATMEAL SHORTS

- ½ cup butter or magarine
- ½ cup fat
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ cups rolled oats, quick or regular
- ¾ cup crushed pre-sweetened fruit flavor cereal, oven-toasted rice cereal, corn flakes, or whole wheat flakes

Blend together butter or margarine and fat, salt, vanilla, and sugar. Stir in flour and rolled oats. Divide mixture in half. Shape each portion into a roll 2 inches in diameter and roll each generously in crushed cereal. Wrap rolls in waxed paper and chill 4-5 hours. Slice ¼ inch thick and arrange slices 2 inches apart on ungreased cooky sheet. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) until done, about 25 minutes. Remove cookies from pan and cool on rack. Yield: About 50 2-inch cookies.

CEREAL COOKIES

- ⅓ cup fat
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons orange juice

Stir in orange rind and oven-toasted rice cereal. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto well-greased cooky sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: About 36 cookies 2 inches in diameter.

Give Potato Soup A Gourmet's Touch

A pleasant addition to potato soup is a dash of sherry . . . and it's done like this: Combine 1 can (10¼ ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup with 1 soup can water. Heat following label directions. Stir in 1 tablespoon sherry just before serving. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Cook It In A Skillet

Miss your bus from town? You know there'll be hungry ones to feed when you reach home! For a hurry-up, but hearty supper, try this skillet dish: Cook 1 cup chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until lightly browned. Stir in contents of 2 cans (5 ounces each) boned chicken or turkey, 1 cup sour cream, 2 teaspoons paprika, and ½ teaspoon salt. Heat; stir often. Serve over hot cooked noodles. Makes 4 generous servings.

Start Day With Good Breakfast

To start a day without a wholesome breakfast, one sufficiently supplied with high protein foods, is like setting out on an auto trip without gasoline.

Breakfast, being the first meal of the day, gets us off to a good start. The lack of a hearty breakfast, high in protein, brings on that potential deterrent of morning accomplishments . . . mid-morning lag. A high protein breakfast also helps to keep our bodies in tone and for youngsters, protein is vital for needed growth and development. Meats like bacon and sausage links are commonly accepted as breakfast entrees, but . . . next time you're hunting for an unusual way to serve this first meal, turn to this recipe . . . Bologna Cups With Scrambled Eggs. Meat is one of the best contributors of high quality protein.

Bologna Cups With Scrambled Eggs

- 12 slices of large bologna, cut about ⅛ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 6 to 8 eggs, slightly beaten
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown 6 bologna slices in frying-pan in lard or drippings. As meat heats, it will curl to form inverted cups. Remove from pan. Chop remaining 6 bologna slices. Combine chopped meat, eggs, milk and pepper. Pour into frying-pan and cook slowly until set, stirring occasionally. Fill bologna cups with egg mixture. Yield: 6 servings.

Colorful Grapes To Preserve And Serve

The rich jewel-like tones of grape clusters add glamour to a fruit display anywhere. Autumn's horn of plenty, symbolizing the harvest, wouldn't be complete without colorful bunches of grapes. The wise homemaker will glamorize her fall menus with the color and flavor of grapes.

A few of the most abundant varieties in our markets during the fall months are:

Tokay — large, glowing red and sweet. It has seeds, a firm flesh and keeps well.

Ribier — big, black and full of juice — stunning in any fruit bowl arangement. It is normally seeded, has a thick rather tough skin with excellent keeping qualities.

Emperor — large, purple berry with seeds. It is the leading table grape.

Concord — blue-black and juicy with a good flavor. Concords are the ones grown locally and are a favorite for juice and jelly.

Regardless of the variety, look for grapes that are plump, fresh looking, bright of color, in well-formed bunches, and are mature berries firmly attached to the stem.

Grapes are a fragile, highly perishable food. Buy them in small quantities and use them within a day or two. Store them in the refrigerator.

To prepare grapes for table use wash in a colander or hold the cluster directly under running water. Turn and shift so that each grape is washed. Pick off any that are overripe or imperfect.

Grapes combine well with almost any fruit — orange sections, unpeeled apple slices, fresh pears, pineapple wedges. Combine them with diced apples or pears and diced ham, cheese or shrimp for a delightfully different salad. For a refreshing dessert, top assorted fruits and grapes with tangy orange, lemon or lime sherbert or ice.

Grape jelly is delicious on breakfast toast as well as an accompaniment and garnish with roast beef. Here is a recipe for grape jelly. For other jelly and jam recipes call your county home demonstration agent for the USDA Home and Garden Bulletin 56 — "How to Make Jellies, Jams and Preserves at Home."

Grape Jelly

- 4 cups grape juice (takes about 3½ pounds Concord grapes and ½ cup water)
- 3 cups sugar

Select about one-fourth underripe and three-fourth fully ripe grapes. Sort, wash and remove grapes from stems. Crush grapes, add water, cover and bring to boil on high heat. Reduce heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Extract juice by putting fruit into a damp jelly bag. The clearest jelly comes from fruit that has dripped through a jelly bag without pressing. But a greater yield of juice can be obtained by twisting the bag tightly and squeezing or pressing. Pressed juice should be re-strained through a double thickness of cheesecloth or a damp jelly bag. The cloth or bag should not be squeezed.

Measure juice into a kettle. Add sugar and stir well. Boil over high heat until jelly mixture "sheets" from a spoon.

Remove from heat, skim off foam quickly. Pour jelly into hot containers and seal. Makes about five six-ounce glasses.

The original Loving Cup was a banquet drink, introduced in medieval England. Traditionally it was made with sherry from Spain, ale and spices. The huge handled silver cup, containing about 2 quarts of wine, was passed from one person to another.

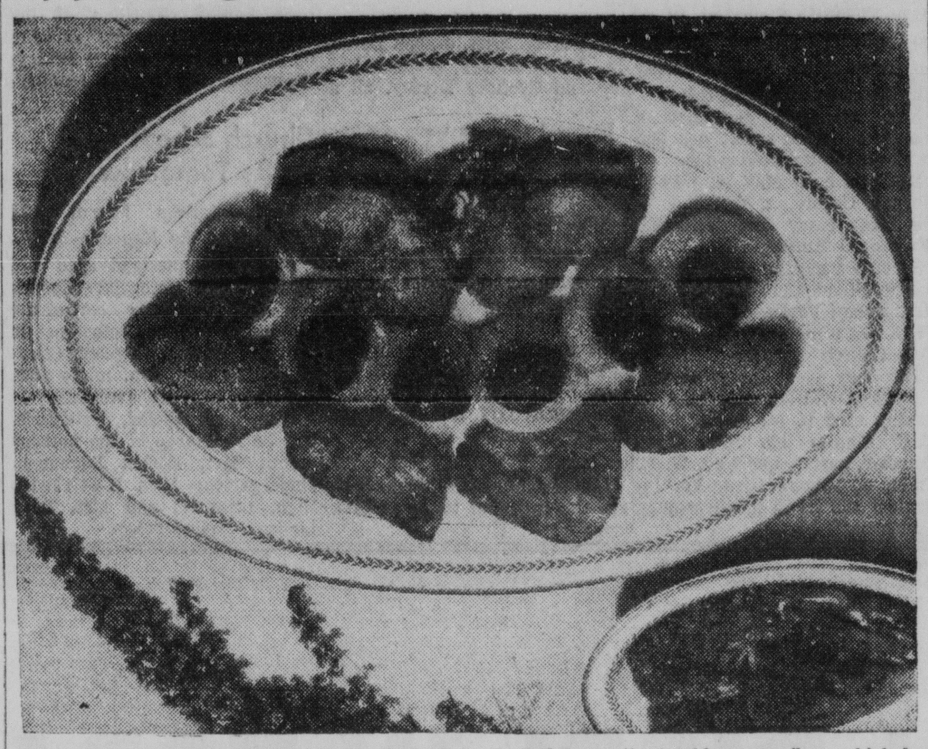
Appealing Veal-Fruit Combo



Have you just one hour in which to prepare dinner?

If this proves to be your situation, here's a recipe for Braised Veal Cutlets that's especially geared to this problem! Not only is it an excellent choice for rushed days, but it's a versatile menu selection you'll enjoy planning for many other meals, also.

Veal is a delicately flavored meat that's compatible and appealing with many foods. Accent it with tart or mild companions, and you'll have an entree that's truly extra-special.

Fruit flavors are excellent with veal, which is at its best when roasted or braised. Try these fruits in piquant sauces or as appetite-appealing garnishes . . . you'll be amazed at the delicious touch they add.

Basic to the preparation of veal cutlets is the method of meat cookery known as braising. Actually, it's quite easy, and the meat takes care of itself during the cooking process. Here's how these Braised Veal Cutlets are prepared.

First, purchase 1 veal round steak cut ½ to ¾ inch thick. When you are ready to prepare the meat, cut the veal into 4 to 6 servings, depending on the size serving desired. Dredge the meat in 3 tablespoons flour which has been seasoned with 1½ teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Brown the meat on all sides in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Now, add ¼ cup of water. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until the meat is tender. During the last 15 minutes of cooking time, add 4 to 6 cooked prunes and 4 to 6 cooked or canned apricot halves to the cooking liquid, and allow to heat with the meat. The liquid may be thickened for gravy if desired. Garnish the veal with the prunes and apricots, and serve with buttered broccoli.

Cranberry Fruit Relish

1 orange, quartered and seeds removed ½ lemon, quartered and seeds removed
1 pound can whole or jellied cranberry sauce
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 teaspoon curry powder

Put orange and lemon through food chopper. Combine with cranberry sauce and crushed pineapple. Stir in curry powder. Chill.

The pink lady's-slipper, largest of the northern orchids, traps the honeybee in its pouch-shaped blossom to aid pollination. Spines comb pollen out of the bee's hair. As the insect struggles to get out, the plant's anthers dust fresh pollen on its back for the use of the next lady's slipper.

Coconut Adds Flavor To Blueberry Shortcakes

Tender-thin flakes of coconut add wonderful flavor to fruit shortcakes. As the fresh fruits come into the market, make the most of this excellent recipe and serve coconut shortcake often. For a special change, melt about two tablespoons butter or margarine and saute the flakes until golden, then use as a garnish for the whipped cream topping. Yummy!

1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening

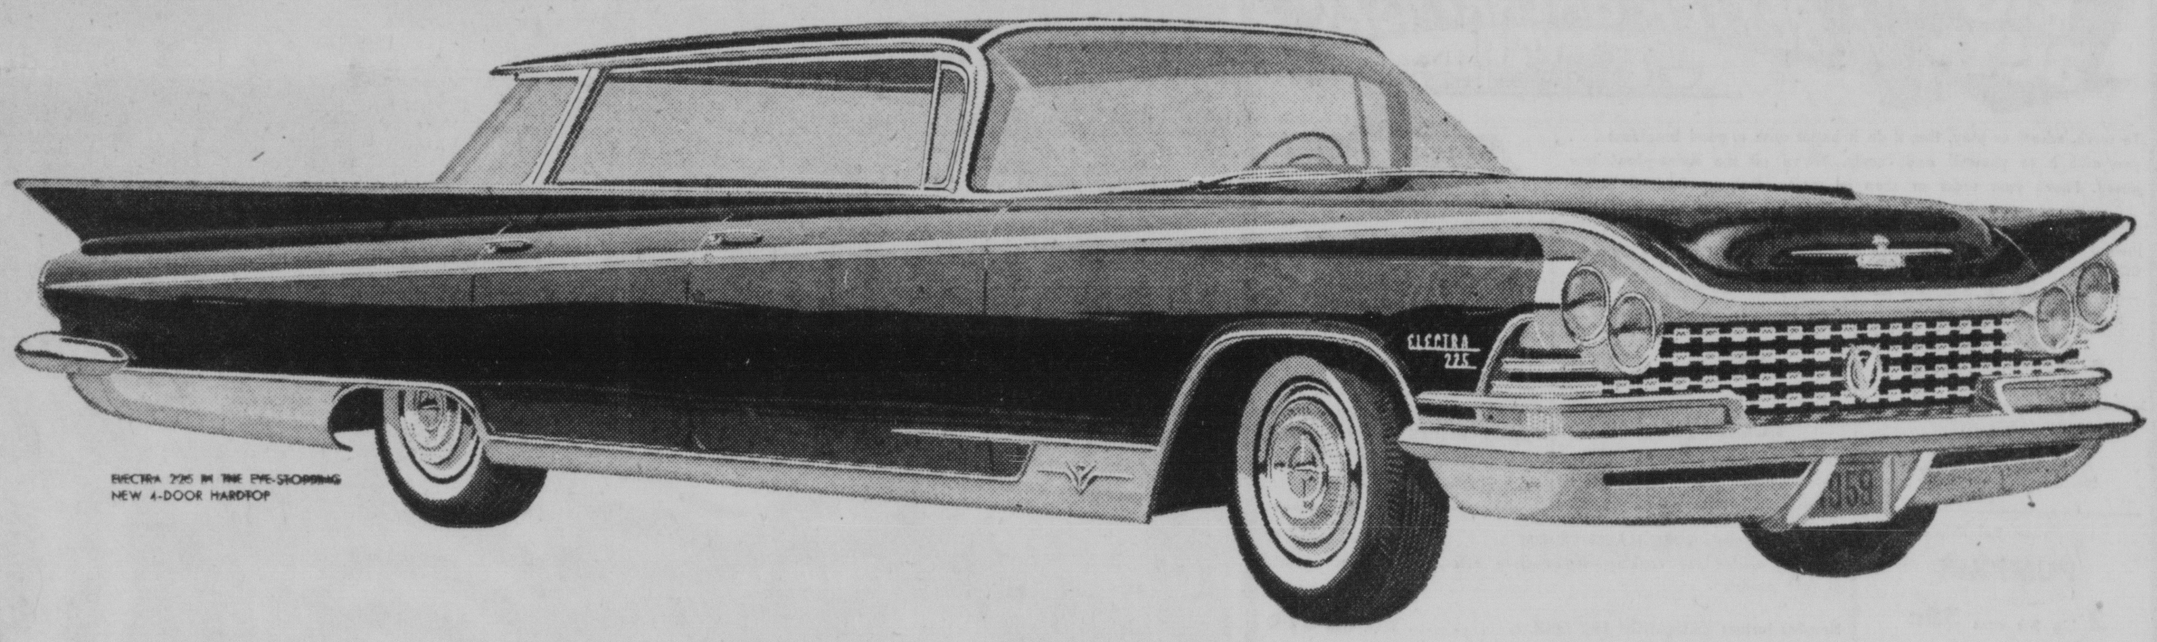
ON DISPLAY TODAY, BUICK '59

THE CAR



Here it is . . . and now you know! Know why we have called this THE CAR. Know that a new generation of great Buicks is truly now here. From just this one view you can see that here is not just new design . . . but splendidly right design for this day and age. A car that is lean and clean and stunningly low . . . and at the same time great in headroom and legroom, easy to get into or out of. And when you see your Buick dealer and walk the whole wonderful way around this Buick, you'll know still more how right all of this is. From anywhere you look, here is a classic modern concept that is Buick speaking a new language of today. A language of fine cars priced within the reach of almost anyone. A language of quality and comfort and quiet pride of ownership . . . a language of performance satisfactions without equal.

B&O Engineer In Retirement

Joseph H. Andrews, 1112 Oldtown Road, who retired this week after 53 years of service with the B&O Railroad, plans to spend much of his leisure time in his garden, which produced good crops this year. Above he shows some prize tomatoes to his wife, the former Myrtle Frances Hott of Petersburg, W. Va., who also worked for the railroad at one time.

Local Railroader Retires After 53 Years' Service

By CHARLES R. KELLY

When Joseph H. Andrews, 1112 Oldtown Road, climbed from the cab of the Diesel locomotive on Passenger Train No. 30 after it pulled into Queen City station Monday, it meant his final run as a B&O engineer and the end of over half a century of service with the railroad.

On March 16, 1905, when he was 17, Mr. Andrews began his railroading career when he reported for work at the car shops in Keyser.

Later that year he went to work at the roundhouse. On February 10, 1906, he began firing steam engines at Piedmont. He was promoted to engineer in November 1910, making his first run up the 17-mile-grade from Keyser toward Grafton.

Mr. Andrews remarked that railroading has "improved greatly" from the time he was at the throttle of "snapper and turtle steam engines" to the present-day Diesels.

Shoveling coal on a steam engine of yesteryear was no easy job, he said, and it kept a fireman on the go. The retiring engineer, who celebrated his 70th birthday on Wednesday, is a native of Barton.

Mr. Andrews, who began as a passenger engineer about 12 years ago, piloted Trains 29 and 12 for about four years between Grafton and Cumberland.

On his final run Monday on No. 30 from Grafton to Cumberland his fireman was Charles Welling, city.

Mr. Andrews met his wife, the former Myrtle Frances Hott of Petersburg, while she was working as a way bill clerk for the B&O in the coal billing office at Keyser.

Their two sons, Carroll and Gordon, now working at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, are former B&O employes. Another son, John, is an inspector for the State Roads Commission.

An only daughter, Dorothy Andrews, is employed at Grant County Memorial Hospital in Petersburg. The couple also has two grandchildren.

A member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Mr. Andrews is also a member of Mt. Carbon Lodge, AF & AM, Piedmont, and of the Methodist Church. He also is a veteran of World War I and a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

Now that he is retired, Mr. Andrews plans to continue traveling, although it will no longer be in the cab of a locomotive. Gardening and fishing will also take up much of his leisure time, he said.

W.Va. Requests Four Million In U.S. Road Funds

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Road Commission said Thursday it has asked the federal government to set up a $4,000,000 revolving fund that would allow the state to be reimbursed immediately for payments to contractors on federal-aid projects.

SRC Comptroller H. L. Browning said the request, authorized by the 1956 Federal Highway Act, has been approved by the Charleston office of the Bureau of Public Roads. Approval also is required by the BPR regional office at Hagerstown, Md., and by BPR Administrator Bertram Tallamy.

Browning said under the present system, contractors are paid in full from SRC cash funds and vouchers are submitted monthly to the BPR for reimbursement, which normally takes 30 to 60 days. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of Interstate projects, and 50 or 60 per cent on others.

"This presents the problem of having large amounts of cash tied up in accounts receivable from the BPR," Browning said.

If the proposed trust fund is set up, contractors could be paid directly from the fund, or the state could pay the contractor and then be reimbursed immediately from the fund — with the federal government replacing the amount paid out as soon as the necessary vouchers are received.

Browning said some $3,000,000 is now tied up in accounts receivable from the BPR, and the amount will rise to as much as $5,000,000 at the peak of the construction season. On the other hand, the SRC's cash balance dropped as low as $500,000 as of last April before receipts began to pick up, he said.

The men fled in a red convertible bearing out-of-state license plates. Police said they believed two other men were waiting in the getaway car outside Tonkien's office.

Road blocks were set up in this area and nearby sections of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Scramble Captures F. O. Eagles Purse At Fairgo

Top Choices Take Beating On 4th Day

Reynolds Ups Wins To Seven; $198,482 Sets High For Meet

Favorites took a beating in seven of the eight contests, the mutuel handle of $198,482 was tops for the four days, Apprentice Lawrence "Larry" Reynolds and the veteran Anthony Russo booted home two winners each and Mrs. T. Tilden Pennick's Scramble, 4-year-old son of Shivaree, captured the feature event yesterday on Fraternal Order of Eagles Day at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

A gathering of 3,797 persons turned out for the fourth day's sport of the Cumberland Fair Association's 12-day meeting and wagered exactly $3,628 more than was handled on the same day last year while the double pool of $22,422 was high for the season.

The day's handle of $198,482 was up 1.8 per cent over the fourth day in 1957 and this year's four - day total of $727,468 topped the total of a year ago by $59,531 or a gain of 8.9 per cent.

Winner Disqualified

The program was marred by a disqualification for the second straight day but this time it affected the winner in the opening number. Jean Ann H., the favorite with Bill Clark aboard, beat Bonny Deb by a head but Jockey Edward McIvor, who rode the second place horse filed an objection against the winner. The stewards disqualified Jean Ann H., for interference on the first turn, dropped the winner into second place and declared Bonny Deb the victor. Later, the stewards announced Jockey Clark's suspension for the last seven days of the meeting after he fulfills riding engagements today.

The lone favorite to finish in front during the afternoon was Scramble, which beat Dix by 1½ lengths in the featured seventh race. Scramble was the second winner saddled by Trainer William D. Thomas and tied him with three others in the trainers' race.

Myers Presents Bond

Herman L. Myers, worthy secretary of the Eagles, presented a United States Savings Bond to Mrs. Pennick after her gelding with Earl Phelps aboard had won the mile and a sixteenth test in 1:52 2/5. The winner returned $6 for $2.

"Larry" Reynolds, the Ohio riding sensation, upped his total wins to seven in four days by scoring with Raymond O. Berkstesser's Zybie ($8.40) in the fourth and William P. Collins' Tarry Not, who returned $6.40 in the final event.

Russo Posts Double

Anthony Russo also posted a "double" by winning with Ruben H. Ellis' Miss Thell ($10) in the second and Satan's Sister, an $11.60 for $2 shot, in the sixth.

Holders of 2-3 combination tickets received a daily double payoff of $23.80 when Bonny Deb ($6.40) and Miss Thell won the first and second races, respectively.

Other winners on Eagles' Day were Mon Amour ($5) with John Sollars up in the third and Corpy ($6) piloted by Gus Pappas in the fifth. Sollars, incidentally, is breathing down Reynolds' back in the jockeys' race with six winners to his credit.

Today K. of C. Day

Today is Knights of Columbus Day and there will be a double feature on the program — The Clarysville Inn (6th) and The Knights of Columbus Purse (7th). Post time for the first race is 2 p. m., EDT.

Jerry Barber Leads Tourney

Shoots Record 63 In Hesperia Open

HESPERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Forty-two-year-old Jerry Barber, who is hardly more than a bag of bones and a hank of hair, took the lead Thursday in the second annual $17,000 Hesperia Open with a record shattering nine under par 63.

The five-foot, five-inch, 140-pound pro from the Wilshire Country Club in Los Angeles bagged seven birdies and an eagle as he holed out putts of 20 feet or better on three greens.

The little pro carded 31-32—63 against par of 36-36—72 to take the first round lead in this 72-hole event away from Dick Mayer, the 1957 National Open champion who had 31-33—64.

Close on the heels of this pair was another former Open champion, Lloyd Mangrum, 44-year-old pro from nearby Apple Valley, who had 33-32—65. Mangrum missed a 20-foot putt on the 18-green by a hair, losing his chance for a tie with Mayer.

Grouped at 67 were: Wesley Ellis, Jr., Ridgewood, N.J.; Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif.; George Bayer, Glen Eagles, Ill.; Fran Stranahan, Paradise, Fla., and Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif.

In the 68 bracket were San Francisco's young Ken Venturi and defending Hesperia champion Billy Maxwell from Odessa, Tex.

Wade, Wright, Godby Win In CCC Tourney

Vernon Wade defeated Maurice Cohn in the third flight, Glenn Wright won over William Wilson in the fourth flight and Braxton Godby downed Richard Kendall in the fifth flight, all matches being won 1 up on the 18th.

First round contests must be completed by Sunday.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

The thirteenth running of the Harry A. Manley Memorial is scheduled for Saturday at Fairgo.

This race was inaugurated as the Manley Handicap in 1936 and was changed to the Manley Memorial in 1942 following the death that year of the general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association.

Mr. Manley served the association for 17 years, first as general manager then as president.

This feature race was the idea of Edward J. Brennan, Cumberland's racing secretary for 21 years. He is now an executive at the Monmouth Park track in New Jersey.

To the winner of the Manley Memorial goes a $1,000 imported silver wine cooler which has been won and held for a period of one year by 22 different owners. The trophy must be won three times for outright possession.

Pooch and Eagle Speed, now at Fairgo, were past winners of the Manley. Owners at the current meeting with one leg on the trophy are Mrs. Bessie L. Warren, T. W. Kirk, Mrs. G. A. Saportas and L. M. Carver.

Past winners:

Jockey William Clark's chances of topping riders at Fairgo for the second straight year and the third time in four years faded yesterday when the New Jersey rider was suspended by the stewards for the remainder of the meeting for causing interference at the first turn in yesterday's opener.

Clark will be permitted to fill his riding engagements today.

Bill has been riding at Fairgo for the ninth straight year and needed 10 winners to hit the 100 mark here. His eight-year record at the local half miler was 90-56-48 and he set an all-time mark in 1955 when he piloted 26 winners.

Since the meeting on Monday he had 17 mounts and no winners but could shake the jinx today. He has ridden four seconds and five thirds in four days.

J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, and Democratic nominee in Maryland's gubernatorial campaign, will be a guest of the Cumberland Fair Association on Saturday.

The $29,833 handled by Robert "Happy" Littleton's crew in the eighth race yesterday was the most wagered in the 32 races on the first four days of the meeting.

LaSalle Holds Keyser To Tie

Jayvee Grid Teams In 6-6 Deadlock

LaSalle High School's junior varsity gridders battled the Keyser High Jayvees to a 6-6 tie in a game staged yesterday at Frostburg.

Keyser scored in the first period on a five-yard run by Lawrence Smith but two tries for the extra point were nullified by offside penalties.

In the second period Wayne Kyhos of LaSalle recovered quarterback Courrier's fumble in the end zone for the Explorers' six-pointer. Harden's try for the point was blocked.

LaSalle racked up seven first downs to four for Keyser. The Mineral Countians completed 4 of 10 passes for 32 yards while LaSalle clicked twice in nine tries for 11 yards. Keyser amassed 147 yards rushing to LaSalle's 140 yards.

Braves Top Cards, 9-3

Win Cuts "Magic Number" To Two

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Andy Pafko hit a three-run homer and Frank Torre and Johnny Logan drove in two runs apiece to help the Milwaukee Braves to a 9-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night.

Bob Rush was tagged for 11 hits but he profited by a fine defense, highlighted by a pair of sparkling double plays, to gain his 10th win against six defeats.

The triumph reduced the Braves "magic number" to two. Any combination of two Milwaukee victories or two Pittsburgh defeats would give the Braves their second straight pennant.

Shadow Wave Is Winner Of Pacing Event

Cops Little Brown Jug Race In Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Shadow Wave, which did not race as a 2-year-old, flashed a pair of 2:01 miles Thursday over Delaware County Fairgrounds' half - mile oval to capture the country's No. 1 classic for three-year-old pacers, the Little Brown Jug.

The chestnut son of Adios, driven by diminutive Joe O'Brien, was never in trouble as he made all but one post a winning one in capturing two straight heats.

Bye Bye Byrd, the world record holder at 1:57 4-5 and a pre-race favorite, never figured in the 13th annual classic. He finished sixth in each heat, once eight lengths off the pace, and once 11 lengths back.

Shadow Wave, owned by the S. A. Camp Farm of Shafter, Calif., and superbly handled by the Canadian-born O'Brien, was off the pace only at the end of the first quarter of the first mile, where O'Brien Hanover led by a head.

Shadow Wave moved out front at the half and won going away from Thorpe Hanover by two and a quarter lengths. In the second heat, Shadow Wave broke in front and was never seriously challenged. He finished a length and a half ahead of Thorpe Hanover.

The speedy chestnut, which had collected $31,031 in winning 13 of 22 previous heats this year, added $36,541.64 to his payroll, the major portion of the $65,252.94 purse.

Del Miller, in the sulky behind Thorpe Hanover as the latter chased Shadow Wave across the finish line, finished second in the Jug for the fourth straight year for a $13,050 payoff.

O'Brien Hanover, half of Thursday's Miller entry, staged a 3-4 finish for third place and Meadow Bucky, with Johnny Simpson in the sulky, was fourth. Meadow Bucky finished ninth in the first heat and third in the second.

Jerry Barber Leads Tourney

Shoots Record 63 In Hesperia Open

HESPERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Forty-two-year-old Jerry Barber, who is hardly more than a bag of bones and a hank of hair, took the lead Thursday in the second annual $17,000 Hesperia Open with a record shattering nine under par 63.

The five-foot, five-inch, 140-pound pro from the Wilshire Country Club in Los Angeles bagged seven birdies and an eagle as he holed out putts of 20 feet or better on three greens.

The little pro carded 31-32—63 against par of 36-36—72 to take the first round lead in this 72-hole event away from Dick Mayer, the 1957 National Open champion who had 31-33—64.

Close on the heels of this pair was another former Open champion, Lloyd Mangrum, 44-year-old pro from nearby Apple Valley, who had 33-32—65. Mangrum missed a 20-foot putt on the 18-green by a hair, losing his chance for a tie with Mayer.

Grouped at 67 were: Wesley Ellis, Jr., Ridgewood, N.J.; Bob Rosburg, Palo Alto, Calif.; George Bayer, Glen Eagles, Ill.; Fran Stranahan, Paradise, Fla., and Gene Littler, Singing Hills, Calif.

In the 68 bracket were San Francisco's young Ken Venturi and defending Hesperia champion Billy Maxwell from Odessa, Tex.

Three Sentinels Out Of Game Here Today

Coach William P. Hahn last night announced that two Fort Hill players who started in the opening game against LaSalle last week will be out of action when the Sentinels face Frederick High School here tonight.

Bill Hahn, right guard, and son of the coach, is suffering with an inner concussion of the eye, and will be out for an indefinite period. Gene Counihan, tackle, is sidelined with a leg injury.

Eddie Shoup, back, who saw service in the opener, is ailing and will not play tonight.

Outdoor Club Wins

The Cumberland Outdoor Club won two out of three games from the Owls Club in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match Wednesday night.

Geneva Atwell paced the winners with 22 points while Ellen, Mary Jane and Loretta Shaffer had 15 points each for the Owls.

Football Officials Will Meet At Keyser

The Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will hold its weekly meeting at Keyser High School Monday, Sept. 22 at 8 p. m. All members are urged to be present. Film strips of play situations will be shown.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

The thirteenth running of the Harry A. Manley Memorial is scheduled for Saturday at Fairgo.

This race was inaugurated as the Manley Handicap in 1936 and was changed to the Manley Memorial in 1942 following the death that year of the general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association.

Mr. Manley served the association for 17 years, first as general manager then as president.

This feature race was the idea of Edward J. Brennan, Cumberland's racing secretary for 21 years. He is now an executive at the Monmouth Park track in New Jersey.

To the winner of the Manley Memorial goes a $1,000 imported silver wine cooler which has been won and held for a period of one year by 22 different owners. The trophy must be won three times for outright possession.

Pooch and Eagle Speed, now at Fairgo, were past winners of the Manley. Owners at the current meeting with one leg on the trophy are Mrs. Bessie L. Warren, T. W. Kirk, Mrs. G. A. Saportas and L. M. Carver.

Past winners:

Jockey William Clark's chances of topping riders at Fairgo for the second straight year and the third time in four years faded yesterday when the New Jersey rider was suspended by the stewards for the remainder of the meeting for causing interference at the first turn in yesterday's opener.

Clark will be permitted to fill his riding engagements today.

Bill has been riding at Fairgo for the ninth straight year and needed 10 winners to hit the 100 mark here. His eight-year record at the local half miler was 90-56-48 and he set an all-time mark in 1955 when he piloted 26 winners.

Since the meeting on Monday he had 17 mounts and no winners but could shake the jinx today. He has ridden four seconds and five thirds in four days.

J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, and Democratic nominee in Maryland's gubernatorial campaign, will be a guest of the Cumberland Fair Association on Saturday.

The $29,833 handled by Robert "Happy" Littleton's crew in the eighth race yesterday was the most wagered in the 32 races on the first four days of the meeting.

Wade, Wright, Godby Win In CCC Tourney

Three first round matches were played yesterday in the men's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland County Club.

Vernon Wade defeated Maurice Cohn in the third flight, Glenn Wright won over William Wilson in the fourth flight and Braxton Godby downed Richard Kendall in the fifth flight, all matches being won 1 up on the 18th.

First round contests must be completed by Sunday.

LaSalle Holds Keyser To Tie

Jayvee Grid Teams In 6-6 Deadlock

LaSalle High School's junior varsity gridders battled the Keyser High Jayvees to a 6-6 tie in a game staged yesterday at Frostburg.

Keyser scored in the first period on a five-yard run by Lawrence Smith but two tries for the extra point were nullified by offside penalties.

In the second period Wayne Kyhos of LaSalle recovered quarterback Courrier's fumble in the end zone for the Explorers' six-pointer. Harden's try for the point was blocked.

LaSalle racked up seven first downs to four for Keyser. The Mineral Countians completed 4 of 10 passes for 32 yards while LaSalle clicked twice in nine tries for 11 yards. Keyser amassed 147 yards rushing to LaSalle's 140 yards.

Braves Top Cards, 9-3

Win Cuts "Magic Number" To Two

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Andy Pafko hit a three-run homer and Frank Torre and Johnny Logan drove in two runs apiece to help the Milwaukee Braves to a 9-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night.

Bob Rush was tagged for 11 hits but he profited by a fine defense, highlighted by a pair of sparkling double plays, to gain his 10th win against six defeats.

The triumph reduced the Braves "magic number" to two. Any combination of two Milwaukee victories or two Pittsburgh defeats would give the Braves their second straight pennant.

Shadow Wave Is Winner Of Pacing Event

Cops Little Brown Jug Race In Ohio

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Shadow Wave, which did not race as a 2-year-old, flashed a pair of 2:01 miles Thursday over Delaware County Fairgrounds' half - mile oval to capture the country's No. 1 classic for three-year-old pacers, the Little Brown Jug.

The chestnut son of Adios, driven by diminutive Joe O'Brien, was never in trouble as he made all but one post a winning one in capturing two straight heats.

Bye Bye Byrd, the world record holder at 1:57 4-5 and a pre-race favorite, never figured in the 13th annual classic. He finished sixth in each heat, once eight lengths off the pace, and once 11 lengths back.

Shadow Wave, owned by the S. A. Camp Farm of Shafter, Calif., and superbly handled by the Canadian-born O'Brien, was off the pace only at the end of the first quarter of the first mile, where O'Brien Hanover led by a head.

Shadow Wave moved out front at the half and won going away from Thorpe Hanover by two and a quarter lengths. In the second heat, Shadow Wave broke in front and was never seriously challenged. He finished a length and a half ahead of Thorpe Hanover.

The speedy chestnut, which had collected $31,031 in winning 13 of 22 previous heats this year, added $36,541.64 to his payroll, the major portion of the $65,252.94 purse.

Del Miller, in the sulky behind Thorpe Hanover as the latter chased Shadow Wave across the finish line, finished second in the Jug for the fourth straight year for a $13,050 payoff.

O'Brien Hanover, half of Thursday's Miller entry, staged a 3-4 finish for third place and Meadow Bucky, with Johnny Simpson in the sulky, was fourth. Meadow Bucky finished ninth in the first heat and third in the second.

Fort Hill Seeks 13th Straight, Hosts Frederick Tonight

Keyser Plays Beall Eleven In Frostburg

Three CVAL Games, Four PVC Contests On Today's Slate

Fort Hill High School is the only Cumberland football team slated to see action this weekend and Coach William P. Hahn's Sentinels will be out to extend their winning streak to 13 games when they open defense of their Cumberland Valley Athletic League crown tonight at the local stadium against Jack Molesworth's Frederick High Cadets.

The Sentinels launched their current winning string on Thanksgiving Day in 1956 by whipping Allegany, reeled off ten wins in a row last season and opened the 1958 campaign a week ago by trouncing LaSalle, 45-7.

Frederick lost to Fort Hill in 1956 and 1957 and will be the underdog in the third game of the series set for 8 tonight.

The Cadets pried off the lid last weekend and were beaten by Howard County High School, 20-7.

Fort Hill won the CVAL title last year with a 7-0 record and shared the crown with Hagerstown when the circuit was revived in 1956.

Other CVAL Games

Two other CVAL contests are on tap for tonight. Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs, defeated by William Penn at York, Pa., last week, 13-6, invade Westminster tonight to play Herb Ruby's Owls, who finished in the runner-up spot last season. South Hagerstown's Rebels, who dropped non-league games to Northwestern, 13-0, and Waynesboro, 26-0, in the past two weeks, tackle John Cobourn's Martinsburg Bulldogs tonight at Martinsburg. The West Virginians lost their opening game to Morgantown High School last week, 20-12.

Beall High School, beaten by Allegany, 31-0, last week picks another tartar when it hosts Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado tonight at 8 in Frostburg. Keyser, finalist in last year's state Class "A" competition, is 2-0 for the present campaign, having whipped Charles Town 13-0 and Parsons 39-0.

Four PVC Battles

Four Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for today. George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets, victors over Southern, 34-0, host Coach William Crites' Petersburg Vikings who have racked up wins over Southern, 25-0, and Terra Alta, 20-7. West Virginia School for the Deaf opens its season with the Highlanders of Southern High at Oakland, Eddie Hartman's Romney Pioneers test the Franklin Panthers at the latter place and Berkeley Springs visits Ridgeley to tackle Tom O'Connor's Blackhawks who have turned back Hancock, 53-0 and Circleville 38-12. Allen Goldstrom's Indians also hold a 28-13 decision over Hancock.

Romney got away to a flying start last week by surprising Charles Town, 13-12, while "Gus" Smith's Franklin eleven bowed to Green Bank, 6-0.

Harold Wilkinson's Bedford High Bisons, defeated last week by Everett, 12-0, play their first game of the season at home with the Somerset High School Eagles tonight.

Allegany High School has an open date this week while the game scheduled here Saturday between Delone Catholic of McSherrystown, Pa., and LaSalle has been postponed until October 18.

She was disqualified and placed second for interference on the first two. BONNY DEB, badly bothered by JEAN ANN H. on the first turn, recovered quickly to challenge strongly nearing the stretch, closed well and was wearing down the winner at the end. Bonny Deb's rider claimed a foul against Jean Ann H. and it was allowed. ACHSAH ANN raced evenly but could not menace the first two. OUR BEGINNING was not dangerous. REDLAND ROAD had early speed.

Jester Takes Belmont Race

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—George D. Widener's Jester, one of the top 2-year-olds of 1957 but a disappointment this year, came through with a big effort today in winning the Flushing Handicap at Belmont Park.

Taken back off the hot pace set by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Hip Hip Hurray and his stablemate, Pundit, Jester was taken to the outside for the stretch run by Jockey Paul Bailey and scored by half a length in the good time of 1:23 2/5 for seven furlongs in sloppy going.

Hip Hip Hurray held on to take the place by three quarters of a length over Elmendorf's Day Court, who nosed Fred J. Thompson's Sabotage for the show. Pundit stopped badly.

The entry of Jester and Pundit was the solid choice with the crowd of 15,318, returning mutuels of $4.90, $2.80 and $2.20. Hip Hip Hurray paid $4.00 and $2.60 and Day Court was $3.30 to show.

Athletics Top Red Sox, 4-1

Runnells Leading Ted By One Point

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Back-to-back homers by Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris in the first inning started the Kansas City Athletics off to a 4-1 verdict over the Boston Red Sox behind the five-hit pitching of Bud Daley Thursday.

Bob Cerv also came through with a singleton homer for the A's in the eighth, his 37th of the season. The Sox scored their lone tally on a home run by catcher Pete Daley in the second.

Pete Runnels, the American League's leading batter, went hitless in four trips and his average dropped from .322 to .319, a percentage point ahead of teammate Ted Williams. Ted got one hit in three times at bat to remain at .318 in the chase for batting honors. Cerv's home run, his only hit in three times up, kept him at .315.

The setback was the ninth for the Red Sox in their last 10 games. Meanwhile the A's took over possession of sixth place, 2½ games back of Boston.

Chicago Whips Baltimore, 6-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Brilliant relief pitching by Barry Latman, 22-year-old right hander, gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

Latman relieved veteran Ray Moore with two runs in, one out and two on base in the first inning. Relying chiefly on a blazing fast ball he gave up only three hits until he walked the first man in the ninth. Turk Lown relieved him then and retired three in a row.

Jack Harshman was the loser. He was unable to go the route against his former teammates for the sixth time in eight starts.

After striking out the first man to face him, Moore walked three in a row. Then Gus Triandos singled for two runs. That's where Latman took over and retired the side on a double play.

First Landing, Unbeaten Colt, To Seek 8th Win

NEW YORK (AP)—First Landing, unbeaten colt owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York, goes after his eighth straight victory Saturday in the $50,000-added futurity at Belmont Park.

Racing Secretary Jimmy Kilroe expects eight entrants for the 6R furlong spin down the Widener straight course. Early odds list First Landing as a heavy favorite at 1-2, with Eddie Arcaro seeking his sixth Futurity.

Atlantic City Feature Is Won By Boy D'Amour

Boy D'Amour returned $10.20, $5.00 and $3.60 after going the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2/5 over a good strip. Devilfish brought back $4.80 and $3.80 with Nivrag paying $6.20.

Fort Hill Seeks 13th Straight, Hosts Frederick Tonight

Keyser Plays Beall Eleven In Frostburg

Three CVAL Games, Four PVC Contests On Today's Slate

Fort Hill High School is the only Cumberland football team slated to see action this weekend and Coach William P. Hahn's Sentinels will be out to extend their winning streak to 13 games when they open defense of their Cumberland Valley Athletic League crown tonight at the local stadium against Jack Molesworth's Frederick High Cadets.

The Sentinels launched their current winning string on Thanksgiving Day in 1956 by whipping Allegany, reeled off ten wins in a row last season and opened the 1958 campaign a week ago by trouncing LaSalle, 45-7.

Frederick lost to Fort Hill in 1956 and 1957 and will be the underdog in the third game of the series set for 8 tonight.

Fort Hill won the CVAL title last year with a 7-0 record and shared the crown with Hagerstown when the circuit was revived in 1956.

Other CVAL Games

Two other CVAL contests are on tap for tonight. Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs, defeated by William Penn at York, Pa., last week, 13-6, invade Westminster tonight to play Herb Ruby's Owls, who finished in the runner-up spot last season. South Hagerstown's Rebels, who dropped non-league games to Northwestern, 13-0, and Waynesboro, 26-0, in the past two weeks, tackle John Cobourn's Martinsburg Bulldogs tonight at Martinsburg. The West Virginians lost their opening game to Morgantown High School last week, 20-12.

Beall High School, beaten by Allegany, 31-0, last week picks another tartar when it hosts Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado tonight at 8 in Frostburg. Keyser, finalist in last year's state Class "A" competition, is 2-0 for the present campaign, having whipped Charles Town 13-0 and Parsons 39-0.

Four PVC Battles

Four Potomac Valley Conference games are on tap for today. George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets, victors over Southern, 34-0, host Coach William Crites' Petersburg Vikings who have racked up wins over Southern, 25-0, and Terra Alta, 20-7. West Virginia School for the Deaf opens its season with the Highlanders of Southern High at Oakland, Eddie Hartman's Romney Pioneers test the Franklin Panthers at the latter place and Berkeley Springs visits Ridgeley to tackle Tom O'Connor's Blackhawks who have turned back Hancock, 53-0 and Circleville 38-12. Allen Goldstrom's Indians also hold a 28-13 decision over Hancock.

Romney got away to a flying start last week by surprising Charles Town, 13-12, while "Gus" Smith's Franklin eleven bowed to Green Bank, 6-0.

Harold Wilkinson's Bedford High Bisons, defeated last week by Everett, 12-0, play their first game of the season at home with the Somerset High School Eagles tonight.

Allegany High School has an open date this week while the game scheduled here Saturday between Delone Catholic of McSherrystown, Pa., and LaSalle has been postponed until October 18.

Jester Takes Belmont Race

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—George D. Widener's Jester, one of the top 2-year-olds of 1957 but a disappointment this year, came through with a big effort today in winning the Flushing Handicap at Belmont Park.

Taken back off the hot pace set by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Hip Hip Hurray and his stablemate, Pundit, Jester was taken to the outside for the stretch run by Jockey Paul Bailey and scored by half a length in the good time of 1:23 2/5 for seven furlongs in sloppy going.

Hip Hip Hurray held on to take the place by three quarters of a length over Elmendorf's Day Court, who nosed Fred J. Thompson's Sabotage for the show. Pundit stopped badly.

The entry of Jester and Pundit was the solid choice with the crowd of 15,318, returning mutuels of $4.90, $2.80 and $2.20. Hip Hip Hurray paid $4.00 and $2.60 and Day Court was $3.30 to show.

Athletics Top Red Sox, 4-1

Runnells Leading Ted By One Point

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Back-to-back homers by Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris in the first inning started the Kansas City Athletics off to a 4-1 verdict over the Boston Red Sox behind the five-hit pitching of Bud Daley Thursday.

Bob Cerv also came through with a singleton homer for the A's in the eighth, his 37th of the season. The Sox scored their lone tally on a home run by catcher Pete Daley in the second.

Pete Runnels, the American League's leading batter, went hitless in four trips and his average dropped from .322 to .319, a percentage point ahead of teammate Ted Williams. Ted got one hit in three times at bat to remain at .318 in the chase for batting honors. Cerv's home run, his only hit in three times up, kept him at .315.

The setback was the ninth for the Red Sox in their last 10 games. Meanwhile the A's took over possession of sixth place, 2½ games back of Boston.

Chicago Whips Baltimore, 6-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Brilliant relief pitching by Barry Latman, 22-year-old right hander, gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

Latman relieved veteran Ray Moore with two runs in, one out and two on base in the first inning. Relying chiefly on a blazing fast ball he gave up only three hits until he walked the first man in the ninth. Turk Lown relieved him then and retired three in a row.

Jack Harshman was the loser. He was unable to go the route against his former teammates for the sixth time in eight starts.

After striking out the first man to face him, Moore walked three in a row. Then Gus Triandos singled for two runs. That's where Latman took over and retired the side on a double play.

First Landing, Unbeaten Colt, To Seek 8th Win

Racing Secretary Jimmy Kilroe expects eight entrants for the 6R furlong spin down the Widener straight course. Early odds list First Landing as a heavy favorite at 1-2, with Eddie Arcaro seeking his sixth Futurity.

Watch Your Step, from the Circle M. Farm of Mrs. Edward S. Moore, Lexington, Ky., and Miami Beach, is the colt most observers figure to give First Landing any real challenge.

Atlantic City Feature Is Won By Boy D'Amour

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Ben Cohen's Boy D'Amour scored his second straight victory at the Atlantic City Race Course this afternoon when he accounted for the featured Elks Purse.

Boy D'Amour returned $10.20, $5.00 and $3.60 after going the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2/5 over a good strip. Devilfish brought back $4.80 and $3.80 with Nivrag paying $6.20.

The whale, though a descendant of land animals that were hairy and four-legged, has a naked skin except for a few scattered hairs on the head. The only traces of hind limbs are a few tiny bones hidden at the base of its powerful tail.

1928 Mountaineers To Hold Reunion

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Twenty-five members of West Virginia University's 1928 football team will hold a 30th reunion Friday night and watch the 1958 Mountaineers open their season Saturday here against Richmond.

The '28 eleven won eight of 10 games in compiling one of the better records in Mountaineer history. Coached by Ira (Rat) Rodgers, it posted only the third victory WVU had over Pitt in a 30 year period.

1928 Mountaineers To Hold Reunion

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Twenty-five members of West Virginia University's 1928 football team will hold a 30th reunion Friday night and watch the 1958 Mountaineers open their season Saturday here against Richmond.

The '28 eleven won eight of 10 games in compiling one of the better records in Mountaineer history. Coached by Ira (Rat) Rodgers, it posted only the third victory WVU had over Pitt in a 30 year period.

I AM A FIAT OWNER

I bought my car last October and now I have 11,000 happy miles on it. The longer I keep this car, the better I like it. I've averaged 45 miles-per-gallon on my Fiat since new and still do the same. My sister Barbara and I both use this car constantly and the repairs are nil. The only expense is the fuel and the oil never drops a pint between changes. Mechanically she's still as good-as-new! Tires barely show any wear. Paint is still perfect and it has never been garaged. My most amazing experience is the ability to go through snow and mud without chains. Both rear wheels pushing gives so much better traction. Yes . . . believe if I ever buy another car it will be a Fiat.

And Power, you'd be surprised. My power increases with the miles I put on my Fiat. I always make better time in traffic too. The most maneuverable car I've ever driven. Parking is a cinch. Steering is as free as power steering and in all respects I think the car is tops.

I AM A FIAT OWNER

I bought my car last October and now I have 11,000 happy miles on it. The longer I keep this car, the better I like it. I've averaged 45 miles-per-gallon on my Fiat since new and still do the same. My sister Barbara and I both use this car constantly and the repairs are nil. The only expense is the fuel and the oil never drops a pint between changes. Mechanically she's still as good-as-new! Tires barely show any wear. Paint is still perfect and it has never been garaged. My most amazing experience is the ability to go through snow and mud without chains. Both rear wheels pushing gives so much better traction. Yes . . . believe if I ever buy another car it will be a Fiat.

And Power, you'd be surprised. My power increases with the miles I put on my Fiat. I always make better time in traffic too. The most maneuverable car I've ever driven. Parking is a cinch. Steering is as free as power steering and in all respects I think the car is tops.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Expert Handling For Hands

It isn't always the laziest hands that are the prettiest. Busy hands can be soft and well-groomed and pampered-looking despite the hazards of office work and housework, and so many of them have a full share of both.

Naturally, the heavier the duty hands must do, the more important it is to give them the best possible care. The best possible care includes many little attentions, no one of which should be missed, especially if your hands are in less than top condition right now. Check this listed advice to make sure you overlook nothing:

Make a habit of a complete weekly manicure, and keep supplies for repairs between time both at the office and at home. Include nail scissors or nippers to cope with cuticle difficulties immediately. Carry emery boards in handbags as well.

Massage cuticle oil or cream into both cuticle and nail tips every night.

Use hand cream or lotion generously and often, and keep duplicate supplies, wherever they're handy, to use after washing the hands.

Wear rubber gloves or plastic mitts always to avoid plunging the hands into hot water and washing or cleaning preparations.

Wear dress gloves outdoors at all times, to protect the hands from dirt and wind as well as from the cold. Even before cold weather, develop the habit of avoiding the removal of gloves outdoors to get out keys or cartare.

Wear nail polish to protect nails when hands are busy as well as to make them look pretty.

TOMORROW: The Color Key.

YOUR COLOR TYPE—Here's your personal colorscope, scientifically designed to determine just which colors keep you looking complexion-perfect and charming of dress. A copy of my all-new booklet "Your Color Type" is on its way to you for 25c and a stamped, return envelope sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

Pampered-looking hands are the sum total of many little attentions—and they can be pampered looking although they avoid work-a-day chores.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Expert Handling For Hands

It isn't always the laziest hands that are the prettiest. Busy hands can be soft and well-groomed and pampered-looking despite the hazards of office work and housework, and so many of them have a full share of both.

Naturally, the heavier the duty hands must do, the more important it is to give them the best possible care. The best possible care includes many little attentions, no one of which should be missed, especially if your hands are in less than top condition right now. Check this listed advice to make sure you overlook nothing:

Make a habit of a complete weekly manicure, and keep supplies for repairs between time both at the office and at home. Include nail scissors or nippers to cope with cuticle difficulties immediately. Carry emery boards in handbags as well.

Scrub knuckles every day with a nail brush and soapy lather.

Massage cuticle oil or cream into both cuticle and nail tips every night.

Use hand cream or lotion generously and often, and keep duplicate supplies, wherever they're handy, to use after washing the hands.

Wear rubber gloves or plastic mitts always to avoid plunging the hands into hot water and washing or cleaning preparations.

Wear dress gloves outdoors at all times, to protect the hands from dirt and wind as well as from the cold. Even before cold weather, develop the habit of avoiding the removal of gloves outdoors to get out keys or carfare.

Wear nail polish to protect nails when hands are busy as well as to make them look pretty.

by John Crosby

Parade Of Personalities

One of the first big stories I remember when I started out as a radio columnist some twelve years ago was CBS raiding NBC. In a series of lightning border raids mostly conducted personally by William S. Paley, NBC lost Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Edgar Bergen and heaven knows who else. Almost overnight, CBS had almost all the big personalities.

Well, sir, time passed and the other day I went to NBC's hour and a half preview of the fall season coming up and it seems to me that NBC has all the personalities back again. It's an impressive roster and most of them were nurtured on NBC, which seems to be on a personality kick. The list includes Perry Como (who occupies a position very close to that Bing Crosby occupied for years on the old Kraft Music Hall), Dinah Shore, Bob Hope, Milton Berle, Steve Allen, George Goebel, Eddie Fisher (who was booed on the Steve Allen show the other night), George Burns, Groucho Marx, Jack Paar, Tennessee Ernie, and Ed Wynn. That's a hell of a line up.

If I were a CBS executive, it seems to me I'd be more than a little distressed to note that some of these guys started out wearing the CBS silks. Steve Allen and Jack Paar both opened on CBS and drifted away. George Burns was on CBS for many years. Meanwhile, Bing Crosby and Peter Lind Hayes have left CBS and gone to ABC-TV. Of course a certain amount of give and take between networks is to be expected but it seems as if CBS is doing all the giving and not much taking.

Television, at the moment, is desperately in need of some really good public relations, what with the money quiz show uproar and the repeated accusation that television this year is going to be a monumentally dull procession of Westerns and quizzes. The NBC preview seemed designed to dispel these gloomy predictions and to put the new season in some better perspective.

Right at the outset, Robert Kintner, president of NBC, pointed out that NBC planned to present a "balanced" schedule, all but spelling out the word "balanced" for us. NBC's schedule this year, he said, would include 20 per cent variety shows, 30 per cent drama and adventure shows, 15 per cent Westerns, 15 per cent comedy and the other 20 per cent filled with news, quizzes and daytime serials. That's too much Western and adventure stuff but it could be worse.

The comedians were given two minutes apiece and since this was closed circuit, they happily spilled over in all directions and the show ran a half hour over. But they are a mighty funny bunch. Berle made jokes about his absence, had to be told how to face the camera ("Sorry! I've been away.") and he broke me up when a guy showed him the hand signals for stretching his material. "Stretch? Me? Berle?"

He was, as always, irreverent about NBC ("Who's President this week?"), not very much more reverent to the press ("The press has been very kind to me—since I've been off") and was the complete master of timing. He's going to be tough competition this fall. Irreverence ran high, too, with Jack Paar who complained of running his own show out of NBC's petty cash drawer and Mr. Robert Hope who made some paralyzingly funny gags about the quiz show scandal. "The big winners are going to need all that money for bail."

How right is NBC in banking so heavily on personality? Well, the old pro Perry Como returned to his regular stand Saturday night and a mighty fine, relaxed and tuneful show it was. More importantly it was the sort of show that you could return to again and again. Quiz rages or other manias could come and go but Como could go on forever. (And I could be dead wrong about that, too.)

This show, it seemed to me, was even more simple and direct and personal than usual. It opened with Como strolling out and singing "Volare" all by himself. No dancing girls singing "Well, here we all are again. Back to cheer you for another year." Later Como got the audience to sing "Volare" along with him with a card showing the words. Shades of the old movie house songfests. (Later, Edie Adams did the same thing on her show. Must be a phase.)

Two of Como's guests were Robert Preston of the "Music Man" who did his "Trouble" number from that show and set the backwoods ablaze with it and Jimmy van Heusen who has written more good songs than seems fair, many of which Como sang with another guest, Maureen O'Hara. All this was held together and made important by Como's personality which is one of the wonders of the modern world.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Mae West is coming back to motion pictures and Steve Cochran is the one who did the convincing. She has already gone into training and will lose eight pounds before she stars in "Klondike Lou" for Cochran's independent company.

Steve came by my house to tell me his news, and he says he will only make a guest appearance but he'll direct Mae. He's trying to line up a lot of big names, following the tradition established by the late Mike Todd. He'll try to get all of Mae's former leading men—Cary Grant, George Raft, Randolph Scott, Lloyd Nolan, and himself to make brief appearances.

As you might know by the title, "Klondike Lou" is set in Dawson with Mae playing the headline act at the Malemute Saloon made famous by Robert Service's poems.

The energetic Bob Hope is having himself a field day, today. He's just grabbed off that good actor Wendell Corey as his co-star in "Alias Jesse James" (Wendell plays the title role) — and Friday night Robin stars in his first legitimate musical for TV — "Roberta" with singing stars Anna Maria Alberghetti and Howard Keel.

I was amazed to have him say that he will be back home on the Paramount lot to film "Alias Jesse James" on Sept. 29. He and Para parted company early this year, but apparently it was friendly because he's moving back in to shoot his United Artists comedy with Rhonda Fleming in the femme lead.

I must say I am not easily shocked, but "Lolita," the novel by Vladimar Nabovkov, made me feel I needed a bath, to brush my teeth and take an antiseptic. How this story, which is all about the ravings of a mentally disturbed man, who can think of nothing but his mad, horrifying love for his stepdaughter, can be put on the screen I don't know.

This moron marries the child's mother so he can have an affair with the little girl and she becomes a captive of his insame love. It is called artistic, humorous by the highbrows and is number one on the best seller list. A friend of mine calls it literary pornography. I suppose Freud and Krafft-Ebing would have a word for "Lolita." I call it plain filth.

Mrs. Tobe Davis, New York's famous fashion authority, should move to Hollywood to see all of her friends. I had dinner with her again and we had a very spirited conversation about astrology, of all things. Clifford Odets, who was in the party at Chasen's, contributed some very interesting experiences.

The next day I telephoned Tobe and said, "We didn't even talk about fashions. Tell me what's new for the coming season." This is her summation: "I believe we will go into something like the Chinese modern. Sacks and chemises will be out. That period was a revolution. Now we will have an evolution."

I am so sorry to hear that Joan Fontaine is a very sick girl at Lake Arrowhead with mononucleosis. Her two children, Martita and Debbie, have both had it but are now recovering. Collier Young told me that he commutes to see his ailing wife and that they have taken a house in Arrowhead and Joan has put the children in school there until she is better.

"Joan had mononucleosis even when she was making 'A Certain Smile,' but it wasn't diagnosed as such until a few weeks ago," Collier told me. This seems to be the latest thing in Hollywood diseases.

When Director Henry King completes Rock Hudson's "This Earth Is Mine," now shooting in the grape country of Napa Valley, he'll start "The Hustlers," a modern opus on aviation written by Bernie Lay Jr.

There's no man making movies who had rather be "Up in the Air" than Henry. Admittedly an aviation "nut" (his own term,) he's been piloting planes since World War I and flying his own craft since World War II. During World War II he did patrol duty along the coast of California and he always flies his own plane to his movie locations.

Your reporter suffered an anxious moment during the final round of the Masters Pairs' championship of the American Contract Bridge league recently concluded at the Americana hotel in Miami Beach, Fla.

Having flittered away the major part of a substantial early lead, Helen Sobel and I came down to the wire in earnest contention for the title. On the very last round we met this hand.

The bidding proceeded as indicated in the diagram, though when I came to play the hand, I found myself under the influence of fatigue, believing that West had made a take-out double of my opening club bid. On that basis I proceeded to play upon the theory that West, rather than East, held the king of diamonds.

The second round of hearts was ruffed, then came the ace and another spade ruffed in dummy. On the club return, the suit kindly divided as the king fell. The third round of spades was ruffed in the North hand and the remaining heart ruffed by South. When the fourth round of spades was taken care of by a trump in dummy the hand was completely stripped and the time had come for the diamond play. On the low diamond lead the defense is rendered helpless, had I the wit to make the good old fashioned play of the queen. But still laboring under the delusion that West must be marked with the diamond king. I ducked the diamond into the West hand, hoping to compel a lead away from the mythical king. West won with the seven and got out with the eight. With a triumphant gesture I played low from dummy and East won the setting trick with the king.

The tournament was over and I had the feeling that I had tossed away the title on the last green. It proved, however, that we had stored away enough points to edge into a photofinish victory.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X E is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

2 clubs	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	5 clubs	Double

Opening lead: Heart king.

Physical stamina plays a more prominent role in the determination of bridge championships than is commonly supposed.

Your reporter suffered an anxious moment during the final round of the Masters Pairs' championship of the American Contract Bridge league recently concluded at the Americana hotel in Miami Beach, Fla.

Having flittered away the major part of a substantial early lead, Helen Sobel and I came down to the wire in earnest contention for the title. On the very last round we met this hand.

The bidding proceeded as indicated in the diagram, though when I came to play the hand, I found myself under the influence of fatigue, believing that West had made a take-out double of my opening club bid. On that basis I proceeded to play upon the theory that West, rather than East, held the king of diamonds.

The second round of hearts was ruffed, then came the ace and another spade ruffed in dummy. On the club return, the suit kindly divided as the king fell. The third round of spades was ruffed in the North hand and the remaining heart ruffed by South. When the fourth round of spades was taken care of by a trump in dummy the hand was completely stripped and the time had come for the diamond play. On the low diamond lead the defense is rendered helpless, had I the wit to make the good old fashioned play of the queen. But still laboring under the delusion that West must be marked with the diamond king, I ducked the diamond into the West hand, hoping to compel a lead away from the mythical king. West won with the seven and got out with the eight. With a triumphant gesture I played low from dummy and East won the setting trick with the king.

The tournament was over and I had the feeling that I had tossed away the title on the last green. It proved, however, that we had stored away enough points to edge into a photofinish victory.

Asian Flu Epidemic Not Likely

Normal Precautions Recommended Here

Asian Influenza, as well as the usual flu varieties, will be with us this year, but none is expected in epidemic proportions, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said so many people had the disease last year that there are not enough un-immunized people left for another Asian flu epidemic.

There are no plans even being considered at present, he said, to have a mass immunization drive against Asian Influenza, nor will the Health Department make free vaccine available.

Individuals or groups interested in preventing a possible attack of Asian flu, he said, should discuss the problem with their family doctor or plant physician on a private basis.

The Health Department will endorse heartily any moves on the part of citizens to seek such protection.

Have New Serum

Drug companies, he added, are now putting out polyvalent serums which protects against Asian Influenza and some of the other most frequent strains of the virus.

Not a case of Asian flu has been reported in Western Maryland this fall.

Dr. van Strien pointed out, however, that laboratory confirmation of the disease is a rather elaborate and costly procedure, and mainly of academic value.

It is mainly sought, he said, when illness seems to strike groups in rather epidemic proportions.

No change has been noted, he said, in the virulence of the disease.

The recommendations for those who get the disease this year will be the same as last year — use the normal precautions taken in any illness and see your doctor.

Millions Stricken

The United States Public Health Service estimates that 20,000,000 Americans were stricken by the disease in the last four months of 1957 alone.

Details of the course and character of last winter's epidemic, as revealed by the experience of the millions of industrial policyholders of a leading life insurance company, include the following:

The epidemic produced an appreciable increase in the death rate. Among the company's industrial policyholders, the death rate from all causes combined in the last quarter of 1957 was 16 per cent above the corresponding period of 1956.

Among United States policyholders, the number of deaths ascribed to influenza rose rapidly during October, reached a peak about the fourth week of the month which was maintained through mid-November, and then dropped off sharply. Mortality rose again in January, and remained at a plateau through early spring.

Hit Young, Aged

The outbreak was much more explosive and reached an earlier peak in the northern part of the United States than in the South or West.

Among children and young adults, the highest incidence occurred in the earlier weeks of the epidemic, while among middle-aged and older people the outbreak reached its peak later and subsided more slowly. The mortality was largely concentrated among the very young and the aged.

A large proportion of the deaths attributed to influenza occurred among people who had pre-existing chronic disorders. Especially vulnerable were middle-aged and old people with chronic heart disease.

Goodloe Jackson Retires But Refuses To Quit Work

J. GOODLOE JACKSON

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

J. Goodloe Jackson, 610 Shriver Avenue, who knows the retail and wholesale food business from the ground up and who has served for many years as secretary of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, has announced his retirement as district representative of Corn Products Sales Company.

With headquarters in Cumberland, Mr. Jackson has been a salesman and later district representative for Corn Products Sales Company, working out of the Baltimore division office for the past 32 years. He traveled and called upon retail food dealers in 27 counties of Western Maryland, eastern part of West Virginia and the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. He is probably one of the best known traveling men in this area.

Mr. Jackson said last night that although he has retired as district representative of Corn Products, he has no intention of ceasing his many activities entirely. He plans to do some part-time work in this area for a company of food brokers of Washington.

In addition he intends to give more time to the position as secretary of the retail food dealers.

During the more than three decades he has been a resident of Cumberland, he has been actively identified with numerous civic enterprises. He served six years as a member of the board of directors of Central YMCA, was chairman of the Industrial Exposition held here several years ago, and has been active in the work of the Community Chest, Red Cross drives and other civic enterprises. He is one of two Democratic members serving on the Allegany County Board of Education by appointment of the governor.

Mr. Jackson is a member of First Baptist Church, of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and of the Cumberland Lions Club. A veteran of World War I, he served about a year in France and Germany.

Mr. Jackson literally cut his teeth on an old cracker barrel in an old family general store, which was operated for more than a century in Jane Lew, Lewis County, W. Va.

The store boasted every kind of merchandise, including a large food department. It was founded in 1826 by his great-grandfather, Steven Jackson. It was later operated by his grandfather, James W. Jackson, and then by his father Robert E. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson recalls that he worked there as a boy, youth and young man, but after World War I, he remained there only a short time. He had met and married the former Miss Esther Bill of Lonaconing, and both were anxious to settle in Cumberland. He came here in 1925 and joined Corn Products early in 1926. Mr. Jackson said the old family general store was liquidated just a couple of years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will continue to make their home here, and he expects to remain active in the affairs of the community and the retail food dealers. He is a native of Fairmont, W. Va., and he and his wife have one daughter, Mary Jackson Hall, now living in Rockville.

Four Held In Theft Of Safe Refuse Return

Three of four Baltimore area residents who were picked up in Ohio in connection with a safe burglary at Mason's Snack Bar on Baltimore Pike early Tuesday have refused to waive extradition to Maryland, State Police said last night.

They were arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers, during an apparent attempted breaking and entering in Hebron, Ohio, late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police at LaVale, said that only Virginia Heavener, 16, Glen Burnie, who does not have to waive extradition because of her age, can be brought back to Maryland.

The others, Florence Etta Edwards, 20, also of Glen Burnie, and Harry William Martin, 24, and Charles Howard Brown, 21, both of Baltimore, have told authorities they will not return here voluntarily.

Sgt. Baker said the group was connected with the local case when Ohio authorities picked up the two girls carrying a sum of money and a .38 calibre pistol.

Later, the car was located and the men also were arrested. They, too, had a considerable amount of money and property which police said could have been taken from the snack bar.

Ohio notified state police here by teletype of the arrests about the same time a Vale Summit area resident told police the four had stopped off there for about four hours after the safe was stolen from the snack bar. They had a safe with them in Vale Summit, police were told.

Sgt. Baker said the safe, which contained $200 in cash and some valuable papers, was recovered near an abandoned coal mine in the Vale Summit area after police were informed the four suspects had been there.

Sgt. Baker said he and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya will leave early next week for Newark, Ohio, where all four are being held in the Licking County Jail. The Maryland officers will continue their investigation there and plan to bring back the younger girl, he said.

Food Dealers Arranging 14th Annual Dinner

The 14th annual dinner of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday, October 15, in St. Mary's recreation hall, Oldtown Road.

J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, who will serve as toastmaster, said that following the usual custom, there will be no long speeches, and only a few short talks are planned, including greetings by William G. Beier, president. A floor show and entertainment will be provided.

Because this is an election year, Mr. Jackson observed, personal invitations have been mailed to each Democratic and Republican local and state candidate. Each candidate present will be introduced, but will not be asked to speak. The exceptions are the two candidates for governor and for Senator. Each of these will be given three minutes to speak, and if one is there and his opponent is absent, a five-minute speech may be delivered.

Mr. Jackson said these dinners usually attract between 600 and 700 food dealers and their wives and guests from Western Maryland. This year there will be delegations from Baltimore, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cambridge, as well as all parts of Allegany and Garrett counties.

A program is being prepared by Ralph W. Rice, 106 West Oldtown Road, who is serving as dinner chairman.

Polish Mountain Ribbon Cutting Set Next Friday

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the improvement of the west side of Polish Mountain will be held Friday, September 26, at 11:30 a.m., according to Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will preside at the official opening of the highway project on U.S. Route 40 east of here.

State, county and city officials will be present for the ribbon-cutting, Mr. Bonnell said.

The Polish Mountain project is the third in State Roads Commission plans to level out five mountain barriers between Maryland's Western and Eastern shores.

The project, built by the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Company, of Hazelton, was started about a year and a half ago.

City Tax Bills Go In Mails

Need For Borrowing May Be Eliminated

Some 12,700 statements were taken to the Post Office early yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Roeder stressed that all real estate bills have been mailed and that any taxpayer who does not receive his bill within three days should notify the City Tax Office, so a duplicate bill can be mailed to the correct address.

Oct. 20 Deadline

Bills for personal property of businesses will go out by Monday, September 22, Mrs. Roeder said. These 2,100 bills will go to people in business who file personal property schedules with the county.

Statements for personal property of corporations will be mailed throughout the year as assessments are certified by the State Tax Commission.

City tax bills may be paid without interest through Monday, October 20. Payments made after that date are subject to interest at the rate of one-half per cent a month, dating back to August 18, the date the levy was set.

The tax rate will be $1.57, the same as last year. It includes $1.2498 per $100 of assessments for city operations and .3202 for debt service.

May Avoid Borrowing

The Mayor and Council recently gave Mrs. Roeder authority to borrow up to $100,000, if needed, for city operations until tax funds come in.

But yesterday, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, informed Mrs. Roeder that if the initial response to the tax bills is good, the city will not have to borrow.

The city had a balance of $58,464.82 on September 1 and average spending this fiscal year will be at the rate of $166,000 a month.

Speis To Head Sclerosis Hope Chest Campaign

George E. Speis, past commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been named chairman of the 1958 Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest campaign this year in Cumberland.

He said that Mrs. Edward Finan has been appointed chairman of a group of volunteers who will assist in the drive. More than 500 volunteers will conduct a door-to-door canvass here.

Mr. Speis said last night that the campaign will begin on Monday and continue until the end of September.

Some canisters have been placed in business establishments, he added. The Maryland Department of the VFW is spearheading this year's drive in Maryland in compliance with a resolution passed at the VFW national convention in New York City last month.

The resolution is urging all posts throughout the country to assist in the annual fund-raising drives of local chapters of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

More than 9,000 volunteers have been enlisted throughout the state to take part in the door-to-door canvass this month. Special events are being planned in many sections.

The cause and cure of multiple sclerosis is unknown. It is a crippling disease that comes from a scarring of the sheaths that surround the nerves. It most often attacks persons in the 20 to 40 age group.

Five-Point Plan Is Suggested For River Basin

Need For Woodland Expansion Stressed

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. John D. Hoblitzell (R-W. Va.) suggested a five-point program of action for the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin at a commission meeting Thursday.

Hoblitzell was speaker at a banquet which closed out the first day of the two-day fall meeting of commission members from the Virginias, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C. It was held at nearby Blackwater Falls State Park lodge.

Hoblitzell said his suggested program included:

—Formation of a public information program to inform the basin's people of its needs and the part they must play in meeting them.

—Development of studies covering water resources, pollution abatement, forestry, land use, agriculture, recreation, and flood prevention and control.

—Organization of a coordinated plan of action that spells out the job to be done in each resource area, how it shall be done and who shall be responsible.

District Needs Cited

Urban concentrations in the capitol region have spread far out of the District of Columbia, whose "life and growth are tied to the Potomac River and its 9.3 million acre watershed," he said.

Hoblitzell said that in coming years there will be a much greater demand for water supplies and waste disposal as well as for recreation. "Water is our most important resource. . . the available supply of fresh water is an absolute deadline beyond which no community, state or nation can go," he said.

Keynote speaker at the opening session was Edward C. Crafts, assistant chief of the U. S. Forest Service, who said the nation will be unable to meet its future needs for timber unless there is great improvement in the management of forestland held by farmers and other small owners.

Timber Needs Double

Crafts said a recently - completed six-year review of the nation's timber resources showed that by the turn of the century "we will need to be growing more than double the amount of saw timber that grew in 1952."

He also noted that 55 per cent of the country's commercial - forest land is in the hands of some 4,500,000 farmers and miscellaneous other owners — more than half owning less than 30 acres each.

"The real key to America's future lumber supply lies with the one out of every 10 families who own small forests," he said.

"Most of the land owned by forest industries and public agencies is left in reasonably good condition after cutting. But on over half of the recently-cut farm and other small private forests, conditions for future growth are far from good. Improving these millions of small forests is America's most important forestry job.

Commission members were welcomed by West Virginia Conservation Director Warden M. Lane, who spoke in favor of consolidating his state's main natural resources agencies under a single authority.

Commission Chairman John A. K. Donovan of Falls Church, Va., presided at the opening session, which also included a panel discussion on forest management. It was followed by a tour of the Fernow experimental forest.

Friday's program includes a symposium on water developments plans for the North Branch of the Potomac River, reports of advisory committees and a railroad tour of the North Branch area.

Building Permit

Kenneth Owens, 1302 Oldtown Road, has obtained a city building permit to construct a dwelling at 1312 Michigan Avenue. The building will be 32 feet by 32 feet and will be made of concrete block, brick veneer with composition shingle roof. Estimated cost of the building is $4,500.

Water Plan Awaits Consultant's Report

Recommendations on further modernization of this city's water treatment and distribution system are expected soon from Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

Mr. Light said a decision on the operation and further modernization of the Lake Gordon filter plant has been deferred until recommendations are received from Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the long-range modernization plan.

This report will follow a recent inspection by C. Eugene Hsi, of the Regester staff, and will include a manual of plant operation and a list of needed improvements, listed in the order of urgency.

He said the city will be able, following the receipt of the report, to decide how to proceed.

Valves Need Motors

Mr. Light said that among the needed work at Lake Gordon are the motorization of valves on the original 12 filter beds. Other modernization on these original units was completed last year.

Another item at the dam, he said, is the repair, if possible, of a gate chamber on Lake Gordon which has been inoperative for many years.

Consideration will also be given, he said, to the installation of automatic controls for filling water reservoirs in the city.

Mr. Light said he has ideas on the program but is waiting for the report to see if Mr. Regester agrees on the relative importance of items in the modernization program.

All of the program, he said, will be designed to give the people of Cumberland an efficient and economical water system—to make the best use of the "wonderful water we have."

The program, he said, will be taken step by step.

$135,000 On Hand

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, reported that about $150,000 was on hand on June 30 after $36,000 was spent for pipe for a loop water line.

This 12-inch line will boost water volume in South Cumberland and open up undeveloped areas by connecting the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Plant water line at Oldtown Road to a feeder line at Virginia Avenue.

Mr. Gibson said the full cost of the project will not be known until the line is in, but he estimated that installation will cost about $14,000, leaving about $135,000 for further water improvements.

Asian Flu Epidemic Not Likely

Normal Precautions Recommended Here

Asian Influenza, as well as the usual flu varieties, will be with us this year, but none is expected in epidemic proportions, according to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer.

He said so many people had the disease last year that there are not enough un-immunized people left for another Asian flu epidemic.

There are no plans even being considered at present, he said, to have a mass immunization drive against Asian Influenza, nor will the Health Department make free vaccine available.

Individuals or groups interested in preventing a possible attack of Asian flu, he said, should discuss the problem with their family doctor or plant physician on a private basis.

The Health Department will endorse heartily any moves on the part of citizens to seek such protection.

Have New Serum

Drug companies, he added, are now putting out polyvalent serums which protects against Asian Influenza and some of the other most frequent strains of the virus.

Not a case of Asian flu has been reported in Western Maryland this fall.

Dr. van Strien pointed out, however, that laboratory confirmation of the disease is a rather elaborate and costly procedure, and mainly of academic value.

It is mainly sought, he said, when illness seems to strike groups in rather epidemic proportions.

No change has been noted, he said, in the virulence of the disease.

The recommendations for those who get the disease this year will be the same as last year — use the normal precautions taken in any illness and see your doctor.

Millions Stricken

The United States Public Health Service estimates that 20,000,000 Americans were stricken by the disease in the last four months of 1957 alone.

Details of the course and character of last winter's epidemic, as revealed by the experience of the millions of industrial policyholders of a leading life insurance company, include the following:

The epidemic produced an appreciable increase in the death rate. Among the company's industrial policyholders, the death rate from all causes combined in the last quarter of 1957 was 16 per cent above the corresponding period of 1956.

Among United States policyholders, the number of deaths ascribed to influenza rose rapidly during October, reached a peak about the fourth week of the month which was maintained through mid-November, and then dropped off sharply. Mortality rose again in January, and remained at a plateau through early spring.

Hit Young, Aged

The outbreak was much more explosive and reached an earlier peak in the northern part of the United States than in the South or West.

Among children and young adults, the highest incidence occurred in the earlier weeks of the epidemic, while among middle-aged and older people the outbreak reached its peak later and subsided more slowly. The mortality was largely concentrated among the very young and the aged.

A large proportion of the deaths attributed to influenza occurred among people who had pre-existing chronic disorders. Especially vulnerable were middle-aged and old people with chronic heart disease.

Goodloe Jackson Retires But Refuses To Quit Work

J. GOODLOE JACKSON

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT

J. Goodloe Jackson, 610 Shriver Avenue, who knows the retail and wholesale food business from the ground up and who has served for many years as secretary of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, has announced his retirement as district representative of Corn Products Sales Company.

With headquarters in Cumberland, Mr. Jackson has been a salesman and later district representative for Corn Products Sales Company, working out of the Baltimore division office for the past 32 years. He traveled and called upon retail food dealers in 27 counties of Western Maryland, eastern part of West Virginia and the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. He is probably one of the best known traveling men in this area.

Mr. Jackson said last night that although he has retired as district representative of Corn Products, he has no intention of ceasing his many activities entirely. He plans to do some part-time work in this area for a company of food brokers of Washington.

In addition he intends to give more time to the position as secretary of the retail food dealers.

During the more than three decades he has been a resident of Cumberland, he has been actively identified with numerous civic enterprises. He served six years as a member of the board of directors of Central YMCA, was chairman of the Industrial Exposition held here several years ago, and has been active in the work of the Community Chest, Red Cross drives and other civic enterprises. He is one of two Democratic members serving on the Allegany County Board of Education by appointment of the governor.

Mr. Jackson is a member of First Baptist Church, of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and of the Cumberland Lions Club. A veteran of World War I, he served about a year in France and Germany.

Mr. Jackson literally cut his teeth on an old cracker barrel in an old family general store, which was operated for more than a century in Jane Lew, Lewis County, W. Va.

The store boasted every kind of merchandise, including a large food department. It was founded in 1826 by his great-grandfather, Steven Jackson. It was later operated by his grandfather, James W. Jackson, and then by his father Robert E. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson recalls that he worked there as a boy, youth and young man, but after World War I, he remained there only a short time. He had met and married the former Miss Esther Bill of Lonaconing, and both were anxious to settle in Cumberland. He came here in 1925 and joined Corn Products early in 1926. Mr. Jackson said the old family general store was liquidated just a couple of years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will continue to make their home here, and he expects to remain active in the affairs of the community and the retail food dealers. He is a native of Fairmont, W. Va., and he and his wife have one daughter, Mary Jackson Hall, now living in Rockville.

Four Held In Theft Of Safe Refuse Return

Three of four Baltimore area residents who were picked up in Ohio in connection with a safe burglary at Mason's Snack Bar on Baltimore Pike early Tuesday have refused to waive extradition to Maryland, State Police said last night.

They were arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol officers, during an apparent attempted breaking and entering in Hebron, Ohio, late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police at LaVale, said that only Virginia Heavener, 16, Glen Burnie, who does not have to waive extradition because of her age, can be brought back to Maryland.

The others, Florence Etta Edwards, 20, also of Glen Burnie, and Harry William Martin, 24, and Charles Howard Brown, 21, both of Baltimore, have told authorities they will not return here voluntarily.

Sgt. Baker said the group was connected with the local case when Ohio authorities picked up the two girls carrying a sum of money and a .38 calibre pistol.

Later, the car was located and the men also were arrested. They, too, had a considerable amount of money and property which police said could have been taken from the snack bar.

Ohio notified state police here by teletype of the arrests about the same time a Vale Summit area resident told police the four had stopped off there for about four hours after the safe was stolen from the snack bar. They had a safe with them in Vale Summit, police were told.

Sgt. Baker said the safe, which contained $200 in cash and some valuable papers, was recovered near an abandoned coal mine in the Vale Summit area after police were informed the four suspects had been there.

Sgt. Baker said he and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya will leave early next week for Newark, Ohio, where all four are being held in the Licking County Jail. The Maryland officers will continue their investigation there and plan to bring back the younger girl, he said.

Food Dealers Arranging 14th Annual Dinner

The 14th annual dinner of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday, October 15, in St. Mary's recreation hall, Oldtown Road.

J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, who will serve as toastmaster, said that following the usual custom, there will be no long speeches, and only a few short talks are planned, including greetings by William G. Beier, president. A floor show and entertainment will be provided.

Because this is an election year, Mr. Jackson observed, personal invitations have been mailed to each Democratic and Republican local and state candidate. Each candidate present will be introduced, but will not be asked to speak. The exceptions are the two candidates for governor and for Senator. Each of these will be given three minutes to speak, and if one is there and his opponent is absent, a five-minute speech may be delivered.

Mr. Jackson said these dinners usually attract between 600 and 700 food dealers and their wives and guests from Western Maryland. This year there will be delegations from Baltimore, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cambridge, as well as all parts of Allegany and Garrett counties.

A program is being prepared by Ralph W. Rice, 106 West Oldtown Road, who is serving as dinner chairman.

State, county and city officials will be present for the ribbon-cutting, Mr. Bonnell said.

The Polish Mountain project is the third in State Roads Commission plans to level out five mountain barriers between Maryland's Western and Eastern shores.

The Polish Mountain reconstruction project included 1.9 miles of highway built at a cost of $1,594,000.

The project, built by the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Company, of Hazelton, was started about a year and a half ago.

City Tax Bills Go In Mails

Need For Borrowing May Be Eliminated

The City of Cumberland yesterday placed all real estate tax bills in the mails, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, finance commissioner.

Some 12,700 statements were taken to the Post Office early yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Roeder stressed that all real estate bills have been mailed and that any taxpayer who does not receive his bill within three days should notify the City Tax Office, so a duplicate bill can be mailed to the correct address.

Oct. 20 Deadline

Bills for personal property of businesses will go out by Monday, September 22, Mrs. Roeder said. These 2,100 bills will go to people in business who file personal property schedules with the county.

Statements for personal property of corporations will be mailed throughout the year as assessments are certified by the State Tax Commission.

City tax bills may be paid without interest through Monday, October 20. Payments made after that date are subject to interest at the rate of one-half per cent a month, dating back to August 18, the date the levy was set.

The tax rate will be $1.57, the same as last year. It includes $1.2498 per $100 of assessments for city operations and .3202 for debt service.

May Avoid Borrowing

Prompt payment of tax bills may enable the city to avoid borrowing.

The Mayor and Council recently gave Mrs. Roeder authority to borrow up to $100,000, if needed, for city operations until tax funds come in.

But yesterday, Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, informed Mrs. Roeder that if the initial response to the tax bills is good, the city will not have to borrow.

The city had a balance of $58,464.82 on September 1 and average spending this fiscal year will be at the rate of $166,000 a month.

Speis To Head Sclerosis Hope Chest Campaign

George E. Speis, past commander of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been named chairman of the 1958 Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest campaign this year in Cumberland.

He said that Mrs. Edward Finan has been appointed chairman of a group of volunteers who will assist in the drive. More than 500 volunteers will conduct a door-to-door canvass here.

Mr. Speis said last night that the campaign will begin on Monday and continue until the end of September.

Some canisters have been placed in business establishments, he added. The Maryland Department of the VFW is spearheading this year's drive in Maryland in compliance with a resolution passed at the VFW national convention in New York City last month.

The resolution is urging all posts throughout the country to assist in the annual fund-raising drives of local chapters of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

More than 9,000 volunteers have been enlisted throughout the state to take part in the door-to-door canvass this month. Special events are being planned in many sections.

The cause and cure of multiple sclerosis is unknown. It is a crippling disease that comes from a scarring of the sheaths that surround the nerves. It most often attacks persons in the 20 to 40 age group.

Correct cookery methods, maximum utilization of the food dollar, Variety in the menu, economy in the budget, nutritional balance in meal planning, the value of lard as a shortening and cooking fat, kitchen time and labor savers, are only a few of the subjects which are covered.

The two home economists expressed their appreciation for the cooperation and friendliness of the attentive audiences and of all the other groups and individuals "whose harmonious efforts made the presentation of the school a genuine pleasure."

Each person attending the cooking school receives a recipe book, complete with the recipes for all dishes demonstrated during the school, plus additional valuable information on meat cookery.

Five-Point Plan Is Suggested For River Basin

Need For Woodland Expansion Stressed

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. John D. Hoblitzell (R-W. Va.) suggested a five-point program of action for the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin at a commission meeting Thursday.

Hoblitzell was speaker at a banquet which closed out the first day of the two-day fall meeting of commission members from the Virginias, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C. It was held at nearby Blackwater Falls State Park lodge.

Hoblitzell said his suggested program included:

—Recognition of the total basin as the unit for development of a comprehensive natural resources program.

—Placing responsibility on local people in each of the affected states, communities and small upstream watersheds.

—Formation of a public information program to inform the basin's people of its needs and the part they must play in meeting them.

—Development of studies covering water resources, pollution abatement, forestry, land use, agriculture, recreation, and flood prevention and control.

—Organization of a coordinated plan of action that spells out the job to be done in each resource area, how it shall be done and who shall be responsible.

District Needs Cited

Hoblitzell said few population centers in the nation are as closely identified with an interstate river system as Washington, D.C. is with the Potomac basin.

Urban concentrations in the capitol region have spread far out of the District of Columbia, whose "life and growth are tied to the Potomac River and its 9.3 million acre watershed," he said.

Hoblitzell said that in coming years there will be a much greater demand for water supplies and waste disposal as well as for recreation. "Water is our most important resource. . . the available supply of fresh water is an absolute deadline beyond which no community, state or nation can go," he said.

Theme of the meeting is "better water through forestry and engineering."

Keynote speaker at the opening session was Edward C. Crafts, assistant chief of the U. S. Forest Service, who said the nation will be unable to meet its future needs for timber unless there is great improvement in the management of forestland held by farmers and other small owners.

Timber Needs Double

Crafts said a recently - completed six-year review of the nation's timber resources showed that by the turn of the century "we will need to be growing more than double the amount of saw timber that grew in 1952."

He also noted that 55 per cent of the country's commercial - forest land is in the hands of some 4,500,000 farmers and miscellaneous other owners — more than half owning less than 30 acres each.

"The real key to America's future lumber supply lies with the one out of every 10 families who own small forests," he said.

"Most of the land owned by forest industries and public agencies is left in reasonably good condition after cutting. But on over half of the recently-cut farm and other small private forests, conditions for future growth are far from good. Improving these millions of small forests is America's most important forestry job.

Commission members were welcomed by West Virginia Conservation Director Warden M. Lane, who spoke in favor of consolidating his state's main natural resources agencies under a single authority.

Commission Chairman John A. K. Donovan of Falls Church, Va., presided at the opening session, which also included a panel discussion on forest management. It was followed by a tour of the Fernow experimental forest.

Friday's program includes a symposium on water developments plans for the North Branch of the Potomac River, reports of advisory committees and a railroad tour of the North Branch area.

Water Plan Awaits Consultant's Report

Recommendations on further modernization of this city's water treatment and distribution system are expected soon from Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

Mr. Light said a decision on the operation and further modernization of the Lake Gordon filter plant has been deferred until recommendations are received from Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the long-range modernization plan.

This report will follow a recent inspection by C. Eugene Hsi, of the Regester staff, and will include a manual of plant operation and a list of needed improvements, listed in the order of urgency.

He said the city will be able, following the receipt of the report, to decide how to proceed.

Valves Need Motors

Mr. Light said that among the needed work at Lake Gordon are the motorization of valves on the original 12 filter beds. Other modernization on these original units was completed last year.

Another item at the dam, he said, is the repair, if possible, of a gate chamber on Lake Gordon which has been inoperative for many years.

Consideration will also be given, he said, to the installation of automatic controls for filling water reservoirs in the city.

Mr. Light said he has ideas on the program but is waiting for the report to see if Mr. Regester agrees on the relative importance of items in the modernization program.

All of the program, he said, will be designed to give the people of Cumberland an efficient and economical water system—to make the best use of the "wonderful water we have."

$135,000 On Hand

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, reported that about $150,000 was on hand on June 30 after $36,000 was spent for pipe for a loop water line.

This 12-inch line will boost water volume in South Cumberland and open up undeveloped areas by connecting the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Plant water line at Oldtown Road to a feeder line at Virginia Avenue.

Mr. Gibson said the full cost of the project will not be known until the line is in, but he estimated that installation will cost about $14,000, leaving about $135,000 for further water improvements.
